FOREWORD

The Summary of Enactments of the 69th Legislature provides synopses of all bills enacted during the 1985 regular and 1st called sessions. Summaries of joint resolutions passed by the legislature, proposing amendments to the Texas Constitution, are also included.

This publication is intended to be a convenient reference for the main features of enacted measures within particular subject areas. A summary of an act should not be considered a comprehensive or legal analysis or used as a source of authority for legal interpretation. A person should examine the enrolled copy of any piece of legislation to obtain a fuller understanding of its application and implications.

Copies of enrolled bills and resolutions from the 69th Legislature may be obtained from house and senate document distribution offices until November 1986 when bill prefiling will begin for the 70th Legislature. House measures are available from the House Document Distribution Office, located in room 500 in the John H. Reagan State Office Building [P.O. Box 12128, Austin, Texas 78711; phone (512) 475-8454]. Senate measures are available from the Senate Document Distribution Office, located in room G27H in the Capitol [P.O. Box 12086, Austin, Texas 78711; phone (512) 475-2520]. The charge for copies is 15 cents per page.

INTRODUCTION

The Regular Session of the 69th Legislature of the State of Texas was convened on January 8, 1985, and was adjourned sine die on May 27, 1985. During this 140-day period, a total of 4,021 bills were introduced and 1,024 were passed and sent to the governor. The legislature also considered 132 joint resolutions proposing amendments to the Texas Constitution; 16 joint resolutions were passed proposing 17 amendments, which will be presented to voters at the November elections in 1985 and 1986. The following table summarizes the disposition of these measures:

The number of bills passed during the 69th Regular Session is somewhat less than the number for the 1983 session but is greater than the number for either of the previous two sessions. The table below provides an overview:

Numbers, however, give only a partial indication of the work of a legislative session, and they tell little about the character and accomplishments of a session. And in the case of the 69th Legislature, concluding an analysis of the session’s work with the date of sine die adjournment also would be misleading. During a three-day special session that began the morning after the end of the regular session, the legislature enacted Senate Bill 1, 1st C.S., which included the Indigent Health Care and Treatment Act and which provided funding for that and related programs established during the regular session. Senate Bill 1, 1st C.S., is summarized in the Health section. Other measures that are part of the indigent health care package and are also summarized in the Health section include the Texas Primary Health Care Services Act (House Bill 1844), the Maternal and Infant Health Improvement Act (House Bill 1023), and an act relating to the transfer of emergency patients among hospitals (House Bill 1963).

In other health, human services, and related measures, the legislature provided for the licensing of abortion facilities and required the compilation of data on abortions performed (House Bill 2091), enacted the Omnibus Hunger Act to provide for food for needy Texans (Senate Bill 526), and extended unemployment compensation benefits to farm laborers (House Bill 32). It also passed a number of important measures concerning child abuse and the regulation of child-care facilities (see sections on Family Law and Business).

Legislative attention remained focused on education. No major revisions were made to the public school reform measures that were enacted during the 1984 special session called, in part, to respond to recommendations of the Special Committee on Public Education (SCOPE) chaired by H. Ross Perot. The legislature did, however, pass House Bill 505, which entitles most public school teachers to a duty-free lunch period. Because of continuing budgetary limitations, reductions were made in appropriations for higher education (General Appropriations Act, House Bill 20), state college and university tuition was raised (House Bill 1147), and a special committee to study higher education matters was created (House Concurrent Resolution 105).

The issue of drinking and driving also continued to receive extensive legislative consideration. In September 1986, the drinking age will be raised to 21 (Senate Bill 21 and House Bill 1819), but legislation banning open containers of alcohol in the front seats of automobiles did not pass. In another driving matter, beginning September 1, 1985, Texas drivers of most passenger cars and pickup trucks and their front-seat passengers are required to wear seat belts (Senate Bill 500).

Although a final decision concerning the location of new United States naval bases for a battleship group was not made before the legislature adjourned, members enacted a measure providing state aid for public works improvements for the purpose of encouraging the location of naval facilities in Texas (House Bill 955). In July it was announced that Corpus Christi had been selected as the home port of a battleship, an aircraft carrier, and three smaller ships and that Houston-Galveston would serve as the home port for five support vessels in the battleship group.

Development of a statewide water plan has been an issue of increasing concern for a number of sessions, and the 69th Legislature worked out a compromise package that creates a statewide plan for water development, conservation, and research (House Bill 2). Implementation is dependent on voter approval of a constitutional amendment authorizing $1.43 billion for loans and other project financing (House Joint Resolution 6). Other important environmental measures include House Bill 2358, which strengthens the state’s regulatory powers relating to hazardous waste, and House Bill 1112, which requires companies using toxic chemicals to inform employees and local officials of potential health hazards.

The 69th Legislature may also be remembered for its action concerning the blue law. In House Bill 1280 the state law prohibiting the sale of numerous retail items on consecutive weekend days was repealed.

House Bill 1330 provides for state regulation of billboards in unincorporated areas and sets out requirements concerning compensation of owners for cities that order outdoor signs to be removed.

In other business-related matters, the legislature did not pass a bill to allow banks to charge fees for credit cards (Senate Bill 952) or a bill that would have partially deregulated securities (House Bill 296, which was passed by the House but not called up for third reading in the Senate).

A number of issues of special concern to women were considered by the legislature. Senate Bill 1367 allows for the continuation of certain health insurance benefits for a year after the death of a spouse or the dissolution of a marriage. A bill authorizing the award of limited alimony payments to a spouse unable to provide self-support who had been married at least 10 years (Senate Bill 547) and a bill eliminating the exemption for spouses from the statute concerning prosecution for sexual assault (House Bill 280) did not pass.

Throughout the session, members faced the serious problem of the rising cost of state government and the concurrent slowdown in the growth of state revenues. While enacting no new taxes, the legislature raised or authorized the raising of many state fees. House Bill 1593 provides for $144 million in additional state revenue through raising fees of a number of agencies, and numerous other bills relating to specific agencies include provisions for increasing fees. House Bill 20, the General Appropriations Act, appropriated $37.1 billion for state government expenditures during the 1986-87 biennium. This amount represents a 14.3 percent increase over the 1984-85 amount, but only a 6.2 percent increase when considering the continuation of the increases adopted for education and highways during the special session in 1984.

In two important efforts to cut costs in state agencies, the legislature passed House Bill 473 (summarized in the section on Public Officials and Employees), which establishes an incentive program to recognize and reward state employees who make recommendations that reduce state costs or increase revenues, and House Bill 460 (summarized in the section on State Government), which provides for a comprehensive review of the operation and administration of each state agency to identify opportunities to eliminate waste and reduce or avoid costs.

The 69th Legislature also considered, but did not pass, measures to legalize pari-mutuel betting, including a bill relating to horse racing that was considered on the House floor (House Bill 440).

Other far-reaching measures that contributed to the work and tone of the session but that did not pass include a bill relating to the ownership of white oil (Senate Bill 1396) and a measure to establish an early presidential primary date (Senate Bill 1028).

The bills passed during the regular session and not vetoed, joint resolutions proposing constitutional amendments that will come before the voters in 1985 and 1986, and the three bills passed during the 1st called session are summarized in this publication. The summaries, grouped by subject, are intended to provide a general review of significant provisions of the enactments and of important changes that result.
AGRICULTURE

A major agricultural initiative of the 69th Legislature was a proposed constitutional amendment (House Joint Resolution 19) and enabling legislation (House Bill 196) authorizing financial assistance to farmers and ranchers for purchases of land. The existing farm and ranch security program, enacted in 1979 with a similar purpose in mind, was augmented by amendments broadening its eligibility provisions (Senate Bill 1184).

The 1985 session was marked also by the establishment of a control program to curb serious brush infestation in parts of the state (Senate Bill 1083). Several other measures modified various agricultural licensing, labeling, and fee laws. Elsewhere in this publication, the chapter on labor describes new legislation extending unemployment compensation to farm and ranch workers (House Bill 32).

Farm and Ranch Finance Program

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION 19
FOR ELECTION: 11-5-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Patterson
SENATE SPONSOR: Sarpalus

House Joint Resolution 19 would grant the Veterans’ Land Board the constitutional authority to issue up to $500 million in general obligation bonds to make loans and provide other financial assistance for the purchase of farm and ranch land. House Bill 196 will implement the Farm and Ranch Finance Program if the amendment is approved by the voters.

HOUSE BILL 196
EFFECTIVE: see below
HOUSE AUTHOR: Patterson
SENATE SPONSOR: Sarpalus

House Bill 196 is the enabling legislation for House Joint Resolution 19, which is the proposed constitutional amendment that authorizes the issuance of general obligation bonds to provide financial assistance for the purchase of farm and ranch land. The proceeds from the sale of the bonds will create a fund to finance the Farm and Ranch Finance Program, which will be administered by the Veterans’ Land Board. The bill sets eligibility standards for participation in the program and provides for local review of the applicants. The bill also sets forth conditions for the purchase, sale, transfer, lease, and other distribution of land financed under this program. This act takes effect September 1, 1986, if the amendment proposed by House Joint Resolution 19 is approved by the voters in an election set for November 5, 1985.

Family Farm and Ranch Security Program

SENATE BILL 1184
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Lyon
HOUSE SPONSOR: Carriker

Senate Bill 1184 amends state law to increase participation in the Texas Family Farm and Ranch Security Program, a guaranteed loan program established to assist farmers in purchasing land. This act increases from $100,000 to $200,000 the maximum net worth that an applicant may have to be eligible to participate in the program. The act limits the amount of a loan to $250,000 and authorizes the use of graduated payments and balloon payments. The program administrator, rather than the commissioner of agriculture, shall determine eligibility for participation in the program and the advisory council is responsible for approving loan applications.

Property obtained by the state under the program is to be maintained in good condition before sale. The commissioner may reject any and all bids in a sale. If all bids are rejected, the sale process is to be restarted within 180 days.

Brush Control Program

SENATE BILL 1083
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Sims
HOUSE SPONSOR: Harrison

Senate Bill 1083 creates the Texas Brush Control Program to be administered by the State Soil and Water Conservation Board and all districts under its jurisdiction. The board is directed to prepare and adopt a state brush control plan which will designate critical areas where brush infestation is particularly serious and include a strategy for managing brush where it is contributing to a substantial water conservation problem.

As part of the program, the act creates a cost-sharing program whereby landowners wishing to participate in a brush control program would be eligible for direct state assistance.

Regulation and Licensure

SENATE BILL 231
EFFECTIVE: 5-17-85

HOUSE SPONSOR: Saunders

Currently, cotton plant by-products are subject to commercial feed laws. Senate Bill 231 exempts cottonseed by-products from the commercial feed laws by adding them to the list of other feed-roughage such as cottonseed, peanut, and rice hulls.

SENATE BILL 559
EFFECTIVE: 5-24-85

HOUSE SPONSOR: Laney

Senate Bill 559 clarifies current labeling requirements for agricultural and vegetable seed sold in Texas. The act requires the labels on containers of seed sold on a pure live seed basis to include the percentage of pure live seed and the month and year germination tests were completed. The act also permits the Department of Agriculture to adopt rules requiring that labels on vegetable seed show expiration dates in lieu of seed germination dates.

SENATE BILL 1243
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

HOUSE SPONSOR: Shaw

Under current law, the Department of Agriculture is permitted to impose additional fees for late payments on a license or certificate fee required by the nursery program, floral program, pesticide dealers license program, pesticide regulation, herbicide dealers program, and pesticide dealers program. Senate Bill 1243 allows the department to suspend or cancel a license or refuse to renew a license under one of those programs until all fees due are paid by the licensee. The act requires that a hearing be held before suspending, canceling, or refusing to renew a license.

HOUSE BILL 1762
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

HOUSE SPONSOR: Sims

Currently, a commodity in package form must be marked on the outside of the package with the net quantity expressed in weight, measure, or numerical count. House Bill 1762 allows the net quantity marking to also be expressed by a combination of weight, measure, or numerical count that is generally used by consumers and users.

HOUSE BILL 1802
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

HOUSE SPONSOR: Uribe

House Bill 1802 allows the Texas Department of Agriculture to refuse to issue a license to a vegetable or citrus fruit dealer who has not been previously licensed and who has engaged in conduct for which a dealer's license could be suspended or revoked. Currently, the department may refuse to issue a license to an applicant only if a license issued previously to the applicant has been revoked or suspended. The act also provides that a court judgment or certified claim against an applicant that is due or owing to a licensee, as well as a grower or producer, may be considered by the department in determining whether to refuse to issue a license.

HOUSE BILL 1803
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

HOUSE SPONSOR: Uribe

House Bill 1803 makes various changes relating to licenses required to handle and market vegetables and citrus fruit. The changes include a revision of license categories, authorization of a late fee for renewal of an expired license, and exemption from licensure as a dealer for producers who deal exclusively in their own products. A retailer license is now required for a person employing a buying agent who buys directly from a producer, and a cash dealer licensee may now purchase produce from producers who are not licensees. The act also limits the types of licensees who may apply for vegetable or citrus fruit transporting and buying agent identification cards.
The act also creates an offense for a person who acts as a retailer or cash dealer without the appropriate license.

In addition, the act amends provisions relating to the administration of the produce recovery fund, which is used to pay claims against certain licensees. The changes include increasing the maximum claim payment from $10,000 to $20,000 and the total amount that can be paid against a licensee in a year from $25,000 to $50,000.

HOUSE BILL 2077
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Saunders
SENATE SPONSOR: Uribe

Current law requires manufacturers of food to register with the Texas Department of Health and pay a registration fee. House Bill 2077 amends current law to exclude from the definition of a manufacturer of food a person, firm, or corporation that harvests, packages, washes, or ships raw vegetables or fruits.

Miscellaneous

HOUSE BILL 1278
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Carriker
SENATE SPONSOR: Farabee

Current law requires state agencies making purchases of supplies, materials, or equipment to give preference to goods produced or offered by bidders in Texas. House Bill 1278 amends the law to make it explicit that agricultural products produced or grown in Texas have preference over those offered by Texas bidders but produced elsewhere.

HOUSE BILL 1741
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Perry
SENATE SPONSOR: Sims

House Bill 1741 changes the procedure for continuing a security interest in farm products. Under the act, a person with a security interest in farm products that have been sold after the creation of the security interest will lose the security interest unless he notifies the buyer of the existence of the security interest within 90 days after the purchase. The act also changes the place for filing security interest in farm products from the office of the county clerk to the office of the secretary of state.

A separate section of the act affects all security interests, by defining what constitutes unlawful appropriation of a lender's secured property by a debtor, and it changes the definitions for grading offenses for unlawful appropriation.

HOUSE BILL 1870
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Patterson
SENATE SPONSOR: Blake

House Bill 1870 eliminates the statutory requirement that the Egg Marketing Advisory Board meet twice annually. Future board meetings will be held at the call of the commissioner of agriculture.

HOUSE BILL 2486
EFFECTIVE: 6-12-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Hinojosa
SENATE SPONSOR: Uribe

Current law prohibits certain agricultural cooperatives from dealing in the products or supplies of nonmembers in an amount that exceeds the value of the products of members. The act will allow agricultural cooperatives, organized primarily for the production and marketing of citrus products, whose industry has been affected by a natural disaster to deal in nonmember products in amounts that exceed the value of member products. Under the act, cooperatives may handle greater amounts of nonmember products for a period of five years following a natural disaster.
ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

Alcoholic beverage legislation having wide public impact includes a pair of measures, Senate Bill 21 and House Bill 1819, raising the legal drinking age to 21 in 1986 conditional on the continuation of federal highway funding sanctions. The latter measure also targets the issue of drinking while driving by increasing the penalties for traffic offenses committed with an open container in one's possession.

Drinking Age

SENATE BILL 21
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-86

SENATE AUTHOR: Sarpalius

HOUSE SPONSOR: Gary Thompson

In 1984, the U.S. Congress passed the Surface Transportation Act of 1984, which includes a provision mandating a reduction of five percent in federal highway funding for states that do not set their minimum drinking age at 21 by October 1, 1986, and 10 percent if those states do not comply by October 1, 1987.

Senate Bill 21 raises the minimum drinking age to 21 by amending the Alcoholic Beverage Code to redefine a minor as a person under 21 years of age for purposes of specific offenses relating to the purchase, consumption, sale, and possession of alcoholic beverages. The act includes a provision reverting the drinking age to 19 if the federal highway sanctions are repealed or declared unconstitutional.

HOUSE BILL 1819
EFFECTIVE: see below

HOUSE AUTHOR: Hall

SENATE SPONSOR: McFarland

House Bill 1819, with provisions similar to Senate Bill 21, raises the minimum drinking age to 21. These provisions are effective September 1, 1986; the remainder of the act is effective August 26, 1985.

In addition, the act contains other provisions relating to the regulation of alcoholic beverages. The scheduled sunset expiration of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission is changed from 1987 to 1991.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled as unconstitutionally vague a provision of the Alcoholic Beverage Code that prohibited the sale or service of beer to a person showing evidence of intoxication. House Bill 1819 amends the law to prohibit sale and service to "an intoxicated person."

The penalties for driving while intoxicated are increased if the person who committed the offense had an open container of an alcoholic beverage in his immediate possession at the time of the offense.

Alcoholic Beverage Commission

HOUSE BILL 2084

HOUSE AUTHOR: C. Evans

SENATE SPONSOR: Traeger

The Alcoholic Beverage Code is currently scheduled for sunset review during the 1991 session of the legislature. The purpose of this act is to revise general administrative provisions in accordance with Sunset Advisory Commission across-the-board approaches applied to all agencies reviewed by the commission. This act amends the enabling statute to incorporate certain sunset reforms which are anticipatory changes in the Alcoholic Beverage Code prior to sunset review. It bars various types of discrimination in appointments to the commission, and prohibits registered lobbyists from serving as commission members or as general counsel. This act also provides for grounds for removal of commission members; the development and implementation of policies to promote public involvement in commission activities; annual written reports to the governor and the legislature accounting for all receipts and disbursements by the commission during the preceding year; agency personnel policies; and biennial audits by the state auditor.

Licensure

SENATE BILL 297
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

HOUSE SPONSOR: Agnich

Currently, the manager of a hotel who is a member of a private club located within the hotel building may issue a guest card to a patron of the hotel who is staying in the hotel overnight or longer. However, that same guest cannot be served alcoholic beverages in the guest's hotel room. Senate Bill 297 amends the Alcoholic Beverage Code to permit the holder of the guest card issued by the manager of a hotel who is a member of a private club located within the hotel building to be served alcoholic beverages in the club or the holder's hotel room.

HOU.SE BILL 160
HOUSE AUTHOR: Cavazos
SENATE SPONSOR: Sharp

House Bill 160 amends the sections of the Alcoholic Beverage Code relating to the process an applicant must follow to be issued a license or permit to sell alcoholic beverages on premises. The act requires an applicant to post a prominent sign outside the location of the proposed establishment at the time that the applicant gives notice of the application in two consecutive issues of a newspaper in general circulation. The act also provides that the sign be both in English and a language other than English if a substantial number of residents in the area speak a language other than English as their familiar language. An application may not be denied for failing to post the notice if the commission or administrator determines that the general public in the area in which the premises is located is adequately aware of the nature of the application.

HOUSE BILL 162
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Martinez
SENATE SPONSOR: Whitmire

This measure provides for summary suspension of certain alcoholic beverage permits or licenses for up to seven days pending investigation of violent acts taking place on the licensed premises. A notice of the order suspending the permit shall be given to the permittee in person within 24 hours of the time the violent act occurs. If the permittee cannot be located, notice shall be provided by posting a copy of the order on the front door of the licensed premises.

