God, thank you for giving us another day. Inspire the men and women of this house to serve our constituents and our state as best we can. May our efforts and cooperative work with each other help to lift those Texans who are struggling and especially this month, those with mental illness. We pray for the gift of wisdom to all with great responsibility in the people's house for the leadership of our state. May we all have the vision of the world where respect and understanding are the marks of civility, and honor and integrity are the marks of one's character. You bless this day, you bless this house, and you bless this state, both now and forever. Amen.

The chair recognized Representative Ashby who led the house in the pledges of allegiance to the United States and Texas flags.

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER

Notice was given at this time that the speaker had signed bills and resolutions in the presence of the house (see the addendum to the daily journal, Signed by the Speaker, House List No. 14).

ADDRESS BY REPRESENTATIVE HUBERTY ON A MATTER OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The chair recognized Representative Huberty who addressed the house on a matter of personal privilege, speaking as follows:

My name is Dan, and I'm an alcoholic. My father taught me to be honest and take responsibility for my actions, so I stand here before you today to begin this process. On April 23, I was involved in a motor vehicle accident while driving under the influence. Thankfully, no one was hurt. I want to first apologize to the occupants in the vehicle. I want to next apologize to my wife, Janet, my children, my friends, my company, and my Capitol staff for the embarrassment I have caused them. I want to apologize to my constituents as they entrusted me to represent them here in the Texas House. Finally, I want to apologize to each and every one of you, the institution of the Texas House, the senate, the lieutenant governor, the speaker, and the governor for my actions.

I have had a problem with alcohol for my entire adult life. While I've been sober for 23 out of the last 30 years, it became clear to me in the last several months that I desperately needed help. I was embarrassed to ask and candidly did not know how to get the help that I needed. After the incident, I was blessed to have some dear friends who were able to immediately get me into an inpatient treatment program to begin my road to recovery. I would like to thank all the staff there for looking out for me and setting me up with an exciting and invigorating road map for my sobriety with AA meetings, a sponsor, a sober coach, and my inpatient/outpatient program. I would also like to thank the officers who responded to the incident, who acted with complete professionalism.

Alcoholism is a serious disease, one that is becoming a pandemic in and of itself. However, I have decided to live my life one day at a time, to work my program and the 12 steps of AA, and to begin a new path to sobriety and honest living. I would like to share the first three steps that I have already completed. Number one, I've admitted that I am powerless over alcohol and my life has become unmanageable. I believe a power greater than me will restore my sanity. And I've made a decision to turn my will and life over to God and to Jesus Christ. I will leave you with two things, and these are very important. The sins of a husband and father should never ever, ever, ever be imparted on his family, his children, his wife, or anybody related to them. A dear friend of mine, Congressman Jack Fields, a long time ago pointed out when I was down that I should read Psalms 69:3-6. I will not repeat it; you can look it up. There's a lot more work to do and God willing, I hope to help others, once I get my sobriety, to get their life back once I am ready. Thank you for the opportunity to address you today. God bless. Let's get to work.

ADDRESS BY REPRESENTATIVE S. THOMPSON

The chair recognized Representative S. Thompson who addressed the house, speaking as follows:

Last Friday, April 30, this body adopted HR 748, recognizing May 2021 as Mental Health Awareness Month. I'd like to thank the speaker and Mrs. Kim Phelan for recognizing how important it is to prioritize and designate mental health. I got to this point because of the insight of Mrs. Phelan, who helped me last session with the brain institute bill that we will pass this session as well. She has a deep insight of knowing that it's important for people to be able to get treatment for mental health. And it's important for us to do something to reduce the stigma of persons that may prevent them from seeking the help that they need. It shows you what pillow talk can do. I am so grateful that the pillow talk worked. But more importantly, I'm grateful because she happens to be a woman who is not only insightful but if you recognize or any of you read the Book of Proverbs from time to time, it always talks about seeking wisdom. She is more valuable than silver. She is more valuable than precious jewels. She is more valuable than gold. And you see what she has done? She has brought us to an opportunity here this day where this body can use insight and wisdom to institute May as the mental health month.

We know what research has already shown us, because it's suggested that mental illness is associated with multiple causes, including genetics, environmental factors, exposure to traumatic events, and biochemical processes. We already know that 1 in 5 adults experiences mental health problems in any given year and 1 in 17 adults lives with mental illness. In 2019, a staggering 50 million American adults experienced mental illness, and the pandemic has had a devastating impact on brain health. A study published by The Lancet Psychiatry journal found that 34 percent of COVID-19 survivors had been diagnosed with neurological or psychological illness within the last six months. Mental health problems can lead to more serious long-term conditions. Members, Mental Health Awareness Month is a time to learn to recognize early symptoms of mental illness. The "Okay to Say" mental health awareness campaign is based on one simple message: It's okay to talk openly about mental health. Like cancer or diabetes, mental health conditions are easier to treat when they are identified earlier. If you, your loved ones, or constituents need help, here's some resources you can direct them to: 211 or 211texas.org, National Suicide Prevention Lifeline and Veterans Crisis Lifeline—there's an 800 number, 1-800-273-8255—the National Alliance on Mental Illness local chapters, Texas Health and Human Services Commission, and local mental health authorities in your area. And remember, when you go home, there may be a little pillow talk for you.

CSHB 20 ON SECOND READING

(by Murr, et al.)

CSHB 20, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the release of defendants on bail.

CSHB 20 was read second time on April 27 and was postponed until 10 a.m. today.

CSHB 20 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE MURR: CSHB 20 is the result of hundreds of hours of work by many different stakeholders, staff, and members. It is the cumulation of a reform effort that many of us have worked on for half a decade. These reforms come to us as recommendations from the Texas Judicial Council and Governor Abbott has declared this issue to be an emergency item of great importance to his office. I have served as a judge and I have magistrated many people during my years of service. As an attorney, I also handle criminal court-appointed cases. So I have firsthand experience from both sides of the table on this topic.

Specifically, this legislation before you charts a path forward that will better protect victims, the public, and law enforcement; reduce the enormous financial burden to counties who house, feed, and support low-risk pretrial defendants who are presently unable to make bond; and minimize the adverse impacts of an extended pretrial detention for low-risk arrestees. I have always endeavored to be thoughtful, to hear and include all perspectives, and develop policy that is both smart and impactful. At every opportunity, I have met with advocacy groups, interested parties, and elected officials on this topic. What you have before us is a collaborative effort that I cannot take credit for. I can't proceed forward without acknowledging the hard work and commitment to legislative success of my friend and colleague Representative Kyle Kacal. This bill is called the Damon Allen Act because his constituent, DPS Trooper Damon Allen, was shot and killed during a traffic stop on Thanksgiving Day in 2017. The man that killed Trooper Allen had recently been arrested, satisfied his bond, and was out of jail. That man had a record of serious criminal offenses, including a prior assault on a peace officer. The magistrate that set bond did not know of this criminal history and would not have set a low bond had he been better informed. We believe that the murder of Trooper Allen would not have occurred if his killer had received a higher bond. Thank you, Representative Kacal, for caring so deeply about your constituents and their families. We both hope that we can make a difference in the future to help keep the public safe and best protect those who put their lives in harm's way for us every day.

