Sent To Governor

January 16, 1967

S. C. R. No. 1
In Memory of

William Lockhart Clayton

Senator Cole offered the following resolution:

(Senate Concurrent Resolution 3)

Whereas, Texas, the nation and the world have lost a great leader and statesman in the death of William Lockhart Clayton at his home-city of Houston on February 8, 1968, at the age of eighty-six years; and

Whereas, Will Clayton, as he was known everywhere, rose from humble beginnings, and after little formal education, to become by his own efforts, the principal founder and developer of the Houston-based world-wide business enterprise of Anderson, Clayton & Co., the largest cotton-merchandising organization in history, which has contributed and still notably contributes to the development and prosperity of all Texas, and especially the Port of Houston; and

Whereas, having established this great enterprise, Will Clayton left it during both of the two World Wars to serve his country, first in World War I as an official of the War Industries Board, and secondly, in, before and after America's entry into World War II, as Deputy Co-ordinator of Latin American Affairs (1940) and thereafter successively for seven years as Assistant Secretary of Commerce, Surplus War Property Administrator, Assistant Secretary of State and Under-Secretary of State for Economic Affairs, in which latter capacity he proposed the Marshall Plan in a memorandum handed to Secretary of State, George Marshall, on May 27, 1947, ten days before Marshall's famous speech at Harvard on June 5; and

Whereas, in 1962, at the age of eighty-two, he again served his country, by heading the U. S. Delegation to the International Trade Conference at Havana in 1948, which resulted in agreement on the International Trade Organization Charter, later submitted to, but failing of ratification by Congress and thereby failing of ratification by the other participating nations; and

Whereas, again called upon for public service in 1961, he wrote jointly with former Secretary of State, Christian Herter, for congressional use, the Herter-Clayton Report on the Expansion of United States Trade, which became the basis of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962, and thus the foundation of the "Kennedy Round" of international tariff negotiations; and

Whereas, in 1962, at the age of eighty-two, he again served his country by heading, jointly with former Secretary of State Herter, the United States Delegation to the Citizens' Convention on NATO at Paris, resulting in the Declaration of Paris, which called for a special governmental commission to study the development of an Atlantic Community adequate to the political, military and economic challenges of this era; and

Whereas, Will Clayton was a generous financial benefactor of an extraordinary number of charitable and educational enterprises, not merely in Houston and Texas, but throughout the nation, including the Library of the University of Texas, which he aided in its first large purchase of distinction in decades, to wit, the Famous Collection, and including also Johns Hopkins University (of which he was a trustee); the Clayton Center of International Finance of Tufts University, Texas Southern University (of which he served several years as a Director); and the foundation for Texas benevolences known as the Clayton Fund, to which latter he bequeathed the bulk of his considerable estate; and

Whereas, the life of Will Clayton is an inspiring example—first, of the gentle and polite Southerner who could easily hold his own with the great and near-great of any other state or nation; secondly, of the good that can be accomplished under the American way of life by even the poorest citizen of high character and devotion to his work; and lastly, of how strong moral principle, personal dignity and extraordinary achievement may yet go hand-in-hand with an altogether democratic, patient and kindly nature; now, therefore, be it:

Resolved, by the Senate of Texas, the House of Representatives concurring, That this Resolution stand in memory of Texan William Lockhart Clayton, great businessman, statesman, philanthropist and gentleman-author of the Marshall Plan and benefactor of humanity.

COLE BROOKS

The resolution was read.

On motion of Senator Grover and by unanimous consent the names of the Lieutenant Governor and all Senators were added to the resolution as signers thereof.

On motion of Senator Cole and by unanimous consent the resolution was considered immediately and was adopted by a rising vote of the Senate.
In Memory of

Dr. Thomas L. Royce

Senator Grover offered the following resolution:

(Senate Resolution 18)

Whereas, The death of Dr. Thomas L. Royce on Sunday, January 8, 1967, at the age of 52, was a great loss to the people of Texas; and

Whereas, This outstanding ophthalmologist, who was chief of eye service in three Houston hospitals—Hermann, M. D. Anderson and Southern Pacific—was also chairman of eye service for the Texas Post Graduate Medical Assembly, and his professional ability was recognized throughout the nation; and

Whereas, Dr. Royce was president of the Harris County Medical Society in 1962, and was an advocate of the mass polio immunization which virtually halted the spread of the disease in Harris County; and

Whereas, He was a native of Isola, Mississippi, but had lived in Houston for 22 years; he was a member of the Texas and American Medical societies, the Doctors’ Club, Houston Club, River Oaks Country Club and a number of other organizations and professional and social fraternities; and

Whereas, Dr. Royce was a devout Catholic, a member of Saint Ann’s Catholic Church, in Houston; and

Whereas, The Senate of the 60th Legislature wishes to recognize Dr. Royce for his contributions to his profession and for his service to the thousands whose sight was saved and improved through his exceptional ability and interest; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the State of Texas adopt this Resolution in tribute to Dr. Thomas L. Royce; and, be it further

Resolved, That copies of this Resolution be prepared for his wife; for his daughter, Marie Elaine Royce; and his two sons, Thomas L. Royce, Jr., and Benn Lockett Royce, of Houston, to whom the Senate extends its sincere sympathy for their great loss.

The resolution was read and was adopted by a rising vote of the Senate.