HOUSE BILL 163
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Martinez
SENATE SPONSOR: Whitmire

This act amends the Alcoholic Beverage Code by requiring local law enforcement agencies in each county with a population of two million or more to send the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission reports and other data concerning shootings, stabbings, and other public disturbances that occur on the premises of a licensee or permittee. The administrator of the commission shall prescribe the form and content of the reports.

HOUSE BILL 167
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Martinez
SENATE SPONSOR: Barrientos

The Alcoholic Beverage Code currently provides that wine and beer retailer’s off-premise permittees must display a sign stating: IT IS A CRIME (MISDEMEANOR) TO CONSUME LIQUOR OR BEER ON THESE PREMISES. The Alcoholic Beverage Code also requires licensees to display a sign stating: FELONY. STATE LAW PRESCRIBES A MAXIMUM PENALTY OF TEN YEARS' IMPRISONMENT AND A FINE NOT TO EXCEED $5,000 FOR CARRYING WEAPONS WHERE ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES ARE SOLD, SERVED, OR CONSUMED. House Bill 167 amends the Alcoholic Beverage Code to provide that the commissioner or administrator may require the holder of either the permit or license to display the signs in a language other than English if it is observed or determined that a substantial portion of the expected customers speak the other language as their customary language.

HOUSE BILL 168
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Martinez
SENATE SPONSOR: Whitmire

This act amends the Alcoholic Beverage Code to provide that the commission or administrator shall refuse to issue a mixed beverage permit or private club registration permit for a period of one year after cancellation for a premises where two or more licenses and permits have been canceled during the previous 12 months as a result of a shooting, stabbing, or other violent act, or as a result of an offense involving drugs. The act also provides that the county judge, commission, or administrator shall refuse to approve or issue a retail dealer's on-premise license or a wine and beer retailer’s permit for a period of one year after cancellation for a premises where two licenses or permits have been canceled during the same period as a result of similar acts.

HOUSE BILL 353
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Tejeda
SENATE SPONSOR: Krier

This measure requires a person appealing the denial of the issuance or renewal of an alcoholic beverage license or permit to provide notice of the appeal to any local public official who is on record at a hearing as opposing the issuance or renewal. Notice is also required to be given to the first three persons not public officials who are on record as being in opposition. The notice may be by registered or certified mail.

HOUSE BILL 1132
EFFECTIVE: 6-11-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Berlanga
SENATE SPONSOR: Truan

House Bill 1132 amends the Alcoholic Beverage Code to provide that a mixed beverage permit may be issued for a boat if the boat carries at least 350 passengers, weighs at least 90 gross tons, and is at least 80 feet long, and the home port of the boat is in an area where the sale of mixed beverages is legal. The act also states that a permit for a boat is inoperative in a dry area.

Also, the Alcoholic Beverage Code is amended to authorize a passenger train beverage permit. The holder of this permit has the same rights with respect to the sale of alcoholic beverages as the holder of an airline beverage permit. Application and payment of the $500 fee will be made directly to the commission. The commission or administrator may issue a passenger train beverage permit to certain corporations operating a commercial passenger train service in or through the state. Taxes shall be paid on all alcoholic beverages on a commercial passenger train departing from a depot in this state in accordance with rules prescribed by the commission. Also, the preparation and service of alcoholic beverages by the holder of the permit is exempt from the tax imposed by the Limited Sales, Excise, and Use Tax Act. A passenger train service fee of five cents is imposed on each serving of an alcoholic beverage served by the permittee inside the state. The permittee shall remit the fees to the commission each month under a reporting system prescribed by the commission.

HOUSE BILL 1874
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Shea
SENATE SPONSOR: McFarland

The Alcoholic Beverage Code is amended to create a market research packager’s permit. This permit allows the holder to receive alcoholic beverages produced or belonging to a winery, a distiller’s or brewer’s permittee, or a manufacturer’s licensee and to place the beverages in containers as a service to the producer for market testing purposes. The beverages would then be returned to the person from whom they were received. The commission may issue the permit in a wet or dry area for an annual fee of $100. The person in possession of the permit has no right of title to the alcoholic beverages, other than possession.

Miscellaneous

SENATE BILL 106
EFFECTIVE: 4-3-85
HOUSE SPONSOR: A. Smith

A sexually oriented business licensed to sell alcoholic beverages was previously exempt from certain provisions of city and county ordinances regulating the location of such a business. Instead, these businesses were regulated under the Alcoholic Beverage Code. Senate Bill 106 authorizes a city or county to impose uniform restrictions on sexually oriented businesses regardless of whether they are licensed to sell alcoholic beverages. The act also amends the current law to ensure that the same penalty, a Class B misdemeanor, will apply to violations of city and county ordinances regulating the location of these businesses.

SENATE BILL 501
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
HOUSE SPONSOR: Arnold

The Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission, through the Alcoholic Beverage Code, has placed restrictions on the outdoor advertisement of alcoholic beverages. This act amends the Alcoholic Beverage Code’s definition of “outdoor advertising” to exclude advertising displayed on a race car participating at a professional racing event at a permanent racetrack facility. Race cars will therefore be able to display an alcoholic beverage logo while participating in a racing event that takes place in a dry area where the sale of alcoholic beverages is prohibited by local ordinance.

SENATE BILL 652
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE SPONSOR: Madla

Senate Bill 652 amends the Penal Code to authorize a peace officer or magistrate to release a person arrested for public intoxication if another adult will assume responsibility or if the person agrees to participate in an alcohol or drug treatment program approved by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism. However, release under this act may not be considered in a subsequent incident involving public intoxication, and the peace officer and the agency employing the peace officer are immune from liability for damages resulting from actions of an individual released under these provisions.

This act also states that the offense of public intoxication is not a lesser included offense under the offense of driving while intoxicated. Therefore, a DWI arrest may not be reduced to charges of public intoxication.
APPROPRIATIONS

Meeting in biennial regular sessions, the Texas Legislature appropriates the state’s revenues to cover two years of state government spending; the General Appropriations Act is the primary budget legislation, but a number of other measures also include appropriations that range from the thousands to the millions of dollars.

Constrained by Article III, Section 49a, of the Texas Constitution, which prohibits appropriations in excess of the comptroller’s biennial revenue estimate, the 69th Legislature convened amid a slowdown in state revenue growth precipitated by reductions in oil prices and sales tax collection paired with a rising demand for state services. The session was adjourned without the enactment of new or increased taxes, but many state fees were raised (House Bill 1593, summarized in the chapter on state government), state college tuition was raised (House Bill 1147, summarized in the chapter on higher education, as well as the appropriations chapter), and most state agencies were granted little or no increase in funding.

The legislature appropriated $37.2 billion for the 1986-87 biennium, including $37.1 billion in the General Appropriations Act (House Bill 20), $70 million for the indigent health care package and the Texas Cancer Council (in Senate Bill 1, 1st Called Session), major allocations for the United States Navy facility in Corpus Christi (in House Bill 955), and important appropriations concerning water development and conservation in the Texas Water Commission’s sunset act (Senate Bill 249). This total represents a $5.2 billion, or 15.2 percent, increase over the state’s spending level for the 1984-85 biennium.

In its 1984 special session, the 68th Legislature raised taxes for improvements in highways and public education. In contrast with the funding patterns for most state agencies, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation and the Texas Education Agency received substantial appropriations increases as a result of the 1984 legislation (House Bill 20). Also in 1984, Texas voters approved an amendment to the Texas Constitution to dedicate $100 million a year for permanent improvements at state colleges and universities not supported by the Permanent University Fund. Senate Bill 578, summarized in the higher education chapter, allocates the funds.

General Appropriations Act

HOUSE BILL 20

HOUSE AUTHOR: Rudd

SENATE SPONSOR: Jones

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

The General Appropriations Act provides the major portion of funds for the 1986-87 biennium. It appropriates $37.1 billion for the next two years that includes $26.2 billion from the major general revenue-related state funds.

The governor vetoed various line-item appropriations in the general appropriations act that include the following: a grant to the Department of Public Safety that would have appropriated $3,757,958; a grant to the Commission on Jail Standards appropriating $247,200; a grant to the Texas Department of Corrections appropriating $4,051,278; a grant to the Prosecutor Council appropriating $769,164; a grant to the supreme court appropriating $189,888; an appropriation totalling $204,600 to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation to be used as salaries for the services of part-time citizen board members; and an appropriation of $325,000 for Stephen F. Austin State University for anticipated claims against the state relative to litigation brought against the university.

Education

The area of education continues to receive the largest share of the state’s appropriations. The $16.8 billion appropriation represents a 9.4 percent increase over the previous biennium, but only a 2.9 percent increase over the 1985 level of spending.

The largest allocation within the area of education is for the Central Education Agency school programs with an appropriation of $11.2 billion for the biennium, representing an increase of $584.9 million over the 1985 level of funding. Adjustments in the Foundation School Program for the 1986-87 biennium reflect changes in the average daily attendance of students and changes in the composition of the total student population. The Foundation School Program includes appropriations of $11.7 million for early childhood summer school programs for children with limited English proficiency and $81.3 million for prekindergarten programs. Also included are appropriations of $6.6 million for testing teachers and for training and certification of appraisers of teacher performance for career ladder purposes; $3.5 million for technical assistance to local school districts relating to accreditation, training, and curriculum; and $1 million for research, development, and evaluation of school programs.

In the area of higher education, appropriations for the 35 formula-funded senior colleges and universities total $2.3 billion, or, after certain adjustments, 98 percent of the 1985-level appropriations. This total does not include the annual $100 million approved by voters in 1984 and constitutionally dedicated for permanent improvements at certain colleges and universities. Public junior colleges are allocated funds totalling $889.8 million for the 1986-87 biennium.

Employee Benefits

Funds are also appropriated in the act to provide an increase in state employee salaries by three percent in 1986 and three percent in 1987. Funding to maintain fringe benefits at current levels is appropriated at $3.1 billion, a 22.5 percent increase over the previous biennium. Merit raises are authorized; however, no additional funds are provided for that purpose.

Human Services

Human services received appropriations totalling $5.4 billion, representing a 6.8 percent increase over the previous biennium, but only a 1.8 percent increase over the 1985 level of spending. These figures represent amounts appropriated for the Texas Department of Human Services, the Texas Rehabilitation Commission, the Texas Employment Commission, the Texas Department on Aging, the Texas Commission for the Blind, the Texas Commission for the Deaf, and other human services agencies.

Appropriations for the Texas Department of Human Services reflect an increase in the average AFDC grant from $53 to $57 per month. Significant issues addressed within the funding of the department include an increase of $55.6 million in funds for income assistance, an increase of $29.7 million to provide funding for health care services, an increase of $8.4 million for services to families and children, a reduction of $14.9 million for services for aged and disabled persons due to a decline in caseload, and a rider appropriation providing $4.5 million for the biennium from the general revenue fund to implement provisions of the Omnibus Hunger Act of 1985 pertaining to the Texas Department of Human Services and the Texas Department on Aging.

Transportation

In the area of transportation, including the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation, the Texas Aeronautics Commission, the Texas Transportation Institute, and state road aid to counties, House Bill 20 includes an appropriation of $5.4 billion for the 1986-87 biennium. This total represents a 44 percent increase over the 1984-85 appropriation. Much of this increase was first authorized by the 68th Legislature in its 2nd Called Session; the $5.4 billion figure is a 19 percent increase over the 1985 appropriation level.

Health

The area of health, primarily the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation and the Texas Department of Health, received a $2.25 billion appropriation, representing a 2.4 percent increase over the previous biennium. In the $1.2 billion appropriation for the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, significant areas include $64.4 million to improve staff-to-patient ratios in state facilities; the provision of $20.6 million to begin operations of the Houston Psychiatric Hospital and $2.1 million to begin operation of the Fort Worth Psychiatric Hospital, both to be completed during the upcoming biennium; a $7.9 million appropriation for the phaseout of the Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences; a $5.3 million increase in federal mental health block grant funds for the expansion of community-based programs; a $5.7 million reduction in the centralized food purchase fund due to a projected decline in institutional residents; and a contingency appropriation of $5.6 million for life safety code construction based on the sale of property owned by the department.

The Texas Department of Health received an appropriation of $505.2 million, or a 4.8 percent decrease from the 1985 level of spending. Important appropriations for both the Texas Department of Health and the Texas Department of Human Services, however, are included in the Indigent Health Care Act (Senate Bill 1, 1st Called Session), and are not reflected in these figures.

Public Safety and Corrections

Agencies and programs relating to public safety and corrections received $1.6 billion for the 1986-87 biennium; the total is a 17.6 percent increase over the 1984-85 appropriations, but only an 8.3 percent increase over the 1985 level of spending. This section includes the Department of Public Safety, the Board of Pardons and Paroles, the Texas Adult Probation Commission, the Texas Juvenile Probation Commission, and other related agencies—all of which received reduced appropriations, and the Texas Youth Commission and the Texas Department of Corrections.

The Texas Department of Corrections received a $775 million appropriation for the 1986-87 biennium, exclusive of construction funds; this figure represents a 15.6 percent increase over the current level of the department's operating funds. The appropriation provides for an increase of 2,186 agency personnel for reducing inmate violence and meeting federal court requirements. The largest increase in personnel is for security where the appropriations will provide 1,497 additional correctional officers to staff new inmate housing areas and improve the level of inmate supervision.

In security administration, 129 clerks are being added to perform functions currently being performed by security personnel. In psychiatric services, 560 employees are being added to meet court-ordered requirements relating to mentally ill and retarded inmates.

An appropriation of $178.5 million is made for construction for the Texas Department of Corrections to meet court-ordered requirements to build new facilities and renovate existing facilities. Of this appropriation, $125 million is contingent on the sale of land currently owned by the Texas Department of Corrections. (Information, including appropriations and percentages, is from an analysis prepared by the Legislative Budget Board.)

HOUSE BILL 955
EFFECTIVE: see below
HOUSE AUTHOR: A. Smith
SENATE SPONSOR: Brown

House Bill 955 creates the National Defense Impacted Region Assistance Act of 1985 to provide state financial assistance to any region of the state that is affected by new construction or expansion of a major United States Navy facility. Because the legislature believes that the location of this proposed facility in Texas would provide substantial economic benefit to the state, it passed this act ensuring adequate provision of government services as an incentive to the Navy to choose a site in Texas.

In the act, the Tax Code is amended to exempt from the sales tax property bought by a contractor for use in improving realty in connection with the construction of the naval facility.
The State Highway Commission is directed to provide for construction of highways to provide access to the naval facility and to provide for the state highway system in impacted regions. Appropriations of at least $30 million for the 1986 fiscal year and at least $31 million for the 1987 fiscal year are authorized for this purpose.

The Education Code is amended to provide for adjustment of the basic allotment to school districts in a region impacted by construction of the naval facility. A section is added directing the coordinating board to provide for the offering of courses and degree programs on military installations and allowing institutions of higher learning to cooperate with military installations in providing degree programs and courses of particular benefit to military personnel and civilian employees of military installations.

The act directs the criminal justice division of the governor's office to allocate to units of government in regions impacted by the naval facility an additional 10 percent over funds they would otherwise receive under existing allocation provisions.

The Parks and Wildlife Code is amended to direct the Parks and Wildlife Department to develop, operate, maintain, and improve state parks in the parks use region of the location of the naval facility. Funds totalling at least $4.1 million are allocated for the 1986-87 biennium for this purpose.

The act directs that the governor, in deciding how to allocate funds from the governor's contingency fund for perceived emergencies, give preference to regions impacted by the new naval facility.

The Texas home port trust fund, to be administered by the governor, is created to provide for public works improvements related to the naval facility. The sum of $17 million is transferred from the water assistance fund and appropriated to the new fund.

Effective September 1, 1986, the Tax Code is amended to allocate the portion of the cigarette tax previously allocated to the local parks, recreation, and open space fund to the Texas home port trust fund until $8 million has been allocated. Then, for the balance of the 1987 fiscal year, this portion of the cigarette tax reverts to the local parks, recreation, and open space fund. If no naval facility is located in Texas, all of these funds go to the local parks, recreation, and open space fund.

In any event, the Texas home port trust fund lapses on the fourth anniversary of the commencement of construction of the naval facility and all funds revert to the general revenue fund. Improvements made with these funds may be leased to the United States government, but ownership remains with the state, navigational district, or political subdivision.

The act, with the exception noted above, is effective on the date the governor issues an official proclamation declaring the Department of the Navy's decision to locate its facility in Texas. The act expires if the proclamation is not issued on or before January 1, 1986.

BUSINESS AND OCCUPATIONAL REGULATION

The 69th Legislature's repeal of the state's "blue law," which for over a century had prohibited Sunday purchases of various consumer items, received the most publicity among business legislation enacted in 1985. A billboard regulation measure, House Bill 1330, was also the focus of attention in the wake of a similar outdoor advertising measure that was vetoed by the governor two years ago. The session witnessed, however, other minor sales and advertising laws. Senate Bill 1353 prohibits surcharges by sellers for credit card purchases, House Bill 2119 sets requirements for rental-purchase agreements, and House Bill 385 regulates going out of business sales and related advertising.

Texas commerce and investment were the subject of several additional enactments. Senate Bill 533, Senate Bill 782, and Senate Bill 1123 enact comprehensive revisions, respectively, of the state's corporation, banking, and savings and loan statutes. House Bill 809 promotes expansion of Texas trade in international markets. House Bill 690 responds to federal limits on the issuance of tax-exempt industrial development bonds.

Roughly half of the occupational regulation laws passed in 1985 dealt with health professions and occupations. Among the practitioners newly subject to regulation are those practicing respiratory care (Senate Bill 1007) and massage therapy (House Bill 2012). Outside the health field, lawyer referral services are made subject to a set of statutory guidelines (Senate Bill 164).

Initiatives relating to promotion of technological research and development are summarized in the chapter on higher education.

HOUSE AUTHOR: Cain
SENATE SPONSOR: Farabee

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

Since 1863, Texas has had a law restricting the sale of goods on Sunday. The current law was enacted in 1961, and prohibits the sale of 42 items on consecutive weekend days. The prohibition applies to specified merchandise including clothing, appliances, hardware, furnishings, household goods, and motor vehicles. There has been controversy surrounding the list of prohibited goods for many years because of the distinctions concerning what could and could not be sold. For example, one can buy canned goods, but not a can opener with which to open them; a hammer but not nails; and many others. This law has been popularly known as the "blue law" because it was originally written on blue paper. House Bill 1280 repeals the "blue law" with the exception of the sale or exchange of motor vehicles by motor vehicle dealers on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays. The restriction on the sale of motor vehicles is retained as part of the state's motor vehicle regulatory policy.

This act also contains measures designed to protect employees in retail establishments from being required to work seven consecutive days and from being prohibited to attend a weekly worship service of the employee's religion. Part-time employees who work fewer than 30 hours per week are not covered by these measures. In addition, if a retail employer had been closed on Sunday to comply with the "blue law" prior to its repeal on September 1, 1985, an employee who had been continuously employed by that establishment prior to that date may not be required to work on Sunday following the repeal. However, an employer is protected from civil action under this act if an employee volunteered for work on Sunday and there is a written statement to this effect signed by the employee.

Finally, the act provides that shopping center leases that require a store to be open when other stores in the center are open does not apply on Sunday unless the contract specifically mentions that it applies on Sunday.

HOUSE BILL 231

HOUSE AUTHOR: Clemons
SENATE SPONSOR: Blake

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

House Bill 231 requires the Texas Department of Human Services to publish notice of the revocation or suspension of a child-care facility's license to operate in the section of a local newspaper where day-care services are advertised. If a person who operates a facility that has had its license revoked or suspended reapplies for a license, the facility operator must reimburse the department for the cost of the published notice. A facility that has its license revoked or suspended must mail notification of this action by certified mail to the parents or guardians of children served by the facility. Notice must be mailed within five days of the effective date of the revocation or suspension.