Members, this bill accomplishes several important goals. It provides more information to magistrates so they can make better-informed decisions when setting bail. It preserves the magistrate's discretion to determine bail. It establishes limitations on personal bonds for specific violent offenses. It provides reforms and transparency measures in the bail setting process, including the requirement to use the least-restricted means in making a bail decision. And it expressly recognizes that factors that disproportionately affect persons who are members of racial and ethnic minority groups or who are socioeconomically disadvantaged may not be used. At the end of the day, our policy goal can be distilled down to a basic premise, that it is important to better assess defendants to ensure that those arrested for violent crimes and having violent criminal backgrounds don't easily make bond and end up right back in our communities while, on the other hand, low-risk and first-time defenders receive the least restrictive means of a bond that can get them back to their jobs, their families, and thereby reduce the financial burdens on our counties. Members, I have a few perfecting amendments, and I'm happy to answer any questions.

REPRESENTATIVE COLLIER: Chair Murr, I want to thank you so much for taking the time to work with me and meet with me about this bill and address some of the concerns that I had. You just mentioned one of them about the risk assessment tool and making sure that it's revalidated every so often so that way it doesn't have a disproportionate impact on people of color and ethnic groups. So thank you so much. I do appreciate that. I just want to make sure, does your bill have a presumption of detention?

MURR: First, I appreciate the fact that—and for this body, Chair Collier and I sat down and literally went line by line through the filed version to address concerns of all stakeholders. We have stakeholders from the left and the right that all want to have an opportunity to weigh in on that, so we did that. Before I get to your question there, we did make sure that when we talked about any mechanism for providing additional information to our magistrates, specifically written in the bill, it states it "does not consider factors that disproportionately affect persons who are members of racial or ethnic minority groups" and—you had emphasized this and so it's very important to the body—that "has been demonstrated to produce results that are unbiased with respect to the race or ethnicity of defendants and does not produce a disproportionate outcome." And I know that was very significant in our discussions, and that it's significant to you. So I appreciate the fact that you have put a lot of effort into bringing forth legislation for the body to consider.

COLLIER: Thank you. So does your bill have a presumption of detention?

MURR: It does not overtly have a presumption of detention. That is not the intent. And so I'll go back to the basic premise here. When we have folks in jail, they've been arrested. So we have some that you can identify as high-risk with a violent offense. And then you have others who they may be a first-time offender with no criminal history and it's a nonviolent offense. And in those scenarios, if we base it solely on a cash bail system, then it has to do with who can get out of jail and who can't afford not to. So we tend to punish those who can't pay versus what we think might be a better alternative, which is this legislation.

COLLIER: Okay, so when you say "overtly," meaning that's not the intent of the bill?

MURR: That is not the intent. No, ma'am.

COLLIER: So if there was a provision here that did have a presumption of detention?

MURR: No, ma'am. We used the term "least restrictive" means necessary. Remember, and to remind the body, the purpose of bail is to accomplish a couple of tasks, primarily to make sure that someone shows up for court when they receive notice in the future of a court date. So the first thing is to make sure they show up for court. Then the second, and it's also very important, is to protect the community, any victims, and law enforcement. And so the purpose of bail, whether it's personal bail or monetary bail, is to ensure those two things. So we want and encourage and the language expressly states we use the "least restrictive" means. And in my book, that could very easily be a personal bond or what we commonly call a PR bond.

COLLIER: Perfect, thank you so much. Now, will all counties be required to use the pretrial risk assessment tool? But I think you're going to change the name of it to the public safety reporting system.

MURR: Yes, I have an amendment to discuss that topic. Yes, the intention here is that all magistrates will be trained and they will have additional information in the form of this assessment tool before them. Now, discretion remains with the magistrate. They will have this information in front of them. If they choose to disregard it or deviate, that's fine. At the end of the day, they're sitting there in a chair making decisions, and we're not trying to do those decisions for them. But no, all counties would be required to participate.

COLLIER: So one of the reasons for that is to provide uniformity.

MURR: That is correct.

COLLIER: So that way if I'm an attorney practicing criminal defense law, whether I'm in Tarrant County or Harris County or Travis County, I know what the tool is for the State of Texas.

MURR: Correct. Uniformity helps serve all of us.

COLLIER: And who creates this pretrial risk assessment tool that you're going to call the public safety report? Who's going to create it?

MURR: Correct, so we have placed that responsibility on the Office of Court Administration to develop that and make it available at no charge to all jurisdictions in the state. In essence, it would be an online portal that would be accessible.

COLLIER: Now, will everyone be able to see this pretrial risk assessment tool or what you're going to call the public safety report system? Will it be available to the public to view?

MURR: Yes, there's actually a requirement here that OCA will make it transparent so that all persons, including attorneys, can understand what is being analyzed. That is correct. And they'll have it available on their website.

(20) On page 5, lines 5 and 6, strike "conduct a pretrial public safety assessment using the validated pretrial public safety assessment" and substitute "prepare a public safety report using the validated public safety report system".

(21) On page 5, lines 8 and 9, strike "results of the pretrial public safety assessment" and substitute "public safety report".

(22) On page 8, line 2, strike "results of the pretrial public safety assessment conducted" and substitute "public safety report prepared".

(23) On page 8, line 27, through page 9, line 1, strike "results of the defendant's pretrial public safety assessment" and substitute "defendant's public safety report".

(24) On page 9, lines 4 and 5, strike "pretrial public safety assessment has been conducted" and substitute "public safety report has been prepared".

(25) On page 12, lines 3-5, strike "The results of any pretrial public safety assessment conducted using the validated pretrial public safety assessment" and substitute "Any public safety report prepared using the validated public safety report system".

(26) On page 13, lines 26 and 27, strike "pretrial public safety assessment" and substitute "public safety report system".

(27) Strike page 14, line 18, through page 15, line 5, and substitute the following appropriately numbered SECTION:

SECTION _____. (a) Except as provided by Subsection (b) of this section, this Act takes effect December 1, 2021.

(b) Articles 17.021 and 17.024, Code of Criminal Procedure, as added by this Act, and Sections 7 and 8 of this Act take effect September 1, 2021.

MURR: Members, this amendment conforms the bill to remove any references to any legislation that amends the Texas Constitution to deny bail. And I will note that currently, in Section 11(a) of Article I of the Texas Constitution, there is a denial of bail that does exist. It also changes references of a pretrial public safety assessment throughout the bill to a public safety report system. And it changes the reference of "risk" on page 3 to the term "likelihood."

COLLIER: I just want to clarify some things. You struck on page 2, lines 17-20 of your bill, which dealt with a "judge or magistrate who denies bail under Subsection (c) or (d)" because you got rid of that "must prepare a written order." Would you take an amendment that says—or does your bill change the requirement to have some type of appeal hearing or motion to consider hearing on the denial of bail?

