

the Texas Education Agency, and the State of Texas move the Court under Texas Rule of Evidence 104 to preliminarily determine the admissibility of evidence related to “outputs” for the 2012-2013 school year, and respectfully request the Court to exclude that data as irrelevant to the 83rd Legislature’s changes to the public school system in Texas and as outside the scope of the re-opened evidence.

Moreover, attached to this pleading are the State Defendants’ objections to Plaintiffs’ proposed exhibits and deposition exhibits (EX. A), objections to the Plaintiffs’ designated deposition excerpts (EX. B), and the State Defendants’ counter deposition designations (EX. C).

A. Relevant Rules of Evidence.

Texas Rule of Evidence 104 requires a court to determine “[p]reliminary questions concerning . . . the admissibility of evidence” “If the relevancy of evidence is conditioned on some other fact, the court may admit it subject to the admission of evidence to support of fulfilment of that conditional fact.” Id.

Relevant evidence has “any tendency to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence to the determination of the action more probable or less probable than it would be without the evidence.” TEX. R. EVID. 401. “Evidence which is not relevant is inadmissible.” TEX. R. EVID. 402.

B. The Court has Apparently Limited the Scope of the Second Phase of the Trial to Evidence Regarding Whether the 83rd Texas Legislature’s Changes to the Public School System “Cured” the Constitutional Deficiencies Already Found by the Court.

After the conclusion of the 2012-2013 school year, the 83rd Texas Legislature’s education laws, which made sweeping changes to Texas’ public education system, went into effect. Since then, the Texas Education Agency has begun the task of developing policy to implement the legislative changes. These legislative and policy changes had no effect on performance results stemming from the 2012-2013 public education system. Recognizing the relevancy concerns regarding any data from the 2012-2013 school year, the Court told counsel:

I could not see the re-opening being a chance to clean up or make stronger what occurred between October the 22nd and February the 4th, that I would . . . that the consideration is, was there a material change in the circumstances, a substantial change in the circumstances by reason of this most recent Legislature but I really think that if we do re-open, it's – the consideration is limited to what the Legislature passed and has become law.

June 5, 2013 Transcript at 9-10.

Later, the Court went on to advise the parties as follows:

I believe the evidence is closed with respect to whether the school finance system is unsuitable, unsuitability designed and operated, whether or not it is so controlled that it constitutes a statewide property tax, that meaningful discretion is so controlled that it operates as a statewide property tax and whether the system as operated is capable of generating a – an amount that would be adequate to pay for a GDK unless, comma, the States makes an argument – well, if – well, the question becomes if there is defensive evidence presented that the appropriations bill, out of this just-ended Legislature, solves those problems, then I see the just-concluded school year as becoming irrelevant.

I'm wondering if I would be considering whether or not the Legislature's most recent actions cured what the Court found to be constitutionally inadequate, structural and funding problems under suitability, whether or not the most recent legislative actions would cure the adequacy deficiencies that the court found

August 20, 2013 Transcript at 9, 11 (emphasis added). When plaintiffs' counsel argued that the evidence would be irrelevant to a purported "defensive argument that was raised during trial that was conjecture at the time," the Court went on to state "I would exclude any attempt to use updated information to rebut what occurred during the 45-day trial." Id. at 11. Nevertheless, the Court acknowledged that relevance of the 2012-2013 data would be "the source of an objection," and that the Court would rule on the objection before trial. Id. at 15.

B. The 2012-2013 “Output” Data is Irrelevant to the 83rd Legislature’s Changes.

“Relevant evidence” is “evidence having any tendency to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence to the determination of the action more probable or less probable than it would be without the evidence.” Tex. R. Evid. 401. The initial “facts of consequence” in this second phase of the trial are the changes made by the 83rd Texas Legislature. Those changes include among many others an appropriation of billions of dollars in funding over what was appropriated in the previous biennium, changes to the curriculum and graduation requirements, and a two-thirds reduction to the number of assessments required to be taken at the high-school level. Although the Plaintiffs call these changes insignificant, they have yet to contest the clear fact that output evidence from the 2012-2013 school year in no way touches upon any of the changes. The data serving as a basis for those outputs was created during the 2012-2013 school year, before any of the legislative changes went into effect, and thus can in no way be a measure of how the current system is performing.

For this very same reason, output evidence for the 2012-2013 school year cannot serve as competent evidence of whether the Legislative changes “cured” the constitutional deficiencies found by the Court. Whether those changes “cured” the deficiencies is the key question as articulated by the Court, and that question cannot be answered with irrelevant “output” data of the 2012-2013 school year. August 20, 2012 Transcript at 9.

C. This Motion is Not Intended to Waive, Abandon, or Withdraw Any Argument Previously Made or to Waive Any Rebuttal Evidence the State May Offer to the Plaintiffs’ 2012-2013 “Output” Data.

The State Defendants offered 2012-2013 exhibits containing “output” evidence as rebuttal to the Plaintiffs’ evidence.¹ This offer is made as a precautionary measure and to preserve the State’s ability to counter or rebut the Plaintiffs’ evidence should the Court admit it.

The State Defendants are not waiving, abandoning, or withdrawing any argument made or evidence presented in the initial phase of trial by the filing of this motion or the presentation of any evidence in this second trial phase. Nor by this motion are the State Defendants waiving their right to present and offer argument concerning “output” evidence of the 2012-2013 school year into the record if the Court allows the Plaintiffs to do so.

CONCLUSION

For these reasons, the Court should reaffirm its clear statement that “the just-concluded school year [is] irrelevant,” August 20, 2012 Transcript at 9, and exclude from evidence all “output” data for the 2012-2013 school year.