HOUSE BILL 346

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

HOUSE AUTHOR: Barton

SENATE SPONSOR: Brooks

House Bill 346 establishes licensing and registration fees for child-care facilities. Licensed foster family homes and family group homes, and certain nonprofit facilities, are exempt from payment of the fee. A registered family home must renew the registration every two years and the registration must be prominently displayed at the home. All fees collected under these provisions will be used to establish a child-care training fund in the state treasury. The fund may be used only to provide programs of parent education and caretaker training designed to ensure the health, safety, and well-being of children. Up to three percent of the fund may be used for the costs of collecting the fees and administering the fund.

HOUSE BILL 1760

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

HOUSE AUTHOR: Clemons

SENATE SPONSOR: Blake

Registered family homes are private homes that provide care for up to six children under age 14 and after-school care for up to six more children. Prior to 1975, registered family homes were licensed and inspected by the state. Currently, registered family homes are not inspected unless a formal complaint has been filed with the Texas Department of Human Services.

House Bill 1760 requires any advertisement for a registered family home to include a statement in bold print detailing that although the home is registered with the state, it is not licensed, inspected, or regulated.

Omission of this statement in any registered family home advertisement would be a Class C misdemeanor.

House Bill 1201 strengthens the inspection requirements for certain amusement rides. Beginning January 1, 1986, the inspection must include a method to test the stress- and wear-related damage of the critical parts of a ride that could cause injury as a result of failure. In addition, amusement ride operators must keep a record of any injury caused by a ride that results in death or requires medical treatment, and must file a quarterly injury report with the State Board of Insurance. Finally, the act increases the penalty for violation of the Amusement Ride Safety Inspection and Insurance Act to a Class B misdemeanor. The provisions of this act pertaining to injury records and penalties take effect September 1, 1985.

Outdoor Signs

HOUSE BILL 1330

EFFECTIVE: see below

HOUSE AUTHOR: Messer

SENATE SPONSOR: Uribe

House Bill 1330 regulates outdoor signs in cities, cities' extraterritorial jurisdiction, and in unincorporated areas. It provides for the establishment of a municipal board on sign control in any municipality that requires the relocation, reconstruction, or removal of a sign within its corporate limits or extraterritorial jurisdiction, and outlines the composition of the board. The act establishes procedures that a municipality must follow in requiring the relocation, reconstruction, or removal of any sign. Owners of such signs are entitled to compensation by the municipality for costs associated with moving or relocating the sign. In addition, the municipality must issue a permit to the owner to display a sign at an alternative site of substantially equivalent value. The act also establishes a schedule for the removal of nonconforming signs.

The methods of compensating sign owners are limited to abatement of the sign owner’s municipal property taxes, payment from a special fund in the municipal treasury for such purpose, payment out of the proceeds from the sale of sign abatement revenue bonds, or payment in cash. The act does not prohibit compensation by amortization in municipalities having an ordinance permitting such a plan if the ordinance was in effect June 1, 1985.

To enable a city to offer property tax abatement under these conditions, House Bill 1330 also expands the conditions for designation of an area as a reinvestment zone to include an area encompassing signs, billboards, and other outdoor advertising structures identified by the governing body of the incorporated city or town for relocation, reconstruction, or removal. In addition, a city may designate as a reinvestment zone any real or personal property within the taxing jurisdiction of the city whose use is directly related to the business of outdoor advertising.

House Bill 1330 also sets size and spacing requirements for signs erected in rural areas and authorizes the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission to regulate the erection and maintenance of signs in unincorporated areas. A person may not erect an off-premise sign that is visible from the main-traveled way of a rural road without having first obtained a permit from the commission. Certain signs are exempt from these requirements, including those in existence before the effective date of this act. Owners of off-premise signs erected in rural areas before September 1, 1985, must either remove them or register them with the commission within 120 days following the effective date of this act. The regulation of off-premise portable signs in counties with a population of 1.7 million or more will be the responsibility of the county’s commissioners court.

The above regulations become effective September 1, 1985.

Under the provisions of this bill, a municipality may extend the conditions of its outdoor sign regulatory ordinance and enforce the ordinance within its area of extraterritorial jurisdiction. It may, instead, allow the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission to regulate outdoor signs in the city’s extraterritorial jurisdiction by filing a written notice with the commission. This section of the act is effective May 31, 1985.

HOUSE SPONSOR: Howard
House Bill 385 provides for the regulation of going out of business sales. A sale may not be advertised with language indicating that an enterprise is ceasing business unless the business is closing all of its operations in a county and in all of the adjacent counties. To conduct a going out of business sale, an original inventory must be filed with the county clerk for the county in which the principal place of business is located. The clerk will issue a nonrenewable permit for the sale, which must be posted in a conspicuous place at the sale. The act creates inventory requirements for and restricts the frequency of these sales. A violation of this act is a Class A misdemeanor.

HOUSE BILL 690
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Messer
SENATE SPONSOR: McFarland
Private activity bonds are tax-exempt bonds issued through state and local governmental entities for private projects that will stimulate economic growth. These bonds include industrial development bonds and student loan bonds. In 1984, the federal government placed a limit on the amount of private activity bonds a state can issue in any calendar year, based on the population of the state. The governor was given interim authority to determine a system for allocating the bonds within the state. An option was included for a state to develop a plan for allocating the available bonds, provided action was taken by January 1, 1986. Otherwise, an automatic distribution of 50 percent to state-government entities and 50 percent to local entities takes effect.

House Bill 690 exercises the legislative option to determine an allocation system for the distribution of industrial development bonds in Texas. It establishes a procedure whereby bond issuers may reserve a portion of the state's share of bonds by applying to the Texas Economic Development Commission. Reservations will be granted in the order in which they are received, except provisions are included to ensure an equitable distribution among small and large bond issuers. There is also a provision to carry forward any bonds available after December 15 for specific projects. The act creates a fee for filing a reservation application or a carry forward designation with the commission.

The act specifies the membership, powers, and duties of the Texas World Trade Development Authority (TWTDA) and the Texas World Trade Council (TWTC). Both of these entities are subject to the Texas Sunset Act.

The TWTDA will generate funds through a variety of means including the sale of securities and issuance of bonds to create a source of money available to financial institutions that will be used to finance international export ventures. These ventures are required to create or maintain employment in Texas and at least 25 percent of the final value of the manufactured goods or services must have been produced in this state.

The TWTC will review existing programs designed to promote international commerce and will perform a wide range of duties to encourage export development and production.

House Bill 2240 extends the exception to permit the Consumer Protection Division to file suit without prior notice when irreparable injury, loss, or damage would occur as a result of the delay in obtaining a temporary restraining order.

SENATE BILL 533

SENATE AUTHOR: McFarland
HOUSE SPONSOR: Arnold

Senate Bill 533 makes several changes in the Texas Business Corporation Act, the Texas Miscellaneous Corporation Laws Act, the Texas Non-Profit Corporation Act, and the Texas Professional Corporation Act. These changes are the culmination of a study by the State Bar of Texas' committee on revision of corporation law, and they represent an effort to modernize and clarify the corporation laws of our state.

This act includes an expansion of the indemnification provisions in the nonprofit corporation act and the business corporation act. It also permits a corporation in its articles of incorporation to vary shareholders' rights and preferences among the different series of a class of preferred shares of stock.

Other provisions increase the amount of the proceeds from the sale of no-par stock that may be dedicated to capital surplus, authorize any officer of a corporation to execute stock certificates, and remove the requirement that Texas corporations have a vice-president and a treasurer in addition to a president and a secretary. Senate Bill 533 also changes the law relating to conflict of interest for corporation directors so that a transaction may not be void or voidable solely because of conflict of interest if the material facts concerning the interest are disclosed to, and the transaction is approved by, the disinterested directors or shareholders.

This act further permits the directors of a nonprofit corporation to hold meetings by telephone; amends the professional corporation act to broaden the restrictions governing who may act as an officer, director, or shareholder for the purpose of winding up the affairs of a corporation; and makes other various clarifying changes in the corporation laws.

authorized to distribute the remaining assets of the corporation to another tax-exempt organization in a manner that will best accomplish the general purposes for which the corporation was organized.

Senate Bill 162 expands the definition of “banking house” to include an additional drive-in/walk-up facility whose nearest boundary is located more than 500 feet but less than 20,000 feet from the nearest wall of the central bank building. The use of sophisticated electronic equipment enables a bank to post items to its accounts at any time of the day or night without requiring examination of such items by a bookkeeper. Those items needing special attention, such as a stop-order or other notice, are handled after the initial electronic posting to the account. Senate Bill 497, also known as the Texas Savings and Loan Supplemental Fund Act, establishes a fund in Texas to assist the Savings and Loan Commissioner of Texas in maintaining the solvency of the member associations and to safeguard the public interest and promote the public confidence in state-chartered savings and loan associations. It creates the Texas Savings and Loan Supplemental Fund Corporation as a nonprofit entity. Corporation members are required to purchase securities issued by the organization to fund its operations. The fund will be used to assist members of the corporation that have been placed in conservatorship by the savings and loan commissioner.

The corporation can operate only if the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and the FSLIC grant the member savings and loan associations authority to function under the laws of Texas and the rules of the Savings and Loan Department of Texas without the stricter federal restraints currently in place.

SENATE BILL 782  SENATE AUTHOR:  Jones
EFFECTIVE:  8-26-85  HOUSE SPONSOR:  Gibson

Senate Bill 782 is a comprehensive revision of The Texas Banking Code of 1943. Under the provisions of this act, the State Banking Board is permitted to approve a charter for a bank assuming the business of a failed or failing bank without complying with the open meetings act and the Administrative Procedure and Texas Register Act. State banks are now required to publish financial statements quarterly, rather than twice a year, but they are no longer required to file these documents with the commissioner. The banking commissioner is authorized to defer the annual examination of a bank for up to six months.

This act also amends previous law relating to bank mergers. The commissioner must determine that a merger does not violate state antitrust laws but is no longer required to find that it is in the best interest of the depositors, creditors, and stockholders of the bank, or in the public interest, before approving the merger.

Senate Bill 782 contains provisions relating to the election and powers of bank directors. Persons who may be indemnified or reimbursed by a state bank for expenses incurred in a legal action now include persons who were acting for another company at the bank’s request.

State banks are permitted to issue preferred stock and invest in preferred stocks approved by the commission. The act also deletes statutory restrictions on real estate loans and clarifies the meaning of loans and extensions of credit related to a bank’s legal lending limit. In addition, a bank when investing in another bank is limited to investing its capital and certified surplus in banks or bank holding companies wholly owned by a depository institution.

Bank subsidiaries are granted authority to perform the same functions as bank holding companies. This act further provides for the priority of claims on liquidation of a state bank and grants the commissioner jurisdiction over bank holding companies if the bank with the largest amount of total assets owned by the holding company is a state bank or if the majority of the combined assets of state and national banks owned by the holding company are held by state banks.

Senate Bill 905 makes several revisions in the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission Code. It removes language prohibiting two dealer members of the commission from representing or selling vehicles of the same manufacturer. A second provision restricts a dealer member from participation in contested cases before the commission concerning the sale or proposed sale of vehicles manufactured or distributed by the same person for whom the member is franchised.

The act further binds a manufacturer to the obligations of a franchise agreement between its distributor or representative and a dealer and to the provisions of the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission Code. A manufacturer that unlawfully terminates distribution of vehicles to a dealer will no longer be able to conduct business in the state.

Senate Bill 905 provides that separate locations for the display and sale of motor vehicles must be authorized by the dealer's license and franchise. It also requires that dealers participating in motor vehicle shows and exhibitions must obtain approval from the commission to do so, after first submitting a request 30 days in advance of the event. Other provisions broaden the commission’s authority to regulate false advertising, allow the commission to levy civil penalties of not less than $50 nor more than $2,000 per day, and issue cease and desist orders in certain cases.

Senate Bill 1172 amends the Business Opportunity Act by granting the secretary of state authority to administer and enforce the act. It also provides that a disclosure statement filed in accordance with Federal Trade Commission regulations will satisfy the filing requirements of this act if a notice to that effect is filed with the secretary of state. A seller who fails to furnish an annual updated statement may have its registration terminated. The secretary of state is directed to give a registrant 30 days' notice of the delinquency before terminating the registration. The act also specifies the conditions for voluntary termination of a business opportunity registration.

Under the provisions of this act, if a seller is required to deliver to the purchaser the product, equipment, or supplies necessary to begin substantial operation of the business by a certain date, the contract for such products must contain a statement that if the items are not delivered within 45 days of the specified date, the purchaser may cancel the contract.

Senate Bill 1172 further permits a seller to obtain an irrevocable letter of credit as a further means of security to cover damages from a breach of contract or violation of the Business Opportunity Act.

SENATE BILL 1267

SENATE AUTHOR: Brooks
HOLD SPONSOR: Messer

Manufactured housing is a term used to describe prefabricated duplex and single-family dwellings built after 1976. All such homes built before 1976 are considered mobile homes. Senate Bill 1267 amends the laws regulating manufactured housing and the transportation of manufactured housing.

Under the provisions of this act, a permit from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation is required for moving manufactured or industrialized housing that exceeds size limits for motor vehicles. Permits will be issued only to manufacturers or retailers who are registered with the Texas Department of Labor and Standards or who are certified for the transportation of manufactured housing by the Railroad Commission of Texas or the Interstate Commerce Commission. A single trip permit may be issued to a homeowner under certain conditions. The act also establishes required safety precautions that must be used when transporting manufactured housing. Movement is limited to daylight hours and is prohibited on national holidays. A violation of the transportation restrictions is a Class C misdemeanor. Certain violations, such as failure to obtain a permit, may result in an additional civil penalty of not less than $200 nor more than $500.

This act also makes numerous changes in the Texas Manufactured Housing Standards Act, including an increase in the security deposits required by the department of labor and standards for manufacturers, retailers, brokers, and installers of manufactured housing. It permits the assignment of a claim against a security deposit under certain conditions. A registrant of the department may not be considered a consumer for the purposes of this act. In addition, a guarantee of habitability required for any used mobile home built after December 12, 1969, that is offered for sale, exchange, or lease-purchase is limited to consumer sale, and a formaldehyde health notice equivalent to that required by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development must now be given only prior to the transfer of title of any manufactured home to a consumer.

The act enumerates the conditions under which the commissioner of the department of labor and standards is authorized to refuse to issue or permanently revoke a certificate of registration for a specified geographic area or sales location.

The bill requires an annual registration for all salespersons of manufactured housing and mandates a course of at least 40 hours' instruction in the law and consumer protection regulations for each person applying for registration as a retailer. The department is permitted to require instruction for other categories of registrants as well. Persons registered in any category on September 1, 1985, are exempt from this provision.

This act makes further changes relating to the appropriation of fees and expands the penalties available for violations of the act.

This act further provides that an incorporated city may prohibit the installation of a mobile home for use as a residential dwelling within its city limits, although this will not apply to previously permitted homes. The County Road and Bridge Act is amended with regard to manufactured home rental communities. Senate Bill 1267 also amends the Air Conditioning Contractor License Law and the Tax Code.

EFFECTIVE: see below
HOUSE AUTHOR: C. Evans
SENATE SPONSOR: McFarland

Previous law established regulations for the construction, inspection, and installation of manufactured housing, which pertain only to duplex and single-family dwellings. House Bill 1218 establishes such standards for industrialized housing and buildings, meaning a structure built using one or more modular components. The building codes and inspection procedures are similar to those for manufactured housing.

This act creates the Texas Industrialized Building Code Council which will assure that the designs, plans, and specifications of industrialized housing and buildings meet mandatory state codes. The council is subject to the Texas Sunset Act. The department of labor and standards is authorized to regulate and enforce this act and to establish registration and inspection fees. Penalties are established for violations of the act.

The current standards and requirements for the construction of modular homes and modular components remain in effect until January 1, 1986. All other provisions of this act are effective September 1, 1985.

HOUSE BILL 1953
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Shaw
SENATE SPONSOR: Sims

This act affects dealers and manufacturers of: (1) motor vehicles; (2) motorcycles; (3) house trailers; and (4) trailers or semitrailers. Dealers of such vehicles, under current law, may obtain a general distinguishing number and dealer plates for vehicles rather than titling and registering each vehicle individually. The new act places restrictions on this practice, requiring a separate distinguishing number for each of the four types of vehicles listed above that the dealer sells and requiring separate numbers as well for dealer locations in different cities. Use of dealer plates is limited to vehicles that are available for sale and of a type for which a distinguishing number is held. A new requirement for distinguishing number applicants is that they must intend to remain in business at least one year at the specified dealer locations. An existing requirement that certain applicants purchase a surety bond of $25,000 is amended to allow other security instruments such as a cash pledge, cash deposit, or certificate of deposit. As before, however, this security requirement is waived for dealers licensed by the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission. The act eliminates the requirement that a vehicle manufacturer obtain a general distinguishing number, thereby eliminating associated fees, but increases the fee for each manufacturer’s plate from $10 to $20. Dealer fees per distinguishing number and dealer’s plate remain the same.

The act directs the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation to cancel a distinguishing number if a dealer fails to maintain requisite qualifications, fails to assign at least five vehicles a year after having been in business a full year, files a false or forged title or tax document, fails to properly assign a certificate of title or other evidence of ownership, uses a dealer’s plate or tag on a vehicle that is not offered for sale, makes material misrepresentations before the department, or fails to comply with applicable laws or regulations. It directs the department to deny dealer applications for a distinguishing number if it finds that the applicant has made false statements on the application or is guilty of misconduct that would result in distinguishing number cancellation. The act authorizes the department, as well as any other person, to bring suit to enforce applicable statutes and to prohibit dealer operations in violation of those statutes.

House Bill 1955 is a comprehensive revision of the fireworks statute. It increases the State Board of Insurance’s regulatory control over fireworks, granting the board clear rulemaking authority. The board is directed to adopt rules for applications and set qualifications for licenses and permits to manufacture, convey, or demonstrate fireworks. The act permits the retail sale of fireworks classified by the Consumer Product Safety Commission as Class C, except the sale of certain skyrockets is prohibited. The authority of cities, towns, or villages to enact ordinances prohibiting or further regulating fireworks is not limited or restricted by this act.

House Bill 1955 also requires licenses for manufacturing, distributing, and selling fireworks, and for supervising or conducting a fireworks display. A permit is required for selling fireworks to the general public and for conducting a fireworks display. The minimum age for a pyrotechnic operator’s license is 21. The minimum age for all other licenses is 18. Persons licensed by another state may be exempted from the examination requirement for a Texas license if the licensing requirements in the other state are substantially equivalent to those in Texas. The act establishes fees for licenses and permits. An applicant for a public display license or permit must submit to the state fire marshal proof of public liability insurance of not less than $300,000 or a surety bond of not less than $100,000.

Under the provisions of this act, fireworks may not be sold to children under the age of 12, or to an intoxicated or incompetent person. In addition, mail order sales of Class C fireworks are prohibited.

The fees collected under this act shall be deposited in the state treasury to the credit of the insurance board operating fund and may not be used for a purpose other than activities of the State Board of Insurance. Penalties are established for violations of this act.

Under previous law, the State Board of Dental Examiners could not regulate dental advertising except to prohibit false, misleading, or deceptive practices. House Bill 488, in response to a recent United States Supreme Court decision supporting further regulation of dental advertising, details a variety of communications that the board by rule may prohibit. These include ads that are misleading, contain a statement of opinion as to the quality of the services offered, appeal to an individual’s anxiety, create unjustified expectations, fail to reflect risk and safety considerations, make unverifiable statistical assertions, refer to a fee without disclosing the possibility of additional charges, offer misleading discounts, or fail to make other disclosures. First-time offenders are to be given written notice of violation 30 days prior to the commencement of prosecution.