MURR: The purpose in changing pages 1 and 2 to omit any discussions of denial of bail—I guess the section in lines 17-20 is what you refer. I think you view that as a progression in state law, but the current terminology here was if there is an HJR companion, we're not tethering the bill in any way, shape, or form to the passage of that companion. The other idea that you have there is currently, the Texas Constitution provides a very narrow window for either a violent offense, which is defined by the Constitution, or a sexual offense, which is also expressly defined by the Constitution, for denial of bail. We find, if you talk to most courts, that those are rarely used. And in fact, most magistrates just go ahead and they'll set a very high monetary bail instead of going that route because there's a timeline involved for having a series of hearings under that Article I, Section 11(a), of the Constitution. I know that you are interested in making sure that if there was any expansion in the denial of bail under state law, you wanted to see a written order of findings of fact and conclusions of law, and I understand that. But in removing that reference there, then that would make that kind of an odd man out, of sorts, because nowhere else do we refer to a denial of bail.

COLLIER: Does the law currently provide an opportunity for a hearing if you have a denial of bail?

MURR: Yes, it is set forth in Article I, Section 11(a), of the Constitution, and there is a timeline that has to be employed for that hearing. And I do believe that, often, prosecutors scramble in order to satisfy that timeline so that both counsel for the state and the defendant are ready. So it's one reason why it's probably very uncommon to see.

COLLIER: So your bill does not change the timeline?

MURR: It does not in any way. No, ma'am.

COLLIER: And it does not remove the opportunity to have a hearing for the denial of bail?

MURR: That is correct.

COLLIER: Okay, so then there's no need for us to keep that language on page 2, lines 17-20.

MURR: I would reach the same conclusion. Yes, ma'am.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

Representative Collier moved to print all remarks on CSHB 20.

The motion prevailed.

Amendment No. 2

Representative Moody offered the following amendment to Amendment No. 1:

Amend the Murr Amendment to CSHB 20 as follows:

(1) On page 2, line 11, between "report" and the quotation mark, insert ", or another public safety report approved by the Office of Court Administration of the Texas Judicial System,".

(2) On page 2, line 18, between "report" and "using", insert "before or while making a bail decision".

REPRESENTATIVE MOODY: These components were originally part of a different amendment, but Mr. Murr outsmarted me and so I had to actually append them onto his amendment. Number (1) here allows a jurisdiction, if they already have a public safety report that they're utilizing currently and that report is approved by OCA, then it can be lifted into the future system under the same guidelines that are in the bill. So nothing changes in terms of what the public safety report has to have in it, but it allows those jurisdictions to put those forward to be approved. The other one is just making sure that it's clear that a magistrate can do the public safety report while they're making the bail decision.

COLLIER: Speaker Pro Tempore Moody, thank you so much for this amendment. I just want to see on page 2, line 18, between "report" and "using," does that—I'm not sure if I see that, page 2, line 18, between "report" and "using." Are you talking about when the bill moves up after he removed—because he removed lines 17-20?

MOODY: Yes, this amendment is geared off of his amendment.

COLLIER: Oh, off of his amendment.

MOODY: Yes, so you have to read them as they're together.

COLLIER: Okay, so then you're just saying "before or while making a bail decision"?

MOODY: Correct, because it was unclear that they could do it simultaneously. And under the original bill—well, this could have been done a different way, but when his amendment came forward, it needed to be essentially moved to amend his amendment to make it flow with the original language of the bill.

Amendment No. 2 was adopted.

Amendment No. 1, as amended, was adopted.

Amendment No. 3

Representative Murr offered the following amendment to CSHB 20:

Amend CSHB 20 (house committee printing) as follows:

- (1) On page 6, line 7, after "duties", insert ", including duties".
- (2) Strike page 6, lines 10-15, and substitute the following:
 - (1) a 16-hour initial training course; and
 - (2) a four-hour continuing education course.
- (3) On page 6, strike lines 22-23.
- (4) On page 6, line 24, strike "(A)" and substitute "(1)".
- (5) On page 6, line 27, strike "(B)" and substitute "(2) the magistrate".
- (6) On page 7, line 1, strike "(a)(3)" and substitute "(a)(2)".
- (7) On page 7, line 3, strike "(C)" and substitute "(3) the magistrate".
- (8) On page 7, line 4, strike "; or" and substitute ".".
- (9) Strike page 7, lines 5-14.
- (10) On page 7, line 17, strike "(c)(1)(A) or (c)(2)(A)" and substitute "(c)(1)".
- (11) On page 7, line 18, strike "applicable".

MURR: Members, this amendment speaks to our magistrate training. Justices of the peace perform a majority of all magistration for the State of Texas, and they've actually urged that all JPs, regardless of their background, receive the same amount of training. So therefore, this amendment removes the bifurcation of training levels that we had between attorneys and non-attorneys, providing that all magistrates receive an initial 16 hours of training and a four-hour continuing education course.

COLLIER: So all magistrates, regardless of whether they're licensed attorneys or not, will be required to have this training. When do they get the continuing education, the four hours? I appreciate that because if they're going to have to validate the public safety report system, you want them to have additional training. So do they do continuing education every year or is it every other year?

MURR: It would be every other year. So it would be on a two-year cycle for the four-hour training. And just to point out, all of our magistrates across the state, whether they are justices of the peace, constitutional county judges, county court at law judges, or district judges, they all receive continuing education. So more likely than not, the way the bill is designed, this would be incorporated into the training that they currently receive.

COLLIER: And it makes a lot of sense because if you're going to revalidate the public safety report system, this would be in line with that validation.

MURR: That is correct because without keeping them trained, then our process and our policy goals here, which are to have informed magistrates that fully understand the law and its implementation, we could fail. And we don't want that to happen. So I think that this is a very practical result. We have dialogued with all different magistrates that come from every person's district in this room. They support this.

Amendment No. 3 was adopted.

Amendment No. 4

Representative Murr offered the following amendment to CSHB 20:

Amend CSHB 20 (house committee printing) as follows:

(1) On page 6, line 6, after "shall", insert ", in consultation with the court of criminal appeals,".

(2) On page 14, line 8, strike "required under" and substitute "as described by".

MURR: This amendment simply requires the Office of Court Administration to consult with the court of criminal appeals in developing and approving magistrate training courses. It's acceptable to the author.

Amendment No. 4 was adopted.

Amendment No. 5

Representative Murr offered the following amendment to CSHB 20:

Amend CSHB 20 (house committee report) as follows:

(1) On page 7, line 26, strike "the".

(2) Strike page 7, line 27, through page 8, line 7, and substitute the following:

a magistrate shall order, after individualized consideration of all circumstances and of the factors required by Article 17.15, that the defendant be:

(1) granted personal bond with or without conditions;

(2) granted monetary bond with or without conditions; or

(3) On page 8, line 21, between "purposes of" and "rebutting", insert "setting bail or".

(4) Strike page 8, line 27, and page 9, line 1, and substitute the following:
for a defendant without considering the factors in Article 17.15.

MURR: Members, this amendment makes changes to pages 7 and 8 of CSHB 20 to clarify that bail decisions occur within the existing statutory time period by considering the individualized consideration of factors required by Article 17.15 and changes reference of "released" on bail to "granted" bail. It further clarifies that a court is not required to hold an evidentiary hearing for either the setting of bail or rebutting the presumption that bail is sufficient. It is acceptable to the author.

COLLIER: Okay, so we talked about not requiring an evidentiary hearing before. You and I have talked about that, but this does not usurp any type of right a defendant may have to appeal or ask for a reduction in bail?

