AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

The state's Closing the Gaps by 2015 plan seeks to increase participation by Texas residents in higher education, success rates for degrees granted, the number of nationally recognized services and programs, and the amount of federal science and engineering research funding for Texas institutions of higher education. In order to support such ambitious goals, the state must develop a strategic plan that will make the most effective use of limited state resources, foster cooperation among all institutions, and include input from all relevant stakeholders.

The current statutory requirement of a five-year master plan only has general language regarding strategies and implementation of the five-year plan, relating to the powers and duties of the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB).

As proposed, S.B. 1234 requires that THECB's master plan be geared toward preparing Texas college students for participating in the public affairs of the state as well as the global economy. This bill requires the master plan to define the missions and roles of public institutions of higher education in a way consistent with state needs and goals; establish more effective methods for funding higher education; establish a coherent long-term financial aid strategy that takes into account both needs and merit; strengthen collaboration between two-year and four-year institutions; and develop and institutionalize long-term collaboration between primary, secondary, and higher education.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