House Bill 488 also lists exceptions to the requirement of a license for the practice of dentistry. Dental students practicing without pay as part of their education, dental assistants performing specified duties under the supervision of licensed dentists, and dentists licensed by another state or country performing in educational settings are exempt from charges of practicing dentistry without a license.

House Bill 2012 requires the registration of massage therapy practitioners and creates the Advisory Council on Massage Therapy to assist the department of health in administering this act. It establishes requirements for registration and prohibits the use of the word “massage” in any form of advertising by anyone other than a registered massage therapist. Minimum requirements for registration include either the completion of a 250-hour supervised course of instruction by an approved massage therapy instructor or not less than five years' experience as a professional massage therapist. An individual who has been convicted of crimes or offenses involving prostitution or sexual offenses is ineligible for registration as a massage therapist. The act provides membership requirements and duties for the council and provides penalties for violations of the act. Fees collected under the provisions of this act will be used for the administration of this act. An individual is not required to be registered under this act until January 1, 1986.
CIVIL REMEDIES AND PROCEDURES

Few measures relating to civil remedies and procedures were enacted in the 1985 session. The relative absence of activity, however, was compensated for by passage of the Civil Practice and Remedies Code, which reorganizes existing state laws in the subject area.

SENATE BILL 344
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Glasgow
HOUSE SPONSOR: Willis

Under existing law, in a civil action other than an action on sworn account, an affidavit may be used to establish sufficient evidence for findings by a judge or jury that services were necessary and amounts charged for the services were reasonable. This conserves judicial resources by placing reliance on any uncontroverted affidavit, thereby eliminating the need to gather testimony regarding matter contained in the affidavit. Senate Bill 344 amends the law to provide that the affidavit must be filed and served on each other party to the cause at least 30 days prior to the day on which presentation of evidence at trial is to begin. Any party intending to controvert a claim covered by the affidavit must file and serve a counter-affidavit within a specified period of time. In addition, Senate Bill 344 requires the counter-affidavit to be made by a person specifically qualified to testify in contravention of matters contained in the initial affidavit.

SENATE BILL 532

Senate Bill 532 amends the statutes to allow nonprofit corporations to provide in the bylaws for mandatory arbitration.

Senate Bill 1455 amends that law to provide that a copy of the petition and notice of intent to take a default judgment must be mailed to the attorney general in actions against certain current or former

HOUSE BILL 685
HOUSE AUTHOR: Craddick

security incident to suit. This act amends the law to include the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, in both its capacity as receiver and its corporate capacity, among those governmental agencies that are exempt.
CORRECTIONS

Corrections legislation in the 69th Legislature was foreshadowed by a federal court order requiring improvements at state corrections institutions and by inmate violence that had reached record levels in 1984. Correspondingly, House Bill 20 summarized in the appropriations chapter provides for $178.5 million in prison construction and for substantial increases in corrections security personnel. Among those summarized in this chapter, several measures deal with the expansion of offense classifications and of penalties relating to crimes committed by prison inmates (Senate Bill 185, Senate Bill 186, and Senate Bill 477). Other major corrections legislation established a new prison industries program (House Bill 1573) and proposed a constitutional amendment to allow Texas to join in the Interstate Corrections Compact and share incarceration facilities with other states (Senate Joint Resolution 6 and Senate Bill 126).

Texas Department of Corrections

SENATE BILL 548

SENATE AUTHOREffective:  8-26-85
HOUSE SPONSOR: Caperton

In 1983, the 68th Texas Legislature appropriated funds to the Texas Department of Corrections for the construction of various psychiatric and mental care centers. In response to an earlier court decision calling for the enhancement and expansion of the Texas Department of Corrections' mental health services, the Texas Department of Corrections' medical director, Armand Start, has called for all acute and intermediate services to be performed at one unit for cost efficiency. The Ellis II unit, being the newest and easiest to expand, was chosen as the best possible location for this purpose. This site, however, was not a recipient of the 1983 appropriations; Senate Bill 548 repeals the restrictions on the remaining funds from the appropriations to allow them to be used for the construction and completion of health services facilities at Ellis II as well.

Under prior law, to be eligible for appointment as a public defender, a person has been required to: (1) be a member of the State Bar of Texas; (2) be experienced in the practice of criminal law; and (3) have practiced law at least three years. Senate Bill 405 reduces to one year the period for which a person must have practiced law to be eligible for appointment as a public defender.
CRIMINAL JUSTICE AND PROCEDURE

Criminal justice laws enacted in 1985 establish as criminal offenses three types of activities involving misuse of modern communications technology. House Bill 485 sets penalties for unauthorized interception of subscription or cable television services, exclusive of certain uses of satellite receiving antennae. Senate Bill 72 targets "hackers" who improperly breach security systems and gain access to confidential computer data. Finally, House Bill 220 establishes penalties for various misuses of debit cards at unmanned teller machines or other customer convenience terminals.

Drug laws include an eight-year extension, to 1993, of the wiretap act that was passed in 1981 to combat illegal trafficking in narcotics. The renewal measure, House Bill 10, includes certain restrictive amendments pertaining to wiretap installation. The 69th Legislature also passed several laws—Senate Bill 320, Senate Bill 346, and House Bill 1929—to address problems involving glue and paint sniffing.

Criminal investigations are strengthened, in the case of missing persons, by House Bill 248, which creates a clearinghouse in the Department of Public Safety for information on child or adult disappearances.

Parole laws are modified by an enactment, Senate Bill 37, allowing jury instruction as to sentence reductions that might result from paroles or accumulation of good conduct time credit. Probation laws are modified by House Bill 1569, making probation sometimes conditional on participation in a work program, and by House Bill 2053, making it sometimes conditional on required psychological counseling. Under another law, House Bill 1378, defendants free on parole, probation, supervision, or bail may be restrained by court orders prohibiting contact with children they are alleged to have abused.

Offenses and Penalties

SENATE BILL 30  SENATE AUTHOR:  Parmer
EFFECTIVE:  9-1-85  HOUSE SPONSOR:  Williamson

This act amends provisions of the Penal Code relating to the offense of theft when a person appropriates property believing it to be stolen. Under the former provisions, it has been necessary to establish two elements in order to prove the offense. These elements have been: (1) the property is stolen; and (2) the actor appropriates the property knowing it was stolen by another. Senate Bill 30 eliminates the requirement that the property actually be stolen and further provides that it is sufficient for a successful prosecution that the actor appropriated property believing, rather than knowing, it was stolen by another.

Senate Bill 30 additionally declares that it is not a defense to prosecution that the offense occurred as a result of law enforcement deception, that the actor was provided by a law enforcement agency with a facility in which to commit the offense, or that the offense involved police solicitation. The act states that stolen property does not lose its character as stolen when recovered by any law enforcement agency.

56
SENATE BILL 72
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

This measure seeks to bridge a gap between law and technology by establishing provisions for the prosecution of persons suspected of breaching computers' security systems. The measure creates offenses for breach of computer security and for harmful access, states definitions, and provides affirmative defenses. The measure also permits the attorney general to assist the prosecuting attorney in the investigation or prosecution of any offense involving the use of a computer.

SENATE BILL 185
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

Senate Bill 185 creates a new offense by classifying the possession of a deadly weapon in a penal institution as a third-degree felony. The bill further states that being under the supervision of an employee of the penal institution at the time of the offense is an affirmative defense to prosecution.

SENATE BILL 477
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

The Penal Code states that a person commits a third-degree felony if the person commits assault and uses a deadly weapon, causes serious bodily injury to another person, or causes bodily injury to certain persons. Included among those persons are peace officers, jailers, and guards. The Penal Code is amended to further declare that a person commits a second-degree felony if the person commits assault and uses a deadly weapon to threaten or cause bodily injury to a peace officer, jailer, or guard.

SENATE BILL 574
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

Senate Bill 574 amends law relating to the punishment of first-degree felony offenders who are repeat felony offenders. Under prior law, the assessable punishment was limited to confinement in the Texas Department of Corrections for life or for any term of not more than 99 years or less than 15 years. Senate Bill 574 expands the assessable punishment to include a fine not to exceed $10,000.

SENATE BILL 596
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

Various offenses pertaining to violations of vital statistics information are established under provisions of the vital statistics act. Senate Bill 596 repeals a section of the vital statistics act stating that the act's provisions do not apply if an offense under the vital statistics act also constitutes an offense under the Penal Code.

SENATE BILL 652
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

Senate Bill 652 amends the Penal Code to authorize a peace officer or magistrate to release a person arrested for public intoxication if another adult will assume responsibility or if the person agrees to participate in an alcohol or drug treatment program approved by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism. However, release under this act may not be considered in a subsequent incident involving public intoxication, and the peace officer and the agency employing the peace officer are immune from liability for damages resulting from actions of an individual released under these provisions.

This act also states that the offense of public intoxication is not a lesser included offense under the offense of driving while intoxicated. Therefore, a DWI arrest may not be reduced to charges of public intoxication.

HOUSE BILL 8
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

This act broadens the definition of capital murder to include the murder of more than one person during the same criminal transaction or during different criminal transactions but pursuant to the same scheme or course of conduct. The act also requires three specific issues to be considered by the jury at the sentencing hearing but only with regard to the conduct of the defendant in murdering the deceased individual first named in the indictment.
HOUSE BILL 51

HOUSE AUTHOR: T. Smith
SENATE SPONSOR: Sarpaluis

During the 1983 legislative session, a wide-ranging measure was enacted that stiffened the penalties for drunken driving and that simultaneously made it easier to prosecute such cases. The measure changed the procedure, sentencing structure, and punishment alternatives that applied to the criminal offenses of driving while intoxicated (DWI), driving under the influence of drugs (DUID), and involuntary manslaughter involving the operation of a motor vehicle while intoxicated (DWI involuntary manslaughter). Since its enactment in 1983, the measure has been under scrutiny by courts throughout Texas; two county courts at law in Travis County have held the measure’s definition of “intoxicated” to be unconstitutionally vague. House Bill 51 revises the definition of “intoxicated” by deleting the word “percent” and thereby creating consistency with the definition of “intoxicated” under the Uniform Code of Traffic Laws and Ordinances.

FOR ELECTION: 11-5-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Brown
HOUSE SPONSOR: T. Smith

Article V, Section 12, of the Texas Constitution has been strictly construed to require certain language to be included in all writs, processes, and charging documents. If this language is not included, a subsequent conviction is subject to reversal on appeal. Senate Joint Resolution 16 seeks to avoid conviction reversals on technicalities by proposing a constitutional amendment that omits this language requirement from the provisions of Article V, Section 12.

The resolution also proposes the addition of new provisions to Article V, Section 12, of the Texas Constitution. Senate Bill 148 requires the defendant to elect this alternative before the commencement of the voir dire examination of the jury panel.

SENATE BILL 427
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Caperton
HOUSE SPONSOR: Cain

This legislation permits the use of a photograph of stolen property in lieu of the property itself as evidence in a criminal case. The legislation seeks to avoid inconvenience and economic loss to merchants who are victimized by theft and subsequently denied use of their recovered property while it is being stored and shown to the magistrate. The legislation also seeks to avoid economic loss to the general public, as the property is stored at public expense.

Property is defined as tangible personal property offered for sale or lease by a person engaged in the business of selling goods or services to buyers. A photograph of property which a person is alleged to have unlawfully appropriated is admissible into evidence as the property itself. A requirement of bringing stolen property before a magistrate for examination is complied with if a photograph of the stolen property is brought before the magistrate. Also, the defendant's rights of discovery and inspection are satisfied if a photograph is made available to the defendant on court order.

These provisions of Senate Bill 845 take effect on January 1, 1986.

An additional provision of Senate Bill 845 took effect on June 10, 1985. This provision requires the Office of Court Administration of the Texas Judicial System to promulgate a standardized felony judgment form and to mail a copy of this form to all district courts hearing criminal cases.

SENATE BILL 1292

SENATE AUTHOR: Caperton
HOUSE SPONSOR: Danburg

Ordinarily, the judgment of a court of appeals in appeals under habeas corpus will be final and conclusive if discretionary review is not granted by the court of criminal appeals, but not until after a period of 45 days. This act seeks to assure compliance with the constitutional right to a preferential and speedy appellate review of habeas corpus cases involving an extradition or a setting of bail. The act states that if the court of appeals in a habeas corpus proceeding has either affirmed the judgment of a trial court by approving extradition or reversed the trial court by granting or reducing bail, no motion for rehearing will be permitted and the judgment will become final on the 10th day after it is entered.

The losing party on appeal is entitled to file a petition for discretionary review but must do so before the 10th day after judgment is entered. If there is a finding of a substantial question, the court of criminal appeals may enter an order that defers the finality of the court of appeals' judgment for a period not exceeding 45 days. If the court of criminal appeals does not grant discretionary review within 45 days, the judgment becomes final. Also, if the court of criminal appeals refuses a petition for discretionary review, the judgment becomes final the day after the refusal.

SENATE SPONSOR: Lyon

In the past, the rules of evidence and the rules of appellate and posttrial procedure in criminal cases were enacted and repealed by both the legislature and the courts and interpreted by the court of appeals and the court of criminal appeals.

HOUSE BILL 44
HOUSE AUTHOR: T. Smith
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Lyon

Under previous law, when a conviction was reversed by a court of appeals and the state filed a petition for discretionary review or a motion for an extension of time in which to file a petition for discretionary review, the court of criminal appeals has been required to set a reasonable bail for the defendant pending the outcome of the state's petition. There has been no provision for release on bail during the period of time between the court of appeals' reversal and the state's filing a petition or a motion in the court of criminal appeals.

This act amends the law to provide that if a conviction is reversed by a decision of a court of appeals, the defendant has a right to immediate release on bail pending final determination of an appeal by the state or the defendant on a motion for discretionary review. If the defendant requests bail before a petition for discretionary review has been filed, the court of appeals must determine the amount of bail. If the defendant requests bail after a petition for discretionary review has been filed, the court of criminal appeals must determine the amount of bail.

HOUSE AUTHOR: Granoff
EFFECTIVE: 1-1-86

It does not limit the court's authority to impose any other conditions on a defendant's probation in conjunction with the work program.

House Bill 1569 also allows probation departments the ability to enter into contracts with state agencies or political subdivisions for the purpose of instituting the work program. All proceeds received under this program will be used to offset the expenses incurred; any excess will be deposited in the general revenue fund. State agencies and political subdivisions entering into contracts for the purpose of this program may require liability and workers' compensation coverage to the maximum of their liability limits as a condition for entry into the contract.

Therefore, Senate Bill 415 replaces its reference to “volatile chemicals” subject to special federal labeling requirements with a reference to “substances” subject to such requirements.

Senate Bill 415 also declares that it is an affirmative defense to prosecution for this offense that the defendant was presented with an apparently valid Texas driver’s license, or an identification card issued by the Department of Public Safety, that identified the person as being 17 years of age or older.

EFFECTIVE: 5-22-85

In 1983, the 68th Legislature enacted a law that required the Department of Public Safety and other state law enforcement agencies to communicate with and rely upon information provided from the Federal Bureau of Investigation regarding missing children. This law is repealed and a missing children and missing persons clearinghouse is now established within the Department of Public Safety.

Among other things, House Bill 248 describes the functions of the clearinghouse, requires the Department of Public Safety to distribute missing children and missing persons report forms, authorizes the release of dental records, and provides pertinent definitions. The clearinghouse is required to print and distribute posters, flyers, and other forms of information containing descriptions of missing children. The clearinghouse is additionally required to exchange information with the Central Education Agency about missing children who may be located in the school systems. The Central Education Agency must develop and administer a program for the location of missing children who may be enrolled in the Texas school system.

Texas law enforcement agencies, on receiving a report of a missing child or missing person, must immediately enter the name of the child or person into the clearinghouse with all available identifying features such as dental records, fingerprints, and other physical characteristics. Texas law enforcement agencies must also enter information about all unidentified bodies into the clearinghouse. On the written request of certain persons, including a child’s guardian, a law enforcement agency must seek information from the clearinghouse and report on the results of its inquiry within a period of 14 days. The attorney general is given the responsibility of ensuring that Texas law enforcement agencies fulfill these duties.

Finally, it is declared that, on the request of any law enforcement agency, a city or state agency must furnish the law enforcement agency with any information about a missing child or missing person that will assist in completing the investigation.

The Texas Department of Human Services is the state agency that regulates child-care facilities and under current law may investigate the criminal backgrounds of persons applying for or holding a license. Senate Bill 48 enables the department to obtain criminal history information to assist child-care facilities in screening employees and job applicants and to aid its own investigations of persons providing child-care and protective services.

The act authorizes the department to obtain criminal information from certain law enforcement agencies for the purposes of investigating the following: owners and employees of licensed, registered, or certified child-care facilities, as well as applicants for employment; residents of a registered family home, except for children in care and their parents; persons providing or applying to provide adoptive or foster care for children in the department’s custody; employees of the department engaged in the direct delivery of child protective services on the date the department implements the act; and persons applying for employment with the department whose position would involve direct delivery of child protective services.

The information obtained is privileged information but may be released to the person being investigated and a child-care facility that employs or is considering employing a person covered by provisions of the act. The department is directed to establish rules to prevent use of its authority or obtained information for harassment and to establish a uniform method for requesting and using the information. The act creates an offense for the unauthorized disclosure of information obtained under the authority of the act.

The Bingo Enabling Act is amended to entitle the comptroller of public accounts to obtain certain criminal history information maintained by the Department of Public Safety, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, or another law enforcement agency. The comptroller may obtain this information to investigate various persons, including applicants or holders of licenses and persons who work at bingo games. The comptroller must establish a uniform method of obtaining the information and this method must require the comptroller to submit to the law enforcement agency either a complete set of fingerprints or the complete name of each person being investigated.

A law enforcement agency may not provide to the comptroller the criminal history records of a person being investigated unless the record information relates to a felony, a gambling or gambling-related offense, criminal fraud, or a crime of moral turpitude. Information received by the comptroller is privileged and may not be released except on court order or with the written consent of the person being investigated. A misdemeanor offense is created for the release or disclosure of information but the comptroller is not barred from informing an applicant of the reason for the denial of his application.

This authority may not be used to harass employees, and unauthorized disclosure of this criminal history information is punishable as a Class A misdemeanor.
EDUCATION—HIGHER

Higher education legislation in 1985 was highlighted by tuition increases in House Bill 1147 that triple rates per semester hour for most undergraduates for autumn 1985, with additional increases to come in future years. Professional programs, including law and medicine and related fields, experience differential rate increases. Another piece of major legislation, Senate Bill 578, provides for the formula allocation of funds dedicated to institutions of higher education outside the state's permanent university fund system. This legislation results from a constitutional amendment approved by Texas voters in 1984.

There were several initiatives relating to promotion of technological research and development. Two in particular, Senate Bill 1169 and House Bill 1911, deal with Texas' bid for a superconducting super collider research facility planned by the federal government. Two others, Senate Bill 840 and Senate Bill 1296, authorize new state research institutions.

The act removes the maximum limit for fees charged students registered for courses in which individual coaching is the usual method of instruction and provides that tuition for foreign students is the same as the tuition for other nonresident students.