MURR: That is correct. All the current mechanisms that are in place for someone to contest the right of bail, whether it be a writ of habeas corpus or a motion for bond reduction, that continues in current law. The only thing we didn't want is to create an unintended consequence here where a new evidentiary hearing—so that's a full-blown hearing—is created. We already know that our courts are backlogged and that we are anywhere from three to five years behind in both criminal and civil cases around the state. And so it is not the intent to create full-blown evidentiary hearings for tens of thousands of bail decisions. However, we do want an opportunity for someone who believes that their bail is not correct and they want to challenge the determination of bail. That mechanism still exists in the bill as well as in current law.

COLLIER: Is the decision from the magistrate in writing? Is it required to be in writing under current statute?

MURR: I'd have to go back and look at Article 17. I don't know that there is an express requirement that it be in writing, but I do believe that we commonly find it is in writing because that's the only way for it to be communicated amongst different offices. So I have never experienced any scenario where it's not already in writing in some form.

COLLIER: Okay, because I just want to make sure that if they are going to appeal the denial or the amount, that they have a findings of fact and conclusions of law to appeal from. I believe that needs to be in writing. You're saying that the existing statute pretty much covers that.

MURR: I don't believe that it fully covers what you're talking about expressly stated. But what I'm saying is in practical input, whether someone is at the jail or the magistrate's office, whether it be the clerk's office or the JP's office, you're going to find a documentation in writing because it's usually done in conjunction with the magistrate form that is done. Whether that is by video conference or that's done in person, which I would say a majority of our counties all do it in person, there's a form. There's checkboxes and they go through the nine to 10 and then actually ask the defendant to sign there. And on that form, which was created by TIDC, our indigent defense commission, as a sample form, at the top, it actually has a box for you to determine if it's a personal bond, a surety bond, and then what amount would the surety be.

COLLIER: So when you are talking about the public safety report system, how much weight is the judge or the magistrate to give to that report system?

MURR: That is to be considered as part of the elements in Article 17.15, but remember, we preserve the magistrate's discretion. So at the end of the day, they can put as much or as little weight as they choose.

COLLIER: That's why I was getting to the point about the findings of fact and conclusions of law for this, because if they rely heavily on this public safety report—or I guess you're going to have a form that OCA is going to create that will specify whether they relied on the public safety report system?

MURR: That's not the amendment that we have before us.

COLLIER: Okay, wait a minute. This amendment says about a bail decision, right?

MURR: Yes, ma'am, but the intent for this is just to document that we are not creating a full-blown evidentiary hearing. That's the goal.

COLLIER: But the question gets to that part about the hearing. You're saying that you don't want a full-blown evidentiary hearing, but if they deny bail, based on your bill and this amendment, will there be anything in writing that states what the decision was based on?

MURR: Well, now, if you're talking about denial of bail, we've eliminated all portions of the bill that reference a denial of bail. So the only denial of bail that would currently exist would be Section 11(a) of Article I of the State Constitution.

COLLIER: Well, I was trying to talk about page 7, line 25? Where you just made some changes to it?

MURR: Page 7, line 27, is where we make our changes.

COLLIER: Yes, so it's dealing with a bail decision. So I just wanted to know if you were going to have anything in writing, but earlier you said there is already mechanism in place under Section 11 that deals with the denial of bail. But what about those who get a personal bond, with or without conditions, or a monetary bond, with or without conditions? Is there a mechanism in place that already provides for a hearing for those?

MURR: Yes, they could either do it through a writ of habeas corpus if there's not a filed case, and if there is a filed case, they can file a motion for bond reduction. In either matter, they can request a hearing.

COLLIER: And so your amendment says that they can use the public safety report to help come to that decision of what the magistrate does.

MURR: That information would always be in front of the judge, yes. Both sides, both the defense and the state, can use the results of that report in the discussion of whether or not the amount of bail, if it's a cash bail or a surety bail, is too high or too low.

COLLIER: But that report is also used for what your amendment does about granting personal bond, with or without conditions, or granted monetary bond. So that public safety report system is also used in helping with that?

MURR: That is correct, yes. And one thing we overlook here is the fact that the report itself, when it comes back with information that's easily and concisely put together so that the magistrate can review it quickly, it's going to give us a determination. I like to distill it down to a red, green, or yellow, and if it comes back green, that is a presumption that this person is low-risk and is not going to cause any problems, and so perhaps a personal bond, with or without conditions, is appropriate. And so in those scenarios I don't think you're ever going to see a defendant contest that.

COLLIER: Well, we don't have the public safety report system just yet, so what I'm getting at is do we need to add a provision that says the judge must or the magistrate must include findings of fact that incorporate the public safety report system?

MURR: So I guess what you're asking me is in every single circumstance in which a bail decision is made, so every arrest in the State of Texas, would it entertain a ruling of findings of fact and conclusions of law? Is that what you're contemplating?

COLLIER: You said right now that's not in the statute.

MURR: That's not expressly in the statute, no.

COLLIER: But it's a common practice?

MURR: What we have in front of us here is if the magistrate chooses to deviate from any recommendations or information that is provided by the report and use their discretion to go a different direction, we have asked them to document that deviation.

COLLIER: Okay, that's what I wanted to know. Okay, thank you.

REPRESENTATIVE DOMINGUEZ: Representative Murr, I just really want some clarification. On page 2, you have a provision that when a magistrate denies bail, they will prepare a written order that includes the findings of fact and statements by the court. Now, typically, a magistrate or a justice of court is not a court of record. Does your bill currently still allow for the creation of this order or has that completely been taken out?

MURR: The amendment that we're speaking about only amends pages 7 and 8 at this time.

DOMINGUEZ: Okay, I'll tell you what, I'll come back as soon as we get back to your bill.

MURR: Perhaps that's a question for closing.

DOMINGUEZ: Will do, thank you.

Amendment No. 5 was adopted.

Amendment No. 6

Representative Murr offered the following amendment to CSHB 20:

Amend CSHB 20 (house committee report) as follows:

(1) On page 13, between lines 14 and 15, insert the following:

(g) The Office of Court Administration of the Texas Judicial System shall promulgate a form for use by a magistrate in providing notice to the defendant under Subsection (e). The form must include the relevant statutory language from the provisions of this chapter under which a condition of release on bond may be imposed on a defendant.

(2) On page 14, line 5, between "8." and "As", insert "(a)".

(3) On page 14, line 7, between "shall" and "develop", insert the following:

(1) promulgate the form required by Article 17.50(g), Code of Criminal Procedure, as added by this Act; and

(4) On page 14, lines 9 and 10, strike "If those items" and substitute the following:

(b) If the items described by Subsection (a) of this section

MURR: Members, this amendment provides that the Office of Court Administration will promulgate a sample form that contains all the statutory bond conditions for possible use by magistrates. It is the intention here—if you review Article 17 of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure, you'll see that over time this body has put in place some bond conditions depending on the offense involved, and I believe that this might assist our magistrates in being expeditious when they have conditions. I find it acceptable to the author.

Amendment No. 6 was adopted.

Amendment No. 7

Representative Moody offered the following amendment to CSHB 20:

Amend CSHB 20 (house committee printing) as follows:

(1) On page 4, line 26, strike "within 48 hours of" and substitute "as soon as practicable but not later than 48 hours after".

