Point of Order

Senator Schwartz raised a point of order requesting a ruling upon the number of votes required to amend the resolution offered by Senator Aikin proposing adoption of the Senate Rules of the Fifty-Ninth Legislature as the Senate Rules of the Sixtieth Legislature.

The President ruled that a two-thirds vote of the Members present would be required. In response to a request for the basis of the ruling, the President referred to Rule 71(a) (5) of the previous Senate Rules and further ruled that, in the absence of any rules, the precedent of the Senate of the State of Texas would control. The Journals of the Senate, required to be kept by the Constitution of the State of Texas, Article III, Section 12, reflect that adoption or amendment of rules has been accomplished in the past only by record vote. The traditional use of record vote in such circumstances establishes that the Senate precedent is a requirement of a two-thirds vote to adopt or amend any Senate Rule or Rules.

Reason for Vote

Rule 71(a)(5) referred to by the Chair in ruling that a two-thirds vote of the members present would be required for adoption of the pending amendment to Senate Resolution 5, is as follows:

“(a) A vote of two-thirds of all Members present shall be required:
“(5) And to suspend, repeal, or amend any rule of the Senate.”

Pending the adoption of Senate Resolution 5, which was a motion to adopt the Rules of the 59th Legislative Session as the Rules of the 60th Legislative Session, there were no Senate Rules to amend. The issue before the Senate was whether or not to adopt a set of rules proposed. This issue was presented by a Simple Resolution and the amendment must be considered as a proposed amendment to a Resolution, rather than an amendment to the Rules. In this connection, it should be noted that a Constitutional Amendment requires twenty-one votes for passage, but a floor amendment to a pending Constitutional Amendment is always adopted or rejected by a majority vote. This analogy must certainly apply to the situation at hand where there is no specific rule or parliamentary rule requiring a two-thirds vote to adopt Rules or to amend a pending Resolution to adopt Rules.

If procedure announced today is to be logically followed, it would require any amendment to any bill or resolution requiring a two-thirds vote to be carried by a two-thirds vote. This is clearly not the case as applied to proposed Constitutional Amendments and other bills and resolutions which might require a two-thirds vote for final passage.

Respectfully submitted,

SCHWARTZ

Senate Resolution 6

Senator Hardeman offered the following resolution:

Whereas, It is noted, with regret, that Honorable John Ben Shepperd, of Odessa, Texas, has resigned after six years' membership on, and following four years as President of, the Texas Historical Survey Committee, in which capacities he served with distinction, to become the first Chairman of the Texas Fine Arts Commission; and

Whereas, During his tenure on the Texas Historical Survey Committee and under his dynamic and forceful leadership, he awakened among our citizens a consciousness and appreciation of the priceless heritages which belong to, and are a part of, the warp and woof of Texas and Texans, theretofore largely unknown. Under his able direction, the designation and preservation of historical sites and shrines were inaugurated, through the "RAMPS" programme, resulting in the erection of more than 4,200 markers throughout our vast domain and in the preservation and restoration, in varying degrees, of some 900 historical structures, for the benefit, education and enjoyment of our citizens, as well as for visitors who may come our way. Tomorrow's Texans thus will be able to "drink at many of the refreshing springs of their State's history and heritages." Mr. Shepperd spear-headed the observance of the Centennial of the War Between the States and accumulated and compiled invaluable archival materials for the use of scholars, historians and researchers to more accurately determine and portray Texas' role in this vital conflict; and

Whereas, The distinguished former Secretary of State and former Attorney General of Texas long has been active in promoting and contributing of his time, his talents and his money to various civic and patriotic enterprises in our State, in an official capacity, as well as a private citizen, in which latter capacity Mr. Shepperd has served his city as President of its Chamber of Commerce, as President of the Texas Historical Survey Committee and his region as President of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. In each of these positions, together with his work on numerous committees, he instituted and directed many programmes designed to effectuate the purposes of the respective organizations and committees for the lasting benefits of his community, the West Texas area and the entire State of Texas; and

Whereas, Throughout his public service he has been ably aided and supported by his sympathetic and understanding helpmate—"Miss Mamie" as she is familiarly known—who, in her own right, has contributed greatly to the civic and cultural development of her city, her State and her country; now, therefore, be it