House Bill 1147 also does the following:

1. directs the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, to calculate the average cost of education of a student at general academic teaching institutions and to calculate tuition based on the cost of education (nonresident tuition, see above); the cost of education is the average amount appropriated for the biennium from the general revenue fund and the estimated education and general income for the biennium, as stated in the appropriations act, for each semester credit hour, excluding appropriations for special items and construction;

2. requires oath of residency of students paying resident tuition rates;

3. removes a provision allowing nonresidents who marry Texas residents to pay resident tuition;

4. removes a provision allowing members of the Texas State Guard and their families to pay resident tuition, regardless of their actual period of residency;

5. removes provisions allowing nonresident staff members and student employees who are not teaching or research assistants to pay resident tuition;

6. limits the provision that allows scholarship recipients to pay resident tuition to only recipients of academic scholarships;

7. directs the boards of institutions of higher education other than junior colleges to provide for the payment of tuition and fees by installment and allows for fees for handling installment payments;

8. changes administrative authority concerning a program relating to students from other nations from the State Board of Education to the coordinating board;

9. directs institutions to set aside a percentage of student tuition for the Texas Public Educational Grants and emergency student loans programs and includes specific provisions for the 1985-1987 school years; excess funds are to be transferred to the coordinating board for the use of students at other institutions of higher education;

10. directs each institution of higher education, other than junior colleges, to establish an emergency loan program under which students are to be loaned money for tuition and fees; the act sets the length of loans, sets the maximum interest rate at five percent, and provides that the maximum amount available to students cannot be less than their tuition and required fees;
(11) provides for deferred repayment of loans and for forgiving loans in cases of extreme financial hardship and other instances in which the public interest is served if a loan is forgiven;

(12) directs the governing boards of each medical unit of institutions of higher education to set aside two percent of resident tuition for repayment or cancellation of student loans of physicians serving in designated state agencies or economically depressed areas (see Senate Bill 1341, education chapter);

(13) directs the comptroller to provide a means by which people who collect sales, excise, and use taxes may contribute any part of the reimbursements that they are allowed for collecting the taxes for student financial assistance grants and appropriates those funds to the coordinating board; and

(14) directs the coordinating board to study the operation of the Texas Public Educational Grant Program in conjunction with other student financial aid programs to ensure that the programs meet the needs of students.

Allocations to Non-PUF Universities

SENATE BILL 578

SENATE AUTHOR: Parker
HOUSE SPONSOR: Delco

In 1984, voters approved an amendment to the Texas Constitution to dedicate $100 million a year for the purposes of acquiring land, constructing and equipping buildings or other permanent improvements, making major repairs or rehabilitations of buildings or other permanent improvements, and acquiring capital equipment, library books, and library materials for public institutions of higher education that do not receive funds from the permanent university fund. Senate Bill 578 allocates these funds to the appropriate institutions in accordance with an equitable formula consisting of the following elements: space deficit, facilities condition, institutional complexity, separate allocation for medical units, and additional allocation for compliance with the Texas Desegregation Plan. The act authorizes the institutions to expend the funds without limitation except that new construction, repair, and rehabilitation projects in excess of $300,000 and land acquisitions must be approved either by the legislature or by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. The act also provides for adjustments in the allocation formula and includes a section clarifying the effective dates of tuition raises at institutions of higher education.

SENATE AUTHOR: Montford
HOUSE SPONSOR: Armbrister

Senate Bill 216 authorizes governing boards of institutions of higher education to fix the rate of incidental student fees and to make rules for the collection of the fees and the distribution of the funds. The fees must reasonably reflect the actual cost to the university of the materials or services for which the fee is collected. SENATE BILL 325
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

The engineering excellence fund was created in 1983 to help colleges and universities buy engineering laboratory equipment by providing state matching money for grants received by the institutions. The formula for distributing the matching money, however, left the possibility that large schools could raise more money through their own solicitation efforts and gave the schools little incentive to participate in the program.

Senate Bill 325 changes the distribution formula and clarifies and expands the responsibilities of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, in administering the program.

SENATE BILL 1293
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

Senate Bill 1293 establishes The University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston Special School to provide for the education of school-age persons who are inpatients and outpatients at the medical branch. The school is part of and under the direction of the Moody State School for Cerebral Palsied Children.

Senate Bill 738 requires institutions of higher education to allow a student who is absent from classes for the observance of a religious holy day to take an examination or complete an assignment scheduled for that day within a reasonable time if the student gives proper notice to the instructor within 15 days after the beginning of the semester. SENATE BILL 1341

SENATE AUTHOR: Farabee

Senate Bill 1341 limits the loan cancellation program to persons earning a doctorate in psychology degree.

The act creates a new program to provide assistance for the repayment of any student loan for medical education in an institution of higher education and makes changes in the service requirements. To be eligible for assistance under the new program, a physician must have completed at least one year of medical practice in private practice in an economically depressed or rural medically underserved area of the state or for the Texas Department of Health, the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, the Texas Department of Corrections, or the Texas Youth Commission. Regarding independent school districts and city junior colleges, the act requires that elections to create new junior college districts include proposals concerning issuing bonds and levying bond taxes and levying maintenance taxes. The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, is required to develop criteria for determining the need for a certain type of public junior college and to determine whether programs in proposed institutions would create unnecessary duplication or harm programs in existing junior college districts.

EDUCATION—PUBLIC

In 1984, in a called session devoted mainly to issues of educational reform, the 68th Legislature enacted comprehensive legislation restructuring the State Board of Education, instituting the pass-play rule for participation in extracurricular activities, establishing testing and career ladder programs for teachers, and making other changes in public education policy. The 69th Legislature, in contrast, was relatively subdued. One measure of interest to teachers, however, is House Bill 505 guaranteeing them a duty-free daily lunch period of at least 30 minutes. Other noteworthy enactments include House Bill 1304, which seeks to improve classroom computer use and literacy, and House Bill 1393, which calls for a study of school-district programs for gifted and talented students.

The State Board of Education is directed to conduct a study of the implementation of gifted and talented programs and report to the 70th Legislature; the purpose of the study is to encourage districts to identify and implement programs for gifted and talented students. The board is also directed to include gifted and talented programs in the annual study of accountable costs to school districts.

The State Board of Education is directed to prescribe guidelines for those allowable exceptions to the duty-free period.

State law allows certain school districts with 3,500 or more students in average daily attendance to adopt a redistricting plan under which all trustees are elected from single-member trustee districts or under which not fewer than 70 percent of the members of the board of trustees are elected from single-member trustee districts with the remaining trustees elected from the district at large. Senate Bill 821 authorizes boards that adopt a redistricting plan under which five members of the board are to be elected from single-member trustee districts and two members to be elected at large to provide for trustees in office at the time of transition to single-member trustee districts to serve at large for the remainder of their terms and for the new positions to be filled as the staggered terms of the incumbent trustees expire.

ELECTIONS

Elections legislation in the 69th Legislature was highlighted by the failure of passage of numerous bills that sought to amend the state's presidential primary laws. On the other hand, a code providing for a substantive revision of election law cleared the legislature.

Election Code

SENATE BILL 616
EFFECTIVE: 1-1-86
SENATE AUTHOR: Edwards

TITLE 3. ELECTION OFFICERS AND OBSERVERS
TITLE 4. TIME AND PLACE OF ELECTIONS
TITLE 5. ELECTION SUPPLIES
TITLE 6. CONDUCT OF ELECTIONS
TITLE 7. ABSENTEE VOTING
SUBTITLE A. ABSENTEE VOTING
SUBTITLE B. SPECIAL FORMS OF ABSENTEE VOTING
SUBTITLE C. RESTRICTED BALLOT
TITLE 8. VOTING SYSTEMS
TITLE 9. CANDIDATES
TITLE 10. POLITICAL PARTIES
SUBTITLE A. INTRODUCTORY
SUBTITLE B. PARTIES NOMINATION

SUBTITLE A. INTRODUCTORY PROVISIONS
SUBTITLE B. CONTROVERSIES IN DISTRICT COURT
SUBTITLE C. CONTROVERSIES IN OTHER TRIBUNALS
TITLE 15. (Reserved)
TITLE 16. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

All of the old Texas Election Code except Chapter 14, regulating political funds and disclosure, is repealed by this act. A separate bill which would have recodified Chapter 14 as Title 15 of the new code did not pass.

The act provides that if a provision of the code conflicts with another act of the 69th Legislature, the other act prevails. If the other act makes the same substantive change but the text differs, the text in the new code prevails.

Objection to any provision of the new code by the U.S. Justice Department under the Voting Rights Act does not affect the validity of the rest of the act. The secretary of state is directed to identify the corresponding provision of prior law in the Texas Election Code, and that old provision shall continue in effect in place of the new provision.

The new Election Code, in addition to reorganizing election law, makes a number of substantive changes to eliminate inconsistencies, clarify ambiguous provisions, delete or replace obsolete or unworkable laws, standardize or improve procedures, or adopt new practices. Among the major substantive changes are the following:

(1) The current five-year waiting period for felons to become registered voters is replaced with a two-year waiting period from the date of discharge or completion of probation.
(2) A regulatory system for volunteer deputy registrars is provided that clarifies the roles of the voter registrar and the deputies in the registration system.

(3) The county executive committee of a political party is required to provide training programs for its election officers, and election judges in elections ordered by the governor or a county authority are required to complete a training program provided by the county clerk.

(4) Voting booths are required to be used at all polling places, rather than at each polling place in a city with a population of 10,000 or more.

(5) The requirements of the federal Overseas Citizens Voting Rights Act of 1975, currently being implemented by directive of the secretary of state, are implemented in the new Election Code.

(6) The primary ballot pledge of support for the party's nominees is replaced with a statement that the voter is a member of a particular party and understands that he is ineligible to vote or participate in another political party's primary election or convention during the current voting year.

(7) The biennial state party convention currently held in September is moved to June.

(8) A standard procedure for obtaining and conducting a recount in any election, regardless of method of voting, is provided.

The act also provides that, after the canvass of ballots voted by mail, the papers accompanying these ballots shall be returned to the county clerk in a container separate from the voted ballots. Rejected ballots must also be returned separate from the box containing the voted ballots.

HOUSE BILL 2346
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

House Bill 2346 changes the period allowed for inspecting and sealing voting machines prior to an election. Previously, election officers were required to begin the procedure within five days of the date of the election; the change requires them to begin not earlier than the 30th or later than the fifth day before the election.

The act also requires that notice of the time and place of inspection and sealing of the machines be posted continuously for the 48-hour period preceding the beginning of the procedure.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 14
FOR ELECTION: 11-5-85

Senate Joint Resolution 14 proposes a constitutional amendment to create the Judicial Districts Board and provide for the reapportionment of judicial districts and to amend constitutional provisions relating to court administration and jurisdiction. The rules and conditions for reapportionment are specified, as well as the procedure to be followed by the Judicial Districts Board in accomplishing this task. No district may be smaller than an entire county unless the voters of that county have adopted a proposition allowing the division of the county into separate districts. The act also provides for the transfer of cases, equalization of dockets, concurrent jurisdiction, terms of courts, court officers’ jurisdiction, and quarters for courts when these are affected by a reapportionment.

This bill becomes effective only on adoption by the voters of the constitutional amendment proposed by S.J.R. 14.

ENERGY

Energy legislation enacted in 1985 was limited to the Texas oil and gas industry. One measure of importance to the public school and certain state university revenue is Senate Bill 1018 which attempts to close a loophole in the law that enabled lucrative subleases on public land to escape payments of royalties or bonuses to the state. Monthly allowable rules for gas producers (House Bill 1866) are made more flexible. Under one law (House Bill 2431) useful geological data will be preserved with the railroad commission, though without encroaching on confidentiality protections. New royalty reporting requirements (House Bill 1462) are enacted. Energy users, including farmers, are affected by measures that assure fair negotiation of agricultural gas supply contracts (House Bill 1823) and simplify regulatory review of gas contract rate reductions (House Bills 1509 and 1865). Finally, reference should be made to a measure summarized in the education chapter (Senate Bill 1296) that creates a Geo-Technology Research Institute to enhance discovery of oil and gas reserves and to increase the production potential of existing reserves.

Oil and Gas Leases on Public Lands

SENATE BILL 1018

EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85

SENIATE AUTHOR: Santiesteban

HOUSE SPONSOR: Whaley

Subchapter F, Chapter 52, Natural Resources Code, commonly known as the relinquishment act, designates the surface owner of property as agent of the state for purposes of negotiating and executing oil and gas leases if the state is the mineral owner. Under the relinquishment act, royalties or bonuses are split equally between the state and the surface owner. Senate Bill 1018 discourages abuses that have arisen under this system, whereby a surface owner could reacquire control from the person with whom he executed an oil and gas lease and then sublease the property for mineral development purposes for higher amounts without sharing the proceeds from the second lease with the state. The new measure prohibits the surface owner, either directly or indirectly, from leasing to himself or herself, to an associate or partner, or to any corporation or subsidiary of which he or she is a principal stockholder. Corporate and partnership surface owners may not lease to a principal stockholder or partner, respectively. Senate Bill 1018 requires of the surface owner certain good-faith and common-law duties to protect the interests of the state and provides that, in the event of any breach of these obligations, the land commissioner may seek remedial legal action through the attorney general including possible forfeiture by the surface owner of his or her role as the state's leasing agent.

HOUSE BILL 918

EFFECTIVE: 6-8-85

HOUSE AUTHOR: Craddick

SENATE SPONSOR: Sharp

Texas law provides for mineral leases, including oil and gas leases, on land owned by most state agencies. Leases executed before changes adopted in 1985 were executed by three-member boards composed of the land commissioner, the head of the relevant agency, and a gubernatorial appointee.

In 1981, the legislature enacted a prohibition on oil and gas leasing on land acquired for roads and highways and on other land under the control of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. House Bill 918 partially lifts this prohibition, reinstating such leasing except where a parcel of highway land is within 2,500 feet of certain producing oil or gas wells. It grants the owner of mineral rights on adjacent land the first chance at the highway land mineral lease and establishes procedures by which such owner may exercise that prerogative. House Bill 918 also establishes certain pooling provisions. Royalties, bonuses, and rentals are set according to the same procedures as are used on most lands owned by state agencies generally, except that lease terms and payments to the state may be no less generous than the most generous of those in effect on adjacent tracts. Should an owner of mineral rights on adjacent land, having exercised the prerogative to lease the highway land, begin producing oil or gas on the adjacent land while withholding production on the highway land, he or she must either pay shut-in royalties in accordance with the lease or otherwise pay the state compensatory royalties. House Bill 918 is influenced by passage of Senate Bill 493 (chapter on sunset legislation), which assigns leasing of highway lands to the School Land Board.
HOUSE BILL 1376
EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85

House Bill 1376 exempts from the requirement to obtain a water rights permit withdrawals of water by a petroleum driller or producer, taken from the Gulf of Mexico or from coastal bays, in amounts not exceeding one acre-foot per 24 hours.

Oil and Gas Wells

HOUSE BILL 948
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

This act allows oil and gas well casings to be made of materials other than wrought iron and steel, provided that the material—particularly in cases where the well might be subjected to corrosive elements or to high pressures or temperatures—meets standards set by the Railroad Commission of Texas.

HOUSE BILL 1346
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

The Railroad Commission of Texas uses a dedicated well plugging fund, derived mainly from penalties and drilling permit fees, for expenses incurred in plugging or replugging abandoned oil and gas wells. This act allows the confiscation by an agent of the commission, as full or partial compensation, for plugging or replugging a well, of any salvageable production-related equipment at the site that is abandoned as defined by commission rules. The commission is directed in adopting such rules to establish means for establishing the value of this equipment for purposes of compensation.

HOUSE BILL 1462
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

For oil and gas royalties paid beginning January 1, 1986, the payor must give royalty owners specified, standardized data on sales of oil and gas subject to the royalty owners' interests. Required data include the amount of certain taxes paid on the oil and gas and any other deductions from or adjustments to the amount paid. The information must be provided on check stubs or on attachments to royalty payment forms, unless it is provided on a monthly basis in some other manner. Should payment deductions or adjustments not be reported, the payor must provide an explanation on the request of the royalty interest owner. Any inquiries by a royalty owner made by certified mail must have a response, also by certified mail, within 30 days of receipt by the payor.

HOUSE BILL 1866
EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85

This act affects the monthly allowables set by the Railroad Commission of Texas for gas wells within a common gas reservoir. Current law authorizes seasonal surplus or deficit production, above or below the allowable, under certain restrictions applicable to sequential six-month periods beginning in September or March, with the surplus or deficit in one period being offset by a compensating deficit or surplus in the next. The act modifies this scheme somewhat, applying it to mere fluctuations in demand rather than just to emergency situations. One of two alternatives for monthly maximum production, equivalent to one-fourth the well's productive capacity, is eliminated in favor of sole reliance on a maximum equivalent to twice the well's monthly allowable. As before, though with certain exceptions, production may exceed this maximum only two months within a September or March six-month period. For purposes of a compensating deficit in the succeeding period, the act allows the well to produce at a fraction of the monthly allowable rather than to be completely shut down until the allowable average is in balance. Credit for cumulative deficit production can now be carried forward consecutively to succeeding periods, and compensating production can proceed without the restraint of applicable monthly maximums, until such time as the deficit is erased. Minimum production limits based on the natural flow of a well are replaced by provisions that allow a well to produce at least its actual daily deliverability (i.e., the amount pipelines can accommodate) if that deliverability is 100,000 cubic feet or less. The act repeals the law relating to maximum production of wells that produce both sweet and sour gas.
As a means to ensure retention of valuable geologic information, House Bill 2431 requires persons filing completion reports and applications to plug wells also to file with the Railroad Commission of Texas electric logs made in connection with the drilling of a completed well or dry hole. These logs eventually become public information subject to the state’s open records act, except for a temporary period of confidentiality extending from one to five years. The person making the filing may request in writing, at the time of filing, a single one-year term of confidentiality, and prior to that term’s expiration, an additional two-year confidentiality extension. If the well has been drilled in submerged state lands, the person may request in writing prior to the expiration of the first extension a second extension of another two years. The person making the filing may also retain possession of the logs during the period of confidentiality; alternatively, should the commission retain them, the logs are excluded from inspection during the period except by certain authorized persons or commission officials. The commission may contract with other persons for log management and storage. A person who holds a log during the period of confidentiality must surrender it to the commission within 30 days after expiration of the appropriate term or extension. Failure to do so, or failure to file a log in connection with the original drilling, is grounds for a refusal by the commission to assign or to change the well’s production allowable. Well completion reports, dry hole plugging applications, and logs or log copies predating September 1, 1985, are governed by prior law.

Gas Utility Rates

This act clarifies an amendment enacted in 1981 that sought to exempt from full regulatory review gas rates charged by a gas utility to large volume contract customers. With the clarification, direct sales from a supplier utility to a distribution utility continues subject to review. Indirect sales through an intermediate customer, for resale to a distribution utility, are exempt on condition that (1) neither party has an unfair negotiating advantage, (2) the negotiated rates are similar to those charged to other customers under similar service conditions, (3) a competitive situation exists with regard to alternative gas or energy suppliers, and with the proviso that (4) gas purchase costs experienced by the intermediary may be examined for reasonableness at the time that the resale rates to the distributing facility undergo regulatory review. However, sales from a supplier utility to an affiliated pipeline utility need not meet condition (1). A separate provision, independent of the 1981 amendment clarification, is that regulatory notice and approval applies to proposed rate increases rather than to proposed rate changes as was the case before.

House Bill 1718 increases from 120 to 185 days the period the Railroad Commission of Texas has to enter a final order in an appeal of a municipality’s decision on a gas utility rate case. Also, interim rate orders that are designed to assist a utility to avoid confiscation are given a defined period of applicability.

Titled the Agriculture Gas Users Act of 1985, House Bill 1823 provides farmers the opportunity to negotiate with suppliers a fair contract for the delivery of natural gas. The maximum price to be charged the farmer under any such contract is the price charged a majority of the supplier’s commercial or other large-volume users. Suppliers who do not furnish gas to municipal users are exempted from the act’s provisions, unless that exemption is overridden by agreement of both parties in the negotiated contract.