(2) On page 8, line 12, strike "and minimum amount of bail" and substitute ", if any, and minimum amount of bail, if any".

(3) On page 9, between lines 7 and 8, insert the following:

(f) In making a bail decision under this article, a magistrate may direct either of the following to monitor the defendant's compliance with a condition of bond set by the magistrate:

(1) the personal bond office established under Article 17.42 for the county in which the defendant is being detained; or

(2) the community supervision and corrections department established under Section 76.002, Government Code, for the county in which the defendant is being detained.

(4) Strike page 11, lines 6 through 13, and substitute the following:

Art. 17.15. RULES FOR SETTING ~~[FIXING]~~ AMOUNT OF BAIL. (a) The amount of bail and the associated conditions of bail to be required in any case are ~~[is]~~ to be regulated by the court, judge, magistrate, or officer taking the bail in accordance with Articles 17.20, 17.21, and 17.22 and ~~[; they]~~ are ~~[to be]~~ governed ~~[in the exercise of this discretion]~~ by the Constitution and ~~[by]~~ the following rules:

(1) ~~[+]~~ The amount of bail, if any, and associated conditions of bail, if any, shall be sufficient ~~[sufficiently high]~~ to give reasonable assurance that the undertaking will be complied with.

MOODY: I apologize for the strikethroughs on this. Mr. Murr has outsmarted me again and put most of this in his own amendments. A few of the provisions survive. New (1) is making sure that it's clear that you don't have to wait for 48 hours. We want this to happen "as soon as practicable but not later than 48 hours." This is clarifying language. That's (1). Number (2) is to actually read (2) and (4) together, making sure—the language in the bill now could be interpreted to read that you have to give conditions or money bail. And so the way this reads now is to clarify that either one of those in the way that they're brought into the matter can satisfy the conditions. So that's (2) and (4). And (3) is making clear that your pretrial services, your probation department, can handle conditions—if you get conditions on cash bail, that those entities can handle the monitoring of those conditions, because some counties aren't set up to do it the other way. So let's make sure that they'll be able to absorb this system going forward. And this is acceptable to the author.

MURR: Speaker Moody, just real quick, you educated me on the concept of a personal bond office and how they play an integral role in some counties that have them. All counties are allowed to have them but a lot of counties do and some don't.

MOODY: True.

MURR: But whenever they're monitoring the conditions of someone on bail, we all need to make sure that our policy is such that they have permission to play that role. And that's the goal of your amendment today.

MOODY: Yes, as it's struck through, that's (3). That's what (3) accomplishes.

MURR: And so that would continue to allow, for an example, El Paso County to play an important role in monitoring those bond conditions for folks that have bonded out of jail.

MOODY: Yes. Specifically, I would say this certainly addresses the issue out in El Paso but I know our county wouldn't be the only one that would need this language.

MURR: Thank you for this language.

Amendment No. 7 was adopted.

Amendment No. 8

Representative Canales offered the following amendment to CSHB 20:

Amend CSHB 20 (house committee printing) on page 9, between lines 1 and 2, by inserting the following appropriately lettered subsections and renumbering subsequent subsections and updating cross-references accordingly:

() A defendant who is denied bail or who is unable to give bail in the amount required by any bail schedule or standing order related to bail shall be provided with the warnings described by Article 15.17.

() A defendant who is unable to give bail in an amount required by any bail schedule or standing order related to bail may file with the applicable magistrate a sworn affidavit declaring the maximum amount that the defendant would be able to pay or provide as security within 24 hours of arrest for purposes of obtaining a bail bond. The affidavit must set out sufficient facts to clearly establish that amount, given the totality of the defendant's circumstances.

() A defendant who files an affidavit under Subsection () is entitled to a hearing before the magistrate on the bail amount. At the hearing or a review, the magistrate shall consider the facts stated in the affidavit and the rules established by Article 17.15 and set the defendant's bail. The magistrate may deviate from any bail schedule or standing order related to bail in setting a defendant's bail under this subsection. The magistrate shall issue oral or written findings of fact supporting the decision.

REPRESENTATIVE CANALES: Members, this just helps protect indigent people. It's acceptable to the author.

Amendment No. 8 was adopted.

Amendment No. 9

Representative A. Johnson offered the following amendment to CSHB 20:

Amend CSHB 20 (house committee printing) by striking page 11, line 1, and substituting the following:

Prostitution), if the defendant is not alleged to have engaged in conduct constituting an offense under Section 43.02(a);

REPRESENTATIVE A. JOHNSON: This is a clarifying amendment that the author is finding acceptable. Section 43.04, Aggravated Promotion of Prostitution, can be filed against both the exploited and the exploiter. This amendment just clarifies that the victim exploited is being removed from the restriction.

Amendment No. 9 was adopted.

Amendment No. 10

Representative Wu offered the following amendment to CSHB 20:

Amend CSHB 20 (house committee printing) as follows:

(1) Add the following appropriately numbered SECTION to the bill and renumber subsequent SECTIONS of the bill accordingly:

SECTION _____. (a) Article 17.02, Code of Criminal Procedure, is amended to read as follows:

Art. 17.02. DEFINITION OF "BAIL BOND". A "bail bond" is a written undertaking entered into by the defendant and the defendant's sureties for the appearance of the principal therein before a court or magistrate to answer a criminal accusation; provided, however, that the defendant on execution of the bail bond may deposit with the custodian of funds of the court in which the prosecution is pending current money of the United States in the amount of the bond in lieu of having sureties signing the same. Any cash funds deposited under this article shall be receipted for by the officer receiving the funds and, on order of the court, be refunded in the amount shown on the face of the receipt less the administrative fee authorized by Section 117.055, Local Government Code, if applicable, after the defendant complies with the conditions of the defendant's bond, to:

(1) any person in the name of whom a receipt was issued, including the defendant if a receipt was issued to the defendant; or

(2) the defendant, if no other person is able to produce a receipt for the funds.

(b) Section 117.055, Local Government Code, is amended by amending Subsection (a) and adding Subsections (a-1) and (a-2) to read as follows:

(a) Except as provided by Subsection (a-1), to ~~to~~ compensate the county for the accounting and administrative expenses incurred in handling the registry funds that have not earned interest, including funds in a special or separate account, the clerk shall, at the time of withdrawal, deduct from the amount of the withdrawal a fee in an amount equal to five percent of the withdrawal but that may not exceed $50. Withdrawal of funds generated from a case arising under the Family Code is exempt from the fee deduction provided by this section.

(a-1) A clerk may not deduct a fee under Subsection (a) from a withdrawal of funds generated by the collection of a cash bond or cash bail bond if in the case for which the bond was taken:

(1) the defendant was found not guilty after a trial or appeal; or

(2) the complaint, information, or indictment was dismissed without a plea of guilty or nolo contendere being entered.

(a-2) On the request of a person to whom withdrawn funds generated by the collection of a cash bond or cash bail bond were disbursed, the clerk shall refund to the person the amount of the fee deducted under Subsection (a) if:

(1) subsequent to the deduction, a court makes or enters an order or ruling in the case for which the bond was taken; and

(2) had the court made or entered the order or ruling before the withdrawal of funds occurred, the deduction under Subsection (a) would have been prohibited under Subsection (a-1).

(c) Section 117.055, Local Government Code, as amended by this section, applies only to a withdrawal of funds from a court registry under Section 117.055, Local Government Code, made on or after September 1, 2021. A withdrawal of funds from a court registry made before September 1, 2021, is governed by the law in effect on the date the withdrawal was made, and the former law is continued in effect for that purpose.

(d) This section takes effect September 1, 2021.

(2) On page 12, line 11, strike "and 17.51" and substitute ", 17.51, and 17.52".

(3) On page 13, between lines 22 and 23, insert the following:

Art. 17.52. PROCEDURES AND FORMS FOR RELATED TO CASH BAIL BOND. The Office of Court Administration of the Texas Judicial System shall develop statewide procedures and prescribe forms to be used by a court to facilitate:

(1) the refund of a cash bail bond, with an emphasis on refunding the bail bond to the person in whose name the receipt described by Article 17.02 was issued; and

(2) the application of a cash bail bond paid by a person other than a defendant to the defendant's outstanding court costs and fees.

(4) On page 14, line 9, after the period, insert "and develop the procedures and prescribe the forms required by Article 17.52, Code of Criminal Procedure, as added by this Act".

REPRESENTATIVE WU: Members, this is a very simple amendment. When you put in a cash bond, even if you're found not guilty or your case is outright dismissed, the clerks still take a chunk of your cash bond for fees. This amendment would basically just say, hey, if you're found not guilty or if your case is outright dismissed, you get the entirety of your money back without the clerks taking a chunk of it. It only seems right that you're not punished for being not guilty. And also, it creates a little provision for the OCA to allow people to get their bonds returned faster and then also be able to apply it to their court costs and fees. It is acceptable to the author.

Amendment No. 10 was adopted.

MURR: I appreciate your time this afternoon in talking about some substantive policy for the State of Texas. At the end of the day, our goal is to strike a balance in which we recognize that 83 percent of the people that are in county jail right now are there for pretrial. Before their court date, before their trial date, they're stuck in our county jails. Eighty-three percent of everybody in your county jails across the State of Texas are waiting to go to trial. The reason why they're in there is they can't make bond. In 1994, that number was 34 percent, which means in 1994, most of the people that were in county jail were there because that was part of their sentence after trial, not for their sentence before trial. The goal today is to strike a balance in which we provide credible information to our trained magistrates so that they can determine that those that are low-risk have a chance to get out, whereas those that are of a high-risk, with a violent offense or a violent criminal history, they don't easily pay and immediately walk on the street the next day and do something else that harms us.

COLLIER: Now that we're back on the full bill, I just forgot to ask you these questions about the amendments that you had that now are part of the bill. On page 3, line 6, you changed "the risk of a defendant" to "the likelihood of a defendant," and I just want to get some clarification. Is that a higher burden or is that a lesser burden that the magistrate has to show?

MURR: That is not intended to change any burden. So there, the word "risk" sometimes carries a negative connotation, and I think the intended goal here is to make sure that there is no stigma associated with the word. And so "likelihood" is just a probability that's even one way or the other. It's not intended to besmirch the person that is going through the report's assessment. So I think, at the end of the day, to answer your question, no, there is not intended to be any change.

COLLIER: And then throughout the bill when you did your amendments about the public safety report system, you removed the words "results of." Can you explain why the results of the public safety reporting system—

MURR: I think that's simply an art of terminology. It's going to say "prepared" instead of "results of," and that would be a recommendation of the drafters.

COLLIER: But are they still to consider the results of the public safety report?

MURR: They are intended to consider the results of the public safety report, yes.

COLLIER: So even though you removed the words "results of," it's still the intent of this bill that the public safety report be considered as part of the individualized consideration on bail?

MURR: That is correct on an individualized consideration.

REPRESENTATIVE CROCKETT: Chairman Murr, I really don't know what this bill looks like after these amendments, so please clarify for me if I misstate something. What I'm curious about is you and I both know and agree that the State of Texas has failed to codify speedy trial. Is that correct?

MURR: I wouldn't disagree, but the right of a speedy trial does exist at the federal level and is often used to reflect that those rights exist for state court defendants as well.

CROCKETT: Currently, as the law stands and under this particular bill, someone could potentially be detained and there is no specific safety valve that would allow for them to say, "Hey, I need to get out of jail," say, if the state is not ready for trial. I believe that our current safety valve is 90 days on a felony. Is that correct?

MURR: That sounds correct. Yes, under Article 17 of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure.

CROCKETT: So essentially, someone could sit in jail for three months, be denied bail, and the state still not be ready for trial, and there's no other way for them to get out. Is that correct?

MURR: If I'm not mistaken, the specific provision that you speak of in Article 17 also provides a mechanism in which the individual can petition the court for a reduction of bond or a change of monetary bond to personal bond.

CROCKETT: Let me ask you about that as well. In this particular bill, it's my understanding that PR bonds would not be allowed for certain offenses. Is that correct?

MURR: Well, currently under Texas law, we don't recognize PR bonds. So we all call that by—that's our street lingo of PR bond, which is personal recognizance bond. However, the law speaks to a personal bond, which typically is going to be a monetary amount that is pledged on paper but does not require the person to actually pay any money over, and it's rather a pledge to show up for court.

CROCKETT: I just want to clarify. In this particular bill, one of the provisions that's been added is that certain offenses will not actually be allowed to bond out under a personal bond. Is that correct? That was how I read the initial bill.

MURR: Yes, ma'am, that is correct. And if I may speak to that to answer your question fully, when we talk about the right of a personal bond, which is "I get to sign a piece of paper"—So in our discussions, both during committee and now on the floor, there are certain criminal offenses which we would all agree are very serious in which the person that is arrested for that offense is not entitled to a personal bond. And that just means a PR bond, as we call it. But they sign a piece of paper pledging an amount and they say, "Hey, sure, I'll show up in court when you tell me to." Instead, for these serious criminal offenses, we're asking them to go one step further and say you're not entitled to just sign a piece of paper for this offense. You're going to have to satisfy a cash or a surety bond with or without conditions. And to answer your question, yes. But if you look at the list that we're talking about, it is very specific and in tune with what we might all agree to be serious criminal offenses.

CROCKETT: And I agree with you about the seriousness of the offenses that have been laid out. What concerns me about this bill and what has been a large argument is that we somehow lose sight of the Constitution. If a person is presumed innocent until proven guilty and then we say if you go into custody—and you're going into custody, say, on a murder charge, for instance—you won't necessarily qualify for a personal recognizance bond even if there is a magistrate who has reviewed everything and has made a determination that that is what makes best sense. We're taking their discretion away. But if someone is a millionaire and they can afford to pay cash or a surety to get out, they can get out, once again disproportionately affecting those that have continued to be victims of the criminal justice system, which are those that are poor. And sadly enough, a lot of times, black and brown people tend to be the victims of a flawed criminal justice system. And I don't see how taking that discretion away from judges is going to somehow fix this. Because no matter what you're accused of, so long as you have a lot of money, you'll be able to bail out. Is that correct?