This act provides that a proposed gas utility rate decrease proposed by the rate applicant, if agreed on by all affected parties, can be approved administratively by the regulatory authority provided that the decrease does not work against the public interest.
SENATE BILL 67
EFFECTIVE: 1-1-86

This act directs that a property tax appraiser, on receiving a taxpayer report claiming a decrease in the appraisal value of oil and gas property, must review and verify the appraisal and note his or her determination regarding it on the back of the report. The appraiser no longer has to physically visit the property, however.

HOUSE BILL 1695
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

This act makes certain changes relating to the regulation by the Railroad Commission of Texas of liquefied petroleum gas (LPG). Commission employees, who have authority to conduct safety inspections of LPG licensees' premises, are given additional safety inspection authority to enter any other private premises with the consent of the owner or owner's agent. To investigate LPG accidents, they may enter all premises unconditionally and request appropriate accident response measures by state or local authorities. Another change exempts from LPG licensing mobile home park operators who lease tanks and service from LPG licensees to supply mobile home tenants.

HOUSE BILL 1942
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

State law requires members of the oil and gas industry to file certain basic information with the Railroad Commission of Texas in the form of an organization report. This act extends that requirement to others (e.g., the surface mining, trucking, and busing industries) regulated by the commission and provides for the filing of unique identifying numbers such as the number on a driver's license. Foreign or out-of-state persons and entities must maintain a resident agent to whom the commission can serve certain types of notice. Failure to maintain such agent, or noncompliance with served notice by a regulated person or entity, renders the organization report invalid.
ENVIRONMENT

Twice in the last decade, in 1976 and again in 1981, Texas voters have rejected water packages that have been passed by the legislature contingent on the electorate's approval of associated constitutional amendments. House Joint Resolution 6 proposing two constitutional amendments, and accompanying House Bill 2 that takes effect only if Amendment No. 1 is approved, represent a new water package proposal. Together they: (1) propose increases in state funding for water development and other water purposes; (2) propose measures aimed at enhancing water conservation, particularly of underground water; and (3) propose measures aimed at the ecological health of coastal bays and estuaries. Other water legislation establishes a commission to assess regional interstate water needs and provides for public access to water quality inspection reports. Senate Bill 249, a major bill restructuring state water agencies, is found in the chapter on government—sunset legislation, while legislation pertaining to water districts is found in the chapter on government—special districts.

A large portion of the 69th Legislature's environmental enactments pertain to waste and chemical management. Hazardous waste, defined to include certain highly dangerous but nonradioactive chemical waste, is the subject of House Bill 2359 enacting associated fees and House Bill 2358 enacting various recommendations of a governor's task force and interim legislative committee. Hazardous waste management is also affected by regulatory jurisdictional changes in Senate Bill 249 referred to above. Other major legislation in the area of waste and chemicals amends state law concerning low-level radioactive waste (House Bill 449) and enacts the Hazard Communication Act popularly referred to as "right-to-know" legislation (House Bill 1112). Several additional measures affect hazardous and solid waste, oil and gas waste, and spills of toxic chemicals.

New litter laws increase fines and make motor vehicle and boat operators liable for litter thrown out by passengers. Another piece of environmental legislation enacts more stringent enforcement provisions relating to illegal traffic in endangered plants, and yet another enhances local-government protection of coastal sand dunes.

Major Water Legislation

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION 6
FOR ELECTION: 11-5-85

House Joint Resolution 6 proposes two constitutional amendments, each to be voted on in a statewide election scheduled for November 5, 1985. The first amendment would authorize an additional $980 million in Texas Water Development Bonds for various water-related purposes. This amount would supplement an aggregate $400 million in bonds for water development and $200 million in bonds for water quality enhancement that have been authorized by previous constitutional amendments and largely exhausted by associated bond issues to date. Projects supported by the present $600 million in bond authorizations consist largely of reservoir construction, associated local water supply facilities, and sewage treatment plants.

Under the current program, the state does two things with the proceeds from its bond sales. First, it makes low-interest loans to certain cities, counties, water districts, and political subdivisions. Repayments from these entities, based ultimately on charges to water utility customers, are used to service the state debt created by the bonds. Second, since a 1962 constitutional amendment, the state has participated in water storage acquisition whereby it invests as part owner of local reservoir projects and associated water systems. State revenue derived from this ownership, again based on charges to water utility customers, is channeled to debt service on the state's bonds.

The first constitutional amendment proposed by House Joint Resolution 6 would expand the list of eligible projects for state participatory investment. State participation would extend to (1) reservoirs and other storage facilities and to (2) systems (targeting particularly regional systems involving numerous local-governmental entities) for the filtration, treatment, transmission, and transportation of water or wastewater. One major change would be that the state could invest in type (2) projects as described above, even where the state had not invested in affiliated reservoir projects. Of the $980 million in newly authorized bonds, $400 million would be allocated to state participatory investments, $190 million to new water development loans, another $190 million to new water quality enhancement loans, and the remaining $200 million exclusively to loans for purposes of flood control. Nonprofit water supply corporations, in addition to political subdivisions, would be authorized to share in state participatory projects and to obtain water development and water quality enhancement loans.

By law the legislature could create various types of special funds in the state treasury for water-related financial assistance, with the restriction that assistance from the funds could not be used for projects involving water exportation outside the river basin of origin in excess of the basin's reasonably foreseeable 50-year water needs.

The first of the two amendments would also authorize the state to pledge its credit, up to $250 million, to insure bonds issued by local entities (political subdivisions and private nonprofit water supply corporations) for purposes of water development, water quality enhancement, water conservation, flood control, drainage, recharge, chloride control, desalinization, or any combination of these purposes. The $250 million would represent the maximum state liability; however, the state could insure bonds up to an aggregate of twice that amount, or $500 million, with the restriction that bond coverage authorizations for any one fiscal year could not exceed $100 million. The amendment would provide for the designation by law of a state agency to administer the bond insurance program. By a vote of two-thirds of the entire membership of each legislative house (i.e., 21 senators and 100 representatives), the administering agency could exceed the $500 million and $100 million insurance coverage limitations (though not the $250 million liability limitation). The bond insurance program would expire November 5, 1991, unless extended by a similar two-thirds vote of each legislative house.

The second constitutional amendment proposed by House Joint Resolution 6 would allow the Texas Water Development Board, on a vote of two-thirds of the entire membership of each legislative house, to issue agricultural water conservation bonds up to an aggregate of $200 million. The amendment would create an agricultural water conservation fund consisting of the proceeds from bond sales. The amendment would provide enactment of associated administrative procedures. The program would expire November 5, 1989, without provision for legislative extension.

HOUSE BILL 2

EFFECTIVE: see below

HOUSE AUTHOR: Craddick

SENXATE SPONSOR: Montford

House Bill 2, which takes effect if and when voters adopt Amendment No. 1 proposed by House Joint Resolution 6, would implement the new funding programs provided for by those amendments and would modify existing funding programs. Subsidence control, recharge, chloride control, and desalinization projects would be added to the list of projects eligible for certain financial assistance, and flood control projects including both structural control, such as stormwater retention basins and channel enlargements, and nonstructural control, such as acquisition of floodplains for recreational purposes and concomitant removal of buildings and residents would be included under the financial assistance programs. For certain projects, an applicant would be relieved of the need to prove hardship to receive state assistance. Such projects would include flood control projects, regional facilities serving several political subdivisions or consolidating several facilities of a single political subdivision, and projects involving a shift from reliance on underground water to reliance on surface water.

House Bill 2 would require the Texas Water Development Board, in cases where approved loan or storage acquisition applications exceeded available funding, to submit a report on the applications and associated projects as part of its biennial budget request to the Legislative Budget Board and legislative presiding officers.

The new bond insurance program would involve the allocation of insurance based on the public interest, degree of certainty of project solvency, availability of necessary water rights, and other factors.

Private water supply corporations receiving assistance would be subject to the state open records law.

In addition, the new legislation would make financial assistance conditional, in most cases, on the implementation by a political subdivision or water supply corporation of a water conservation program. House Bill 2 defines conservation, in this regard, to include not only water development (e.g., projects to retain and store runoff), but also measures to reduce water consumption and losses, improve water use efficiency, and increase water recycling. Specifically cited examples might include restrictions on lawn watering and other discretionary uses, plumbing code standards or retrofit measures for new or old buildings, water rate structures promoting conservation, drought contingency plans, and other measures. Financial assistance applications would be exempt from the conservation program requirement, however, if the Texas Water Development Board found that an emergency existed or that a program would not reasonably facilitate conservation, or if the amount of assistance was $500,000 or less. If funds became available, the board would be directed to establish an educational and technical assistance program pertaining to water conservation.

Two major sections of House Bill 2 would implement measures relating to underground water consumption, which accounts for more than half of state usage. The first of these sections would create an agricultural trust fund endowed initially with $15 million. Of that sum, $5 million would be made available for loans to underground water conservation districts and to soil and water conservation districts under a new pilot program for agricultural water conservation equipment. The districts would lend the funds to farmers, in turn, for purposes associated with improved irrigation efficiency. The Texas Water Development Board would be required to report to the legislature in 1987 and 1989 on the progress of the pilot program and the potential for its expansion. The other $10 million of the initial endowment would be held in trust, along with half of resultant earned interest, while the other half of earned interest would go to an agricultural soil and water conservation fund to support future research, technical assistance, and other supportive projects.

The second section pertaining to underground water conservation would modify procedures for creating new underground water conservation districts, allowing the Texas Water Commission to initiate creation. The commission would be directed to monitor and identify areas of the state experiencing underground water problems, to establish for each area a regional management advisory committee to evaluate the problems and potential remedies, and after hearings and other specified administrative procedures to decide whether to officially designate the area as critical. A critical area, if so designated, would be subject to an election to confirm creation of an underground water conservation district. Failure to confirm would be final, unless the entire process were repeated. Other provisions would strengthen underground water conservation district powers. District authority to regulate water well production, confined currently to wells producing 100,000 gallons or more daily, would be extended to wells producing more than 20,000 gallons daily. Existing wells falling between these two thresholds, however, would automatically receive well permits.

A final portion of House Bill 2 would direct the Texas Water Commission to continue, in conjunction with the Parks and Wildlife Department and special bay and estuary advisory committees, studies of Texas' various bays and estuaries to collect data on associated water needs. Permits for new reservoirs within 200 river miles of the coast would be conditioned on terms, applicable except where suspended by the commission during emergencies, designed to maintain beneficial inflows of fresh water to affected bay and estuary systems. Beneficial inflows would include those adequate to maintain an ecologically sound environment necessary for the maintenance of productivity of certain fish and shellfish species and the estuarine life on which they depend. The commission would be directed also to consider existing instream water uses, issues of water quality, and other fish and wildlife habitat. The Parks and Wildlife Department would be authorized to join as a party to a permit hearing, and would be allocated five percent of the annual firm yield of each reservoir in which the state has an interest within the 200-mile range for purposes of managing freshwater releases to bays and estuaries.

Other Water Legislation

HOUSE BILL 536
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

This act creates the Multi-State Water Resources Planning Commission, with a sunset date of 1997. The commission consists of six commissioners appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate. Two commissioners are to be members of the general public, while the other four must have backgrounds in higher education, private business, agriculture, and energy, respectively. The commission is empowered to cooperate with neighboring states to study 21st-century regional water needs, to identify and develop means to augment regional water supplies, and to negotiate or contract toward the possible establishment of interstate compacts to address common groundwater problems relating to shared aquifers. The commission is empowered to confer with the government of Mexico as well. It is directed to designate water-deficient areas in Texas for which future water supplies, even with conservation, are insufficient, and to make recommendations to the governor and legislature on potential water sources to supply those areas with needed water.
HOUSE BILL 1959

HOUSE AUTHOR: Richardson

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

SENATE SPONSOR: Sims

House Bill 1959, as influenced by Senate Bill 249 (sunset chapter) giving water quality jurisdiction to the Texas Water Commission, directs the commission to publish or regularly release to the public: (1) the results of water quality inspections and investigations; and (2) other information routinely prepared relating to compliance with water quality laws and regulations. The commission is directed to establish procedures for regularly furnishing, on a request basis, copies of all inspection, investigation, and compliance reports pertaining to a particular facility or to facilities within a specified area. Information exempted as confidential under the state open records law, however, remains confidential.

SENATE BILL 823

SENATE AUTHOR: Montford

HOUSE SPONSOR: Agnish

Senate Bill 823 provides that the commissioner of health shall declare any public water within the jurisdiction of the state to be a prohibited area if it is found to contain aquatic life that is unfit for human consumption because of sanitary, chemical, or bacteriological contamination. Those prohibited areas are to be closed to the taking of aquatic life for a period considered advisable by the commissioner.

Taking, selling, or offering aquatic life from a prohibited area is a misdemeanor offense punishable by a fine of not less than $200 nor more than $500. Commissioned law enforcement officers of the Parks and Wildlife Department are charged with enforcing the act, and the commissioner of health and the commissioner’s agents are charged with disposing of any illegally taken aquatic life that is seized under the act.

SENATE BILL 863

SENATE AUTHOR: Sarpalus

HOUSE SPONSOR: Buchanan

Lake Meredith, situated on the Canadian River, is experiencing brine pollution due to highly saline artesian water that is infiltrating the river basin upstream in New Mexico. The lake serves municipal water needs for 11 cities including Amarillo and Lubbock. Senate Bill 863 authorizes, as a water quality maintenance or enhancement project eligible for state financial assistance, a project undertaken outside the state (i.e., in New Mexico) to drill into the artesian formation, extract the brine, and inject it into available disposal wells where it will no longer affect the river.

SENATE BILL 1185

SENATE AUTHOR: Traeger

HOUSE SPONSOR: Buchanan

This act places under the regulatory authority of the Texas Water Well Drillers Board miscellaneous types of injection wells including air conditioning return flow wells, cooling water return flow wells, drainage wells, aquifer recharge wells, saltwater intrusion barrier wells, sand backfill wells, subsidence control wells, and closed system geothermal wells. The act authorizes the board to set standards for completion of wells under its jurisdiction and clarifies the responsibility of a driller to plug a well where the driller encounters water of an injurious nature. The board is authorized to assess civil penalties of up to $2,500 per violation of drilling laws or regulations. Where the board seeks civil penalties through the judicial system, a court may assess penalties of $200 to $1,000 per day per violation.

The following enactments pertain to effluent discharges into waters of the state:

SENATE BILL 527

SENATE AUTHOR: Henderson

EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

HOUSE SPONSOR: Hilbert

This act directs the Texas Water Commission, in evaluating permit applications for the discharge of effluent comprised primarily of sewage or municipal waste, to consider the applicant’s past record of compliance with regard to effluent requirements. The act applies to an application for issuance, amendment, or renewal of a permit pending on August 26, 1985, or filed on or after that date.

SENATE BILL 528

SENATE AUTHOR: Henderson

EFFECTIVE: 6-11-85

HOUSE SPONSOR: Hilbert

This act requires the Texas Water Commission, in evaluating permit applications for the discharge of effluent into waters within one mile of a park, playground, or schoolyard, to consider any unpleasant characteristics of the effluent, including odor, and to consider its potential for adverse effects on the recreational value of the park, playground, or schoolyard. The act applies to pending and future permit applications as of June 11, 1985.

HOUSE BILL 2362
EFFECTIVE: 6-5-85

This act establishes a moratorium until February 1987 on new permits for discharges of waste or pollutants into or adjacent to Salado Creek, a tributary of the Lampsas River, or any body of water flowing into the creek. The Texas Water Commission is directed, during the interval, to conduct a study of the effects that discharges are having and that additional discharges would have on the creek's water quality. The act does not apply to a permit granted before June 5, 1985.

Major Waste and Chemical Management Legislation

HOUSE BILL 449
EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85

In 1981 the 67th Legislature created the Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority to select a site and operate a facility, subject to regulation and licensing by the Texas Department of Health, for the disposal of low-level radioactive waste generated in Texas. That action was prompted by a federal act authorizing eventual closure of existing disposal facilities in other states to interstate low-level waste.

House Bill 449 amends the 1981 law, directing the authority to examine alternatives to waste burial including: (1) recycling of waste; (2) processing aimed at reduction of the waste volume; and (3) isolation of the waste above ground. Burial in shallow landfills is prohibited unless state or federal regulatory programs for low-level waste preclude or recommend against aboveground disposal or the authority determines that burial in a landfill is in fact safer. The measure postpones any licensing of a disposal facility until July 6, 1987, at the earliest, and requires as a condition of licensing that the authority demonstrate the reasonableness of its chosen waste management techniques. The facility may not be located within 20 miles upstream or up-drainage from the maximum elevation of existing or planned reservoirs and must have incorporated in its design safeguards against tornadoes, hurricanes, floods, earthquakes, and other natural threats.

Conditioned on: (1) the appropriation of requisite study and acquisition funds; and (2) equal technical suitability in comparison to sites located elsewhere, preference is given to sites located on permanent school fund or permanent university fund land. The authority is empowered to enter permanent school fund or permanent university fund land for investigative purposes and to enter into purchase, lease, or other agreements in order to arrange for a disposal site. Neither the commissioner of the General Land Office nor the board of regents of The University of Texas System, however, is required to consummate any agreement. Furthermore, a permanent school fund or permanent university fund agreement must not interfere with siting of the proposed Texas particle accelerator project (Senate Bill 1169 and House Bill 1911 in the chapter on education) and must not involve any relaxation of standards as would be applicable elsewhere. Should the authority's board of directors reject permanent school fund and permanent university fund sites as unsuitable, the board must submit a report to the governor and legislature on the grounds for that rejection.

HOUSE BILL 1112
EFFECTIVE: 1-1-86

The Hazard Communication Act, House Bill 1112, mandates the provision of information on various kinds of hazardous chemicals that are manufactured and handled by Texas businesses to chemical purchasers and their employees, fire chiefs, and the commissioner of health. Certain businesses, including laboratories and most retail establishments are exempt, as are certain kinds of materials such as pesticides, hazardous waste, and radioactive waste. Hazardous chemical manufacturers and distributors, as well as companies that purchase and handle hazardous chemicals, are exempt from certain requirements of the act provided that they are in compliance with standards of the U.S. Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) scheduled for implementation in November 1985.

The act requires hazardous chemical manufacturers, distributors, or handlers to make available two kinds of hazard communication notices. The first is the material safety data sheet (MSDS), which chemical manufacturers and distributors without exception are required to provide to Texas companies that purchase and handle hazardous chemicals. The MSDS documents chemical hazard and safe handling information, or other information as required by OSHA under the upcoming standards. The second type of notice is the workplace chemical list, which contains technical and common names of different chemicals and cites the work areas in which they are normally stored or handled.

The act targets certain nonmanufacturing employers, including state and local governments, volunteer emergency service organizations, and companies grouped within specific standard industrial classification codes. Those employers are required to make workplace chemical lists and MSDS's available to their employees or to employee representatives such as union officials. They must maintain the most current MSDS's received from the manufacturer or distributor and must update the workplace chemical lists as necessary or, at a minimum, annually. The same employers must conduct education and training programs for their employees with special attention to newly assigned employees and to handling or informational changes that modify the potential for routine chemical exposure. The program must include specified items of instruction, including instruction in safety measures.

All employees, irrespective of their employers, have specified rights pertaining to hazardous chemicals. These rights include: (1) notice of potential exposure; (2) related training; (3) access to applicable workplace chemical lists and MSDS's; and (4) provision of an MSDS copy on request. An employee also has the right to refuse to handle a hazardous chemical container whose label is missing or defaced in violation of the act. The rights apply without exception or exemption. Employers may not request employees to waive them, and any waiver, even when fully voluntary, is void. Employers may not discharge, discipline, or discriminate against an employee who files a complaint, assists state inspectors, lodges a suit for violations of the act, or otherwise exercises his rights.