MURR: So to answer your question, there is not a PR bond in the State of Texas. It's called a personal bond. Second, I don't think that you or I could ever find a magistrate in the State of Texas that will grant a personal bond for capital murder, for aggravated sexual assault, deadly assault on law enforcement or corrections officer, continuous sexual abuse of a child, or continuous trafficking of persons. I just don't think that that practically makes sense. And I don't think if we go back to our jurisdictions that you will find a magistrate right now setting a personal bond for any of those offenses.

CROCKETT: So if we don't believe that that is something that a magistrate would do, why would we even take that discretion away? The only reason I ask you this is because I've had a client let out on a PR bond, or personal bond, for murder. Just in Dallas, we had an officer that was accused of capital murder and he got released on a personal bond. There are circumstances, and I'm going to tell you that they are the exception and not the rule. I will agree with you. I just don't like the fact that we're taking discretion away, especially when we know that there are going to be people that will always have money, always be able to bail out. But if you're poor, that won't be an option even if a trained magistrate says, "Hey, under these circumstances, under what's going on, it makes best sense."

MURR: And I believe at the end of the day this is a policy discussion for this body to have as to whether a magistrate should have the discretion to simply allow someone charged with a capital murder or some of the other charges that I have listed to you to be able to sign a piece of paper and walk out of the jailhouse door the next day or if they're required to do something a little bit more to ensure that they show up for court whenever they receive notice and to protect the community, a victim, and law enforcement. So that's a public safety element. So I believe that that is what our body is here to do today.

CROCKETT: The other portion that I wanted to ask you about has to do with the assessment tool. It's my understanding—and once again, correct me if I'm wrong, because it seems like there were multiple amendments on the assessment tool—but part of the assessment tool is looking at a person's prior criminal convictions. Is that right?

MURR: That is correct.

CROCKETT: You'd agree with me, because it's my understanding that you have done indigent defense work, that sometimes people take pleas just to get out of custody, correct?

MURR: Unfortunately, that does occur.

CROCKETT: Is there anything that is built into this assessment tool that would help us to differentiate? Because sadly enough, once again, because people have not been able to afford bail, so many of them take hits on their records because that's the difference between losing their kids or losing their job. They will do anything to get out, including taking a plea on an offense that they didn't actually commit.

MURR: And so your question is, does the tool have something else in its place? I mean—I guess, please clarify.

CROCKETT: The issue that I have is that we're taking a tool and we are basing our future decisions on a system that we all agree has been flawed in the past. And I don't know if there is a way to fix that if we have this tool in place. So is there anything extra that would help so that those persons, say, you know—especially when I get a homeless client, they usually have long records where they've been convicted over and over and over and over and over with offenses because they get picked up routinely, and a lot of the times they end up entering pleas of guilty. Is there any type of safety valve?

MURR: So first, let's be real clear. The report that we have—so right now, a magistrate doesn't have to know anything more than the offense with which someone is charged. There's not a requirement that they have any background information at all. And in some jurisdictions, they're making a decision based solely on the person sitting in front of them and the charge—the documentation that's in front of them for that charge. That's it. So when we talk about accumulating this evidence and making it very promptly available to them, we're talking about the defendant's age, the current offense—which we understand is what they're making a consideration on now—is that current offense violent, are there other pending charges, and the criminal history to the extent the bill allows it. And working with Chair Collier, we've put some parameters on that so the lookback period is not substantial for all charges. That's it. And then we come back with an easy-to-read report in which the discretion of the magistrate is preserved. So they can choose to ignore it all they want.

CROCKETT: So I'm not familiar with the changes that you made, but you and I have both practiced in federal court and we know that they have a point system. And we know that there are certain offenses that they won't even look at, and the majority of the time, they're misdemeanors. Unless they are a misdemeanor of a violent nature, they won't take those into consideration at all. Is that similar or akin to what you are talking about you worked with Chairwoman Collier on?

MURR: No, and I don't practice in federal court. I'm sorry if you thought that. It's too far away from where I live. But no, we are not looking at a point system as addressed in the federal courts. Instead, this would simply be when we look at a person's criminal history, it would only be for a 10-year lookback period for misdemeanors unless that involved a violent offense of some kind.

CSHB 3948, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the production and regulation of hemp and consumable hemp products; authorizing a fee.

CSHB 3948 - STATEMENT OF LEGISLATIVE INTENT

REPRESENTATIVE WHITE: Representative King, thank you so much for bringing this legislation to us again this year, and thank you for your work on this particular issue. Last session, this issue passed overwhelmingly with a 144 to 0 margin. Is it your intention to provide new economic opportunities for Texas growers in connection with the cultivation and production of hemp products?

REPRESENTATIVE T. KING: Can you repeat that, please?

WHITE: Yes. Was it your intent then to provide new economic opportunities for Texas growers in connection with the cultivation and production of hemp products?

T. KING: Yes, Mr. Chairman, that was my intent.

WHITE: That's right. And so this bill before us today, I'm correct in assuming that the legislative intent behind this bill is to continue to support Texas hemp growers while remaining consistent with the federal Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018 and the Texas Hemp Plan approved by the USDA regarding the commercial cultivation, processing, and production of hemp products, defined as "the plant Cannabis sativa L. and any part of that plant, including the seeds of the plant and all derivatives, extracts, cannabinoids, isomers, acids, salts, and salts of isomers, whether growing or not, with a delta-9 tetrahydrocannabinol concentration of not more than 0.3 percent on a dry weight basis."

T. KING: I couldn't have stated it any better, Mr. Chairman. That is my intent.

WHITE: Right, a lot of words, a lot of words. And again, as you stated in your layout, this is not about legalization of marihuana?

T. KING: No, this is not a marihuana bill. This is hemp, specifically industrial hemp.

(2) "Eligible pole replacement cost" means the actual and reasonable costs incurred by a party after August 31, 2021, to remove and replace a pole, including the amount of any expenditures to remove and dispose of the existing pole, purchase and install a replacement pole, and transfer any existing facilities to the new pole. (c) The comptroller shall administer, prescribe rules for, and provide administrative support for the pole replacement program. The comptroller may take any action necessary or convenient to implement the pole replacement program.

(d) A pole owner or a provider of qualifying broadband service who removes and replaces an existing pole in an unserved area for the purpose of accommodating the attachment of an eligible broadband facility may apply to the comptroller for a reimbursement award for an amount equal to:

(1) 50 percent of the eligible pole replacement costs incurred by the applicant or $5,000, whichever is less, for the pole replaced; and

(2) the documented and reasonable administrative expenses incurred by the applicant in preparing and submitting the reimbursement application, including expenses charged by a pole owner under Subsection (m).

(h) Not later than the 60th day after the date that the comptroller receives a completed application for reimbursement, the comptroller shall review the application and, if the pole replacement fund includes enough money to pay the award amount, may issue a reimbursement award. The award must be paid not later than 30 days after the date of issuance.

(i) The comptroller must provide notice of a reimbursement award to the pole owner and the retail broadband service provider attaching the eligible broadband facility.

(j) As a condition of receiving an award of program reimbursement, an applicant must certify the applicant's compliance with the requirements of this section.

(1) reimbursed by the program;

(2) paid for by a qualifying broadband provider; or

(3) funded by another grant source.

(l) If the comptroller finds on substantial evidence after notice and opportunity to respond that a pole owner or broadband service provider has materially violated the requirements of this section with respect to reimbursements or portions of reimbursements, the comptroller may direct the owner or provider to refund the reimbursement or a portion of the reimbursement with interest at the applicable federal funds rate as specified by Section 4A.506(b), Business and Commerce Code, to the pole replacement fund or the state general fund.

(m) If a retail broadband service provider incurs eligible pole replacement costs relating to a pole replacement performed by the pole owner, the owner shall coordinate with the provider to supply all information necessary for the provider to promptly complete and submit an application under this section. A pole owner may charge the provider the documented and reasonable administrative expenses incurred by the pole owner for assistance, in an amount not to exceed five percent of eligible pole replacement costs. The provider may seek reimbursement of costs in accordance with Subsection (d)(2).

(n) If the pole replacement fund does not have money sufficient to pay an award, the application for the award is considered denied. The application may be refiled if sufficient funds are later made available in the pole replacement fund.

(o) Not later than the 60th day after the date the pole replacement fund receives money for the pole replacement program, the comptroller shall maintain and publish on the comptroller's Internet website:

(3) the estimated amount of money remaining in the pole replacement fund.

(p) Not later than the first anniversary after the pole replacement fund receives funds for the purpose of providing pole replacement reimbursements, the state auditor shall audit the fund and the administration of the pole replacement program.

(q) Not later than one year after the date that the amount transferred from the capital fund to the pole replacement fund under Section 403.503(b) is exhausted, the comptroller shall identify, examine, and report on the deployment of broadband infrastructure and technology facilitated by the pole reimbursements the comptroller has awarded.

SUBCHAPTER S. ALLOCATION OF KIDNEYS AND OTHER ORGANS AVAILABLE FOR TRANSPLANT

SECTION 2. Section 161.471, Health and Safety Code, is amended to read as follows:

(1) "Auxiliary aids and services" means:

(A) qualified interpreters or other effective methods of making aurally delivered materials available to individuals with hearing impairments;

(B) qualified readers, taped texts, or other effective methods of making visually delivered materials available to individuals with visual impairments;

(C) provision of information in a format readily accessible and understandable to individuals with cognitive, neurological, developmental, or intellectual disabilities;

(D) acquisition or modification of equipment or devices; and

(E) other services and actions similar to those described by Paragraphs (A), (B), (C), and (D).

(2) "Disability" has the meaning assigned by the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. Section 12101 et seq.).

(3) "Health care facility" means a facility licensed, certified, or otherwise authorized to provide health care in the ordinary course of business, including a hospital, nursing facility, laboratory, intermediate care facility, mental health facility, transplant center, and any other facility for individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities.

(4) "Health care provider" means an individual or facility licensed, certified, or otherwise authorized to provide health care in the ordinary course of business or professional practice, including a physician, hospital, nursing facility, laboratory, intermediate care facility, mental health facility, transplant center, and any other facility for individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities.

(5) "Organ [~~organ~~] procurement organization" means an organization that is a qualified organ procurement organization under 42 U.S.C. Section 273 that is currently certified or recertified in accordance with that federal law.

SECTION 3. Subchapter S, Chapter 161, Health and Safety Code, is amended by adding Section 161.473 to read as follows:

Sec. 161.473. DISCRIMINATION ON BASIS OF DISABILITY PROHIBITED. (a) A health care provider may not, solely on the basis of an individual's disability:

- (1) determine an individual is ineligible to receive an organ transplant;
- (2) deny medical or other services related to an organ transplant, including evaluation, surgery, counseling, and postoperative treatment;
- (3) refuse to refer the individual to a transplant center or other related specialist for evaluation or receipt of an organ transplant; or
- (4) refuse to place the individual on an organ transplant waiting list or place the individual at a position lower in priority on the list than the position the individual would have been placed if not for the individual's disability.

(b) Notwithstanding Subsection (a), a health care provider may consider an individual's disability when making a treatment recommendation or decision solely to the extent that a physician, following an individualized evaluation of the potential transplant recipient, determines the disability is medically significant to the organ transplant. This section does not require a referral or recommendation for, or the performance of, a medically inappropriate organ transplant.

(c) A health care provider may not consider an individual's inability to independently comply with post-transplant medical requirements as medically significant for the purposes of Subsection (b) if the individual has:

- (1) a known disability; and
- (2) the necessary support system to assist the individual in reasonably complying with the requirements.

(d) A health care facility shall make reasonable modifications in policies, practices, or procedures as necessary to allow individuals with a disability access to organ transplant-related services, including transplant-related counseling, information, or treatment, unless the health care facility can demonstrate that making the modifications would fundamentally alter the nature of the services or would impose an undue hardship on the facility. Reasonable modifications in policies, practices, and procedures may include:

- (1) communicating with persons supporting or assisting with the individual's postsurgical and post-transplant care, including medication; and
- (2) considering the support available to the individual in determining whether the individual is able to reasonably comply with post-transplant medical requirements, including support provided by:

- (A) family;
- (B) friends; or
- (C) home and community-based services, including home and community-based services funded by:

- (i) Medicaid;
- (ii) Medicare;
- (iii) a health plan in which the individual is enrolled; or
- (iv) any other program or source of funding available to the individual.

(e) A health care provider shall make reasonable efforts to comply with the policies, practices, and procedures, as applicable, developed by a health care facility under Subsection (d), as necessary to allow an individual with a known disability access to organ transplant-related services, including transplant-related counseling, information, or treatment, unless the health care provider can demonstrate that compliance would fundamentally alter the nature of the services or would impose an undue hardship on the health care provider.

(f) A health care provider shall make reasonable efforts to provide auxiliary aids and services to an individual with a known disability seeking organ transplant-related services, including organ transplant-related counseling, information, or treatment, as necessary to allow the individual access to those services, unless the health care provider can demonstrate that providing the transplant-related services with auxiliary aids and services present would fundamentally alter the transplant-related services provided or would impose an undue hardship on the health care provider.

(g) A health care provider shall comply with the requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. Section 12101 et seq.) to the extent that Act applies to a health care provider. This subsection may not be construed to require a health care provider to comply with that Act if the Act does not otherwise require compliance by the health care provider.

(h) This section applies to each stage of the organ transplant process.

(i) A violation of this section is grounds for disciplinary action by the regulatory agency that issued a license, certificate, or other authority to a health care provider who committed the violation. Before a regulatory agency may take disciplinary action against a health care provider for a violation, the applicable regulatory agency shall:

(1) notify the health care provider of the agency's finding that the health care provider has violated or is violating this section or a rule adopted under this section; and

(2) provide the health care provider with an opportunity to correct the violation without penalty or reprimand.

(j) A physician who in good faith makes a determination that an individual's disability is medically significant to the organ transplant, as described by Subsection (b), does not violate this section.

(k) A health care provider who in good faith makes a treatment recommendation or decision on the basis of a physician's determination that an individual's disability is medically significant to the organ transplant, as described by Subsection (b), does not violate this section.

SECTION 4. Not later than January 1, 2022, the executive commissioner of the Health and Human Services Commission shall adopt any rules necessary to implement Subchapter S, Chapter 161, Health and Safety Code, as amended by this Act.

SECTION 5. This Act takes effect September 1, 2021.