All employers, without exception, must provide the commissioner of health and local fire chief with certain information. Workplace chemical lists are to be filed with the commissioner, provided to the fire chief on request, and maintained by the employer for 30 years, with all records to be turned over to the commissioner in the event the employer ceases business. MSDS copies are to be provided to the commissioner or fire chief, on request, and companies handling large amounts of hazardous chemicals must give to the fire chief the names and telephone numbers of knowledgeable company personnel to contact in the event of emergency. The fire chief or a designated agent may inspect a company's premises as part of emergency fire preparedness, and state officials designated by the health commissioner may inspect the premises at any time. Generally, in cases in which inspections or investigations result from employee complaints, OSHA has jurisdiction in the case of chemical manufacturers and the commissioner of health has jurisdiction in the case of other chemical handlers.

Trade secrets associated with hazardous chemicals are afforded protection under the act. Subject to the health commissioner's or court's substantiation of the trade secret claim if challenged, and subject to certain other qualifications including the provision of information to a physician treating an exposed employee, an employer may delete chemical trade secrets from an MSDS. Even without those deletions, local fire chiefs are prohibited from distributing a workplace chemical list or MSDS except to relevant fire fighters or to emergency planning officials. A fire chief may request from an employer general hazard information on the trade secret chemicals.

The commissioner of health is directed to develop an outreach program to inform affected employers of their obligations, to notify their employees of associated employee rights, and to publicize the Hazard Communication Act through distribution of informational leaflets. Also, as part of the outreach program, the commissioner is directed to develop an education and training assistance program for employer businesses whose small size or other limitations hinder implementation of required employee education and training. The commissioner may contract with other organizations or institutions to develop the outreach program and approve similar outreach efforts in the community by an employer.

HOUSE BILL 2358

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

HOUSE AUTHOR: Schlueeter

SENATE SPONSOR: Farabee

House Bill 2358, which deals with various aspects of hazardous waste regulation, establishes as public policy a hierarchy of preferred hazardous waste management methods. In descending order of preference, these include minimization of waste generation, reuse or recycling of waste, treatment to destroy or reduce hazardous characteristics of waste, disposal of waste through underground injection, and other methods of land disposal (see House Bill 2359 summary) including landfills. Specific provisions expand on existing statutory restrictions that influence siting of new or expanded hazardous waste facilities. The legislation requires adoption of rules that prohibit issuance of a permit for a new hazardous waste landfill in 100-year floodplains unless projected flood depths are less than three feet. It requires adoption of rules that: (1) prohibit land disposal facilities, exclusive of injection wells, in recharge zones of sole source aquifers; (2) prohibit landfills and land treatment facilities within 1,000 feet of established residences, churches, schools, or public parks; (3) prohibit any type of hazardous waste facility in a wetlands area; and (4) prohibit the issuance of a permit for a new, commercial hazardous waste unit in a floodplain of a perennial stream subject to not less than one percent chance of flooding in a year. Landfills generally are prohibited if a feasible and economic alternative exists, and injection wells are subject to a consideration by state regulatory officials of such alternatives.

Aside from the new prohibitions, existing law requires state regulators to examine various site types and characteristics that are potentially unfavorable to the placement of hazardous waste management facilities. House Bill 2358 augments the list to include sites draining into nearby lakes used for drinking water, areas of active geological processes, areas of coastal hazard such as storm surge or shoreline erosion, and critical habitat of endangered species. Injection wells drilled into a salt dome are subject to consideration by state regulators of nearby aquifers, sulfur mines, and oil or gas wells. Landfills and land treatment facilities likewise require consideration of potential aquifer effects, and, for landfills for which permit applications are filed beginning January 1986, consideration of the possibility of earthen construction above the surface.

Local governments may petition for regulations further restricting or prohibiting the siting of hazardous waste facilities, except that resulting regulations do not apply to a hazardous waste permit for which an application or notice of intent to file an application has been filed prior to a petition. Local governments may not require their own siting permits, unless specifically provided for by law, nor may they adopt ordinances that are inconsistent with state hazardous waste regulations. House Bill 2358 establishes procedures for determining the validity of local ordinances and places on the hazardous waste permit applicant the burden to demonstrate inconsistency.

The new law encourages prospective permit applicants planning a hazardous waste facility to file a notice of intent informing the local public in advance. Under House Bill 2358, that notice leads to a local review process by a committee of various participants. The function of the local review committee is to identify aspects of a proposed facility that are subject or not subject to controversy. The review process, which lasts about four months from the notice of intent to the filing of the permit application, is voluntary on the part of the applicant. Once initiated, however, it may involve payment by the applicant of up to $25,000 in expenses incurred by the local public to obtain relevant independent expertise.

House Bill 2358 streamlines the actual permit application process by reducing it to a single hearing examination. Senate Bill 249, summarized in the sunset legislation chapter, transfers to the Texas Water Commission general regulatory jurisdiction over industrial hazardous waste. Even so, other agencies may have related authority, as in the case of the Texas Air Control Board where hazardous waste is destroyed by incineration. Under the new hearing system, the Texas Water Commission, in the case of industrial hazardous waste, or the Texas Department of Health, in the case of municipal hazardous waste, acts as the lead agency for purposes of technical review of an application. Other agencies are empowered to comment on the resultant review, however, and if they consider it necessary, to appeal the lead agency's hazardous waste permit rulings. Simultaneously, House Bill 2358 seeks to minimize disagreement through the creation of an interagency coordination council to help resolve regulatory issues pertaining to solid waste.

One new amendment provides for preparation by the state agency of a compliance summary indicating the applicant's history of observance or violation of hazardous waste laws, regulations, and orders. The compliance summary may be offered into evidence at a hearing on a permit application by any party. Compliance on the part of hazardous facility operators is part also of a broader provision requiring an annual report to the governor and legislative presiding officers on the results of Texas Water Commission and Texas Department of Health inspections. House Bill 2358 directs that priority be given to the inspection of facilities, regardless of size, that are considered most likely to be noncompliant or to pose a potential threat to health or the environment. The annual inspection report is to itemize facilities by degree of compliance or violation. The commission's or department of health's authority is augmented, where it discovers violations that present an imminent and substantial danger to the public health and safety or the environment, to enable the issuance of administrative restraining orders. Other provisions clarify the respective liability of various parties responsible for a violation and for cost apportionment where expense is incurred in alleviating a violation.
House Bill 2358 directs the Texas Water Commission and Texas Department of Health to track also, through biennial reports to the governor and presiding officers, statewide hazardous waste volumes and disposal capacity and the progress made toward the waste management hierarchy described in the first paragraph. The report, to be gleaned from information required of hazardous waste facility operators, is to include a performance analysis of the hazardous waste fees authorized under House Bill 2359. Another provision relating to progress in waste management practices directs the commission and department to issue rules to promote the collection and disposal of household materials fitting the definition of hazardous waste.

A final report requirement calls for the commission’s completion, in cooperation with the department of health, by July 1986 of a survey of hazardous waste sites that constitute imminent health or environmental dangers. The survey, which goes toward the compilation of a periodically updated registry, aims at the cleanup of these sites by responsible parties, by the federal government under its Superfund program, or in the last resort or case of emergency by the state using revenue derived from House Bill 2359. Various provisions of House Bill 2358 describe notice requirements pertaining to registry sites, counties where the sites are located, and parties held responsible for the sites. The legislation details, also, legal procedures to be undertaken in modifying the registry list, allocating site responsibility and cleanup liability, and sorting out cleanup costs. Where a party is liable for cleanup costs, the state is awarded a lien on associated real property.

HOUSE BILL 2359
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Schlueter
SENATE SPONSOR: Farabee

House Bill 2359 assesses three types of fees related to hazardous waste and directs resultant revenue to: (1) hazardous waste regulation; and to (2) certain state costs associated with the cleanup of abandoned hazardous waste disposal sites. The latter include the state share of cleanup costs under the federal Superfund program and state costs associated with emergency remedial activity at sites for which cleanup funding is unavailable either from the federal government or from private parties. The new fees are assessed as of September 1, 1985.

The first type of fee, an annual fee assessed statutorily, is charged for the generation, or first production, of hazardous waste. Generators of more than 100 but less than 1,000 kilograms of hazardous waste a month are charged $50; generators of 1,000 or more but less than 10,000 kilograms of hazardous waste a month, $500; generators of 10,000 or more but less than one million kilograms of hazardous waste a month, $2,500; and generators of one million or more kilograms of hazardous waste a month, $5,000. The second type of fee, an annual fee assessed administratively with certain statutory restrictions, is charged to hazardous waste processing, storage, or disposal facilities. The facility fee may not be less than $250, may not be higher than $500 for a facility receiving less than 1,000 kilograms a month, and in no case may be higher than $20,000. Otherwise the fee must be set so that, when facility fee revenue is added to that from the generation fee, collections fall within a range of $3.5-$3.75 million annually. Collections go into the newly created hazardous waste generation and facility fees fund for hazardous waste monitoring and regulation by various state agencies.

The third type of fee, assessed statutorily with provision for administrative adjustment, is charged for the land disposal of hazardous waste, including disposal by means of landfills, injection wells, surface impoundments, waste piles, or land application, excluding agricultural chemical application. Resultant revenue goes toward cleanup costs as cited in the first paragraph, and in keeping with the stimulation of that cleanup, House Bill 2359 exempts from the fee waste that derives from cleanup operations and is redispersed of elsewhere. The base fee, collected quarterly on a tonnage basis from each operator of a land disposal facility, is $4 a dry weight ton of hazardous waste or $1 a ton for certain less toxic waste from metal processing. The fee legislation, however, as affected by the Senate Bill 249 jurisdictional changes, directs the Texas Water Commission to monitor resultant revenue collections. If it projects collections for the 1986-87 biennium to fall below $10.75 million, it may adjust the base disposal fee upward so as to collect up to $12 million, and if the state Superfund share necessitates additional revenue, it may adjust the base fee even higher so as to collect in excess of $12 million. Another adjustment range, besides the one applicable to the biennium, applies to each fiscal year. If after any one quarter cumulative collections for a fiscal year exceed $10 million, collections cease for the remainder of that year unless continuation is needed to provide a sufficient state Superfund share. In the meantime, prior to the September effective date for imposition of the three fees, House Bill 2359 authorizes the legislature through the 1985 General Appropriations Act to divert money currently available for state Superfund matching purposes and to transfer it to the general revenue fund.
The legislation directs the commission to devise means for calculating or estimating dry weight hazardous waste tonnage. Waste generators and disposers, for their part, are assigned certain certification and reporting requirements, respectively, relating to the disposal fee. Disposers are subject to a civil penalty of $100 a day for failure to file required reports. Failure by hazardous waste generators, disposers, or other operators to pay fees when due is subject to an interest penalty at an annual rate of 15 percent.

Other Waste and Chemical Management Legislation

HOUSE BILL 873
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Tallas
SENATE SPONSOR: Brown

A state law enacted in 1983 provided for the development of local solid waste management plans by cities and counties through their participation in regional councils of government or other regional entities. Such plans, which must gain approval of the Texas Department of Health, were nowhere in effect as of 1985. House Bill 873 directs the department, should it receive a local plan that is not in conformity with state requirements, to notify the local government in writing of changes needed to ensure conformity, and to take action on the plan once those changes have been made. It further requires the department, in issuing any solid waste facility permit in a county having an approved plant, to consider the compatibility of the proposed facility site with that local plan.

HOUSE BILL 1105
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Colbert
SENATE SPONSOR: Parmer

This act amends state law concerning the filing by a city of enforcement suits against violations of the state Solid Waste Disposal Act occurring within its extraterritorial jurisdiction. Under the new act, city filing authority is clarified to extend also to violations occurring within city limits.

HOUSE BILL 1306
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Craddick
SENATE SPONSOR: Brown

Congressional legislation enacted in 1984 amends the federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, which, in conjunction with state law, regulates hazardous and other solid waste. Included in the 1984 changes are stricter standards applicable to hazardous and solid waste management facilities. House Bill 1306 sets deadlines for an operator of a facility either to obtain permits under the new standards (second column below) or, failing that target date, to at least have applied for a final permit determination by regulatory authorities (third column below):

House Bill 1306 provides also for measures by which the Texas Department of Water Resources and the Texas Department of Health can order corrective actions where certain of those facilities spill or release hazardous waste into the environment. Orders may include suspension or revocation of authority to continue operation.

The measure clarifies language relating to criminal penalties for knowing about hazardous waste violations and applies those penalties to the illegal transport of waste without appropriate accompanying documentation. Criminal penalties for certain violations are increased to a maximum of $50,000 and two to five years' imprisonment, or $100,000 and four to 10 years' imprisonment for second convictions. For violations involving the knowing endangerment of other persons, the imprisonment portion of applicable penalties is increased to a maximum of 15 years.
HOUSE BILL 1867

EFFECTIVE: see below

This act clarifies the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission of Texas with respect to certain waste discharges associated with oil, gas, and geothermal energy activities. Itemized waste-producing activities to be regulated by the commission include: (1) drilling of injection water source wells; (2) drilling of cathodic production holes; (3) underground natural gas storage; (4) underground hydrocarbon storage; and (5) oil and gas handling prior to its refining or use as fuel. The commission also has jurisdiction over waste, except hazardous waste, associated with activities of certain gasoline and natural gas plants. In the event that the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency delegates the commission appropriate regulatory authority under the federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, its jurisdiction with respect to activities of certain gasoline and natural gas plants extends also to hazardous waste.

Other amendments give the commission jurisdiction over waste from uranium exploration activities. For that purpose, the act authorizes the commission powers of entry, inspection, and investigation and powers to seek injunctions, restraining orders, or other remedies to halt or prevent waste violations. Civil and criminal penalties sought through the court system, as well as administrative penalties assessed by the commission, may range as high as $10,000 a day.

Other provisions, transferring to the commission regulatory authority over brine mining by injection well, have an effective date of September 1, 1985. Existing brine mining permits as of that date are to be renewed automatically, however.

HOUSE BILL 1941

EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

House Bill 1941 requires the Texas Water Commission, in the case of hazardous waste, and authorizes the Railroad Commission of Texas, in the case of oil and gas waste, to condition waste management permits on the maintenance by the applicant of a performance bond or other form of financial security tied to a guarantee of compliance with applicable legal requirements. Exempted are certain saltwater disposal and storage pits, collecting pits, and skimming pits used in conjunction with an individual oil or gas lease.

HOUSE BILL 2068

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

House Bill 2068 enacts recommendations of the Governor's Task Force on Offshore Oil and Chemical Responses, which was created in the aftermath of a 1984 British tanker accident offshore of Louisiana that fouled the upper Texas Gulf Coast. The measure amends the Texas Hazardous Substances Spill Prevention and Control Act, under which a party responsible for a spill is required to take certain remedial cleanup actions. Where the state itself incurs costs, it seeks reimbursement primarily from associated federal funds and secondarily from the responsible party if the federal funds are unavailable or insufficient.

House Bill 2068 establishes amounts for which a responsible party is liable in suits brought by the state. Liability extends to the amount of state expenditures plus costs that the responsible party would have incurred if the party had fully implemented cleanup actions as required by state law, up to a maximum of $5 million. In the case, though, of parties who have failed to carry out cleanup actions after notice of the law's requirements, liability extends to twice the costs incurred by the state. This liability is in addition to imposed civil penalties, except that parties who have taken reasonable precautions to minimize spill impacts are exempt from the penalties.

House Bill 2068 directs state water officials to develop a tentative list of spill cleanup experts to be consulted for assistance in the event of an accident. The experts are themselves immune from related legal liability.

The measure specifies that in the case of facilities permitted under the Solid Waste Disposal Act, spills are to be handled, if possible, solely according to alternative response provisions established under permits issued under that act.

Miscellaneous

SENATE BILL 577
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Santiesteban
HOUSE SPONSOR: Danburg

Before amendment by Senate Bill 577, state law prohibited certain activities relating to the removal of endangered, threatened, or protected plants, unless one: (1) has a permit from the Parks and Wildlife Department, in the case of plants on public land; or (2) has the permission of the landowner, in the case of plants on private land. Senate Bill 577 amends this law to require a department permit in case (2) as well as case (1). Permit applications relating to plants on private land must contain the written consent of the landowner, and each plant authorized by the permit must have a tag, at a fee of $1 a plant, to be attached until its transplantation at the ultimate delivery site. The tagging fee is waived for plants that are planted and cultivated expressly for commercial harvest. Permit requirements, whether for public or private lands, are revised to apply also to persons who hire others for purposes of plant removal activities. Fines for illegal activities remain at $25-$200, except that each plant now constitutes a separate offense. Moreover, Senate Bill 577 authorizes higher penalties for those who hire others for illegal activities. The penalty for these hirees is a fine of $200-$1,000, or 180 days' confinement, or both, with each plant constituting a separate offense. Another amendment provides for the distribution by the department to law enforcement officials and to the public of pictures and other educational information concerning endangered, threatened, or protected plants.

SENATE BILL 699
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Lyon
HOUSE SPONSOR: McWilliams

This act affects the regulation by the Railroad Commission of Texas of iron ore and iron ore gravel mining and reclamation operations. In giving the commission that authority in 1983, the legislature exempted from regulation operations that were then in progress as well as operations that are confined to tracts of five acres or less. The new act extends the first exemption to operations in progress as of September 1, 1985. It changes the second exemption to exclude from regulation tracts of 20 acres or less where mining is at very shallow depths and is authorized by a landowner receiving compensating damages.
Current law allows the establishment of sand dune protection lines by county commissioners courts along barrier islands and mainland peninsulas fronting the Gulf of Mexico, except for (1) barrier islands and peninsulas lying south of the Mansfield Channel; (2) those inaccessible by road or ferry; or (3) segments of either within the boundaries of national or state parks. Senate Bill 793 extends that authority, with the same exceptions, to mainland shorelines fronting the gulf and not located on a barrier island or peninsula.
FAMILY LAW

Child abuse and family violence were the subjects of several legislative enactments in 1985. Senate Bill 371 establishes funding, supported by an increase in marriage license fees, for development of plans and programs to mitigate child abuse and neglect. House Bills 986 and 987 provide for inclusion in teacher and police training programs, respectively, of curricula dealing with child abuse and neglect recognition. Senate Bill 48 in the human services chapter enables screening mechanisms to help deter instances of child abuse at day-care facilities. Several measures in the criminal justice chapter also deal with child abuse.

Other measures enhance protections afforded the victims of family violence including child abuse and neglect. Senate Bill 869 gives law enforcement personnel greater authority in cases of family violence investigations to arrest or restrain abusers. It places a priority on the immediate protection of victims, deference to family relations notwithstanding. House Bill 2423 allows certain officials, in cases of emergency and prior to obtaining a court order, to take possession of children suspected to be victims of sexual abuse. It also enacts a mandatory requirement that professionals who suspect an incidence of child abuse or neglect promptly file a report on the matter.

The 69th Legislature passed legislation on other aspects of family law, as well. Senate Bill 1175 modifies child support laws that were the subject of recent state and federal legislation, and Senate Bill 553 authorizes volunteer advocates to represent children in family-related lawsuits.

This act also establishes the children's trust fund and the council on child abuse and neglect prevention operating fund in the state treasury.

In addition, the marriage license fee and the fee for the declaration of an informal marriage are increased from $7.50 to $25. In addition, the officers must present the victims with written notice of available legal remedies and community services available to them. only if the replacement or relocation of the water laterals were done in conjunction with or immediately following the replacement or relocation of the water main serving the property. The owner of the property on which the water laterals are located would be required to repay the municipality, with interest, for the cost of the replacement or relocation. The abolition would take effect on January 1, 1986.

The county surveyor's office in a county covered by the proposed constitutional amendment takes effect if the amendment is adopted at the statewide election and if the abolition is approved by the voters in the counties. A separate election will be necessary in each of the affected counties at which the local voters will be permitted to make a final decision on the matter. The abolition would take effect on the approval of the abolition at the local election.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION 27          HOUSE AUTHOR: Stiles
FOR ELECTION: 11-5-85                    SENATE SPONSOR: Parker

The Texas Constitution was amended in 1983 to prescribe certain numbers of justice of the peace precincts for all Texas counties, depending on the population. In Chambers County, the number of justice precincts as warranted by the population is from two to five. Chambers County is a coastal county that has a large amount of tourist traffic and short-term visitors in the beach communities, and the justice courts therefore handle a greater than usual number of minor traffic violation cases.

House Joint Resolution 27 would amend the constitution to let Chambers County have from two to six justice precincts, regardless of the county's population. The amendment, if approved, would take effect January 1, 1986.

HOUSE BILL 1240
EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85

In the past the civil service commissions of certain counties were restricted from making or enforcing a rule that would require retirement at any age below 70. This act prohibits the making of a rule requiring retirement at any age and grants a commission rulemaking authority to establish a system where an employee, on reaching an age set by the commission, must submit an annual physician’s affidavit that certifies to sound physical and mental health.

House Bill 1240 also grants authority to the voters of a county having a population in excess of 800,000 to determine whether to dissolve the system or to expand the existing county civil service system to cover employees not previously covered, such as employees of the district attorney’s office, juvenile probation office, or county auditor’s office.

In addition, a department head covered by a county civil service system is made responsible for the hiring of all employees within the department. These employees are subject to a six-month initial probationary period at the end of which they shall either be terminated or hired as permanent employees and, as such, they shall then be entitled to coverage by the county civil service system.

SENATE BILL 245

These contract deputy services will be paid for on a fee basis determined by the county commissioners court, and fees collected shall be deposited in the general fund of the county.

Either the sheriff, or with the sheriff’s consent, a constable, could provide the service on request by the county commissioners court. A deputy performing under a contract will remain a county employee subject to the same benefits and restrictions as any other deputy.

If such a contract for law enforcement includes any area within a municipality, the county must provide a copy of the pending contract to the municipality. The municipality may approve or disapprove the contract. The county may not enter the contract if the municipality disapproves the contract.

Senate Bill 449 requires a county officer to deposit funds with the county treasurer within seven business days of receipt. This time limit can be extended up to 30 days by the commissioners court in counties with a population less than 50,000. This act permits the county treasurer to issue a duplicate to replace a lost or destroyed check, provided that the owner of the original check has filed an affidavit with the county treasurer stating that the check was lost.

County commissioners of counties with a population of 200,000 or more will be permitted to enter into a new contract with a local bank for the deposit of county funds annually and will be required to enter into a new contract at least biannually.

This act authorizes county treasurers to invest in security repurchase agreements involving securities of specified U.S. government entities, and allows a county treasurer to collect a fee of $15 for a returned check, a fee of $15 for placing a stop-payment order on a county check, and a fee of $1 a page for making copies of records.

SENATE BILL 108
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

SENATE BILL 446
EFFECTIVE: 5-22-85

SENATE BILL 615
EFFECTIVE: 6-11-85

SENATE BILL 620
EFFECTIVE: 6-6-85

Senate Bill 549 amends various statutes relating to taking bids for the purchase of equipment, materials, and supplies for the construction and maintenance of county roads. The statutes are amended to increase the purchase amount exempt from competitive bidding from $1,000 to $5,000.

The amendment of the County Road and Bridge Act is effective September 1, 1985. Other provisions of Senate Bill 549 are effective August 26, 1985.

Senate Bill 807 enacts the County Purchasing Act to clarify, consolidate, and repeal various Texas laws regarding county purchasing. This act sets forth procedures that all Texas counties must follow in making contracts for the purchase of any service, equipment, goods, or tangible or intangible property for which payment will be made from current funds or bond funds or through the issuance of time warrants. This act consolidates statutes relating to competitive bidding requirements for county purchases on items that exceed $5,000 in value. The county commissioners court is allowed to make exceptions to the competitive bidding requirement to protect public health or property, as well as for any personal or professional service, any right-of-way, or any item available from only one source. County commissioners courts may use an alternative competitive bidding procedure for purchases of insurance or high-technology items. The competitive bidding requirements of this act also include notice procedures, opening of bids, contract awards, pricing, time warrant elections, changes in specifications, injunctive relief for taxpayers, and a criminal penalty for a violation.

Other Legislation

Under the provisions of Senate Bill 108, the proceeds from the sale of a county hospital and the interest accrued on the proceeds may be deposited into a special fund that shall be used for the sole purpose of providing health care services to the residents of the county, including those citizens who are indigent. Any sale proceeds or interest not deposited in the special fund shall be deposited into the county's general fund.

The Texas Department of Community Affairs administers federal grant funds under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 to assist local governments wishing to engage in community and economic development projects. Legal questions have arisen regarding the authority of county governments to enter into various community and economic projects. Senate Bill 446 gives statutory authority to a commissioners court to engage in a community and economic development project as authorized under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 and other similar federal laws. This act does not authorize a commissioners court to exercise any ordinance-making authority not otherwise authorized by state law.

Currently, regular meetings of the commissioners courts are held on the second Monday of each month. At these meetings, certain items of business may be discussed that may not be broached at any other meeting of the court. In reality, the commissioners courts routinely meet as often as once a week. This act amends provisions of the law relating to regular terms of commissioners courts to permit any business of the court that is required by law to be conducted at any meeting of the court that is held routinely and periodically.

Senate Bill 620 sets out provisions under which a county or group of counties may contract with public or private alcoholism prevention, intervention, or treatment programs or centers to provide public health services for persons suffering from alcoholism or at risk of becoming alcoholics.
SENATE BILL 764
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

Current Texas law requires that when a county official picks up an estray, the sheriff must publish two advertisements in a locally circulated newspaper and make a concerted effort to locate the owner. Fifteen days after the appearance of the second advertisement, the county has title to the animal and the sheriff must sell the animal in a public auction that has been licensed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

This act shortens the period the county must wait to take title over the animal to three days and permits such stray animals to be sold at a sheriff’s sale as well as at a public auction.

SENATE BILL 1378
EFFECTIVE: 6-12-85

Senate Bill 1378 permits a county clerk, county recorder, or clerk of a county court to consolidate, index, and cross-index certain records not on microfilm.

House Bill 46 provides for local option elections, on petition, to allow counties to adopt zoning and building construction ordinances for areas around lakes that have a storage capacity of more than one million acre-feet and that are owned by a political subdivision of the state. The act does not apply to reservoirs formed by impoundment of salt water or brackish water, or to lakes in existence before the adoption of this act. The measure was introduced in response to a lake currently being constructed in Navarro and Freestone counties.

HOUSE BILL 556
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

House Bill 556 provides authority for county, precinct, and municipal officers to accept credit card payments for fees, fines, court costs, and other charges; to collect fees for processing the credit card payments; and to assess service charges for payments not honored by credit card companies. The act also provides for contracts with credit card companies to allow the public officials to collect or seize unauthorized cards.

HOUSE BILL 895
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

Under current law a county may establish and operate a veterans county service office only with the approval of the commissioners court. House Bill 895 mandates that a county with a population of 200,000 or more maintain and operate a veterans county service office. This office must be separate and distinct from other county offices and must be staffed by at least one full-time employee.

HOUSE BILL 1401

It directs county historical commissions to compile county registers of historical places and memorabilia and authorizes the commissions, with the approval of the county commissioners courts, to designate historical trails and special areas of historical interest. County commissioners courts are authorized to make agreements with governmental agencies and private organizations concerning historical preservation measures. County commissioners courts are also authorized to establish programs in which county historical commissions review and make recommendations concerning property tax exemptions for historical sites. Persons who receive exemptions under the programs must notify the county historical commissions of any plans to change the property.

HOUSE BILL 2302

HOUSE AUTHOR: Delco
SENATE SPONSOR: Barrientos

Current law does not allow counties to exchange real estate belonging to the county for real estate belonging to private entities or individuals. This act allows counties to make such exchanges provided the land is for public use and no county land could be exchanged for less than fair market value, as determined by an appraisal obtained by the county and that a county publish notice of a proposed exchange of land. An exchange transaction under this act may be partly for cash and partly for the trade or exchange of the real estate interest.
GOVERNMENT—GENERAL

This chapter summarizes legislation that affects more than one level of government. Legislation of note includes the Cultural Education Facilities Financing Act (Senate Bill 700), a law removing restrictions on the regulation of certain sexually oriented businesses (Senate Bill 106), and a law authorizing use of unmarked vehicles by specified city and county officials (House Bill 61).

Finance

SENATE AUTHOR: McFarland
HOUSE SPONSOR: Wallace
EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85

Senate Bill 700, the Cultural Education Facilities Finance Corporation Act, authorizes a city or county to establish a public corporation for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, improving, and financing cultural facilities for public purposes. These corporations are to be created and organized in the same manner and have the same powers with respect to cultural facilities as health facilities development corporations with respect to health facilities.

SENATE BILL 901
SENATE AUTHOR: Brown
HOUSE SPONSOR: Harrison
EFFECTIVE: 6-8-85

Under previous law, governmental entities were not allowed to refinance bond debts except in the case of revenue bonds. The advantages of refinancing are lower interest rates and more convenient schedules for repayment. Senate Bill 901 provides for the refinancing of tax-supported and other types of bonds. The act also specifies the procedures for the approval, issuance, and payment of refunding bonds.

SENATE BILL 903
SENATE AUTHOR: Brown
HOUSE SPONSOR: Robnett
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

Under previous law, the issuance of commercial paper or other short-term notes for public improvements were heavily restricted with regard to the types of governmental entities which could become issuers and the types of improvements for which the issued notes could be used. Senate Bill 903 reduces restrictions so that these notes may be used for any purpose for which an issuer may issue bonds.

SENATE BILL 1153
SENATE AUTHOR: Uribe
HOUSE SPONSOR: Laney
EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85

Senate Bill 1153 provides procedures for determining the net effective interest rate on compounding obligations on public securities.

HOUSE BILL 1936
HOUSE AUTHOR: Ragsdale
SENATE SPONSOR: Mauzy
EFFECTIVE: 6-10-85

The governmental agency that has title or property rights to land under the elevated portion of a freeway may lease the area for parking. House Bill 1936 directs that the revenue earned from the leases be used for general governmental purposes.

Law Enforcement

SENATE BILL 35
SENATE AUTHOR: McFarland
HOUSE SPONSOR: C. Evans
EFFECTIVE: 4-16-85

Senate Bill 35 allows a law enforcement agency of an airport operated by two municipalities and situated in two counties to enter into interlocal assistance agreements with any neighboring municipality or contiguous county to form a law enforcement task force. This act would apply to the Dallas-Fort Worth regional airport.

SENATE BILL 106
SENATE AUTHOR: Henderson
HOUSE SPONSOR: A. Smith
EFFECTIVE: 4-3-85

A sexually oriented business licensed to sell alcoholic beverages was previously exempt from certain provisions of city and county ordinances regulating the location of such a business. Instead, these businesses were regulated under the Alcoholic Beverage Code. Senate Bill 106 authorizes a city or county to impose uniform restrictions on sexually oriented businesses regardless of whether they are licensed to sell alcoholic beverages. The act also amends the current law to ensure that the same penalty, a Class B misdemeanor, will apply to violations of city and county ordinances regulating the location of these businesses.

SENATE BILL 829
EFFECTIVE: 6-12-85

Senate Bill 829 allows a home-rule city of 380,000 or more to contract with the Department of Public Safety, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, and a county tax assessor-collector for assistance in reducing the number of outstanding warrants for traffic and parking violations. A city may arrange for a motorist’s driver’s license to be revoked or prohibit the registering of a vehicle in the subject’s name through the use of these contracts. A city engaged in contracts under this act is required to issue a written warning of the ramifications of this act at the time of the issuance of the citation.

Bidding Procedures and Purchasing

HOUSE BILL 275
EFFECTIVE: 7-1-86

House Bill 275 enacts new law requiring political subdivisions and state agencies to remit payments for goods and services within a specified time limit or face interest penalties of one percent per month on late payments. Vendors who receive payment from a governmental entity are also required to pay subcontractors and subcontractors are required to pay suppliers within a specified time limit or face interest penalties.

The act sets forth procedures for handling disputed payments and exemptions to the time limits. The State Purchasing and General Services Commission shall adopt rules to implement the act.

HOUSE BILL 620
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

Various states have statutes that require an out-of-state contractor to submit a bid that is lower than a set percentage of the lowest resident contractor’s bid in order to be considered for the contract. House Bill 620 authorizes government agencies of the state to require a nonresident contractor to underbid a resident contractor by the same percentage required of a nonresident contractor in the contractor’s home state. A contractor whose ultimate parent company is located in Texas is exempt from this requirement.

HOUSE BILL 916
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

House Bill 916 prohibits bids submitted on public works contracts from being altered in any fashion once opened.

HOUSE BILL 917
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

House Bill 917 exempts interests in land from bidding and publication requirements when being conveyed by a political subdivision to a governmental entity having the power of eminent domain.

Enterprise Zones

SENATE BILL 435
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

The Texas Enterprise Zone Act was passed by the 68th Legislature in 1983 to provide for the creation of enterprise zones and to enable the state to compete for federal enterprise zone awards. Senate Bill 435, in an attempt to clarify key terms, defines urban and rural areas and modifies the zone application process. The Enterprise Zone Board shall prescribe an application period and shall follow certain procedures for the processing of applications received. The requirement that one-third of the zone designations be rural is changed to two-fifths unless there are not enough qualified applications. Preference is to be given to high unemployment areas and areas which have made the greatest efforts to encourage economic activity including the adoption of tax abatement or tax increment financing programs and the creation of foreign trade zones.

Senate Bill 435 also provides for the reimbursement to board members of traveling expenses incurred on official business. Conflict of interest provisions are added for board members who represent cities or have financial interests in proposed enterprise zones.

HOUSE BILL 1225

HOUSE AUTHORITY: Blackwood
SENATE SPONSOR: Harris

House Bill 1225 provides for the continuation of procedures for the allocation of the state ceiling on certain housing bonds to the Texas Housing Agency and local housing finance corporations. The act amends previous law by replacing specific years for allocation with annual allocation. The method by which a reservation of local share lapses is changed from expiring 45 days from the date of the request to 90 days from the date of issuance of the certificate of reservation. The executive director of the Texas Department of Community Affairs shall certify all certificates and set fees.

Miscellaneous

HOUSE AUTHORITY: A. Smith
SENATE SPONSOR: Montford

House Joint Resolution 73 proposes a constitutional amendment to allow political subdivisions to purchase mutual insurance. The amendment will allow the use of public funds or credit for the payment of premiums on nonassessable life, health, or accident insurance policies and annuity contracts issued by a mutual insurance company authorized to do business in the state.

HOUSE BILL 61

HOUSE AUTHORITY: Eckels
SENATE SPONSOR: Brown

House Bill 61 provides that governing bodies of cities and county commissioners courts may authorize certain city and county employees to use unmarked vehicles while performing official duties. HOUSE BILL 1241

HOUSE AUTHORITY: Ceverha
SENATE SPONSOR: Mauzy

Previous law required that original political subdivision records that have been duplicated photographically not be destroyed until they were at least five years old and then only with the consent of the state librarian. House Bill 1241 removes the five-year time limit.
GOVERNMENT—SPECIAL DISTRICTS

The 69th Legislature authorized 49 new special-law water districts and provided for the creation of a new type of general-law water district, the stormwater control district (House Bill 1702). Water districts were also affected by legislation summarized elsewhere in this publication. House Bill 1583 subjects river authorities to review under the Texas Sunset Act. Senate Bill 249 creates a Water District and River Authority Study Committee to evaluate the manner of district creation as well as the district role in overall state water management. It also modifies state law pertaining to the reclamation plans of levee improvement districts. House Bill 2, the major water bill of the session, extensively amends the Water Code with respect to districts for underground water conservation. House Bill 1583 and Senate Bill 249 are found in the chapter on government—sunset legislation, immediately following; House Bill 2, in the chapter on environment.

Among hospital district enactments, the major measure was a proposed constitutional amendment to allow the legislature greater discretion in defining districts' individual responsibilities (House Joint Resolution 89). The legislature amended a 1983 law pertaining to emergency communication districts, to allow their establishment in many more counties than before (Senate Bill 750). Amendments also affected transit authorities, road utility districts, and rural fire prevention districts.

Water Districts

Article III, Section 52, and Article XVI, Section 59, of the Texas Constitution provide for the creation of various types of water districts. Many of these districts may be created under general law, on petition to the Texas Water Commission or a county commissioners court, followed by voter approval in a confirmation election. As of 1985, Texas statutes authorized 13 types of general-law water districts: water control and improvement districts, underground water conservation districts, freshwater supply districts, municipal utility districts, water improvement districts, drainage districts, levee improvement districts, irrigation districts, navigation districts, water import authorities, special utility districts, water power control districts, and water control and preservation districts.

Alternatively, the legislature may create water districts by special law, conferring on each district its own powers, sometimes including combinations of powers that are applicable to the different types of general-law districts. Creation by special law gives rise to additional varieties of water districts such as river authorities, flood control districts, utility and reclamation districts, and others. Collectively, special-law and general-law districts created under Article XVI, Section 59 (comprising the vast majority of newer districts), are often referred to as conservation and reclamation districts.

The following enactments amend general-law water district statutes:

SENATE BILL 90
EFFECTIVE: 2-5-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Uribe
HOUSE SPONSOR: Oliveira

This act temporarily suspends uniform election dates that are established by state law, for purposes of special-district elections that are held to confirm creation of navigation districts, authorize levy of maintenance taxes, and approve issuance of bonds. The intent of the suspension was to allow a timely election in Cameron County to finance dredging operations as part of Brownsville's bid for a new naval base that was proposed for the Gulf Coast. (See House Bill 955 in the chapter on appropriations.) The act expires September 1, 1985.

SENATE BILL 618
SENATE AUTHOR: Sharp
HOUSE SPONSOR: Riley

Enacted in response to a state appeals court decision denying related bond issuances, Senate Bill 618 reaffirms and amplifies the authority of a general-law municipal utility district to develop and maintain recreational facilities. While validating all prior actions of this nature undertaken by existing districts, the new legislation prohibits future bond issues for recreational facilities and provides instead that a district use other statutory financing mechanisms including the optional charging of fees to recreational facility users. A district board must by rule establish (1) standards for recreational facilities and for the allocation of funds for their development and maintenance and (2) procedures to ensure that proposed recreational facilities are not duplicative of similar facilities offered by other governmental entities.

SENATE BILL 1272
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Henderson
HOUSE SPONSOR: Pennington
This act authorizes regional districts, to be limited to Harris County or bordering counties, for the provision of water, sanitary sewer, and wastewater drainage services. It establishes procedures by which (1) a county, (2) a city, (3) two or more municipal-type districts (i.e., a municipal utility district, water control and improvement district, or freshwater supply district), or (4) certain landowners may petition the Texas Water Commission for creation of such a district. A city whose corporate limits or extraterritorial jurisdiction is included in a proposed district can veto the territory's inclusion unless, following its veto, the city is unable to reach an agreement with petitioners to provide to the petitioners the necessary water, sewer, and drainage services. The commission rules on creation of a proposed district, but any bond issues of a district must be approved at a confirmation election. Other provisions describe organizational and administrative matters pertaining to a regional district.

HOUSE BILL 181
EFFECTIVE: 11-15-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Gibson
SENATE SPONSOR: Glasgow
In 1983 the legislature authorized creation of a new type of general-law water district, the special utility district, formed by the conversion of a private water supply corporation. House Bill 181 reenacts the special utility district law to correct some legal problems and allows the conversion of water supply corporations in operation on or before January 1, 1985. It also adds electric distribution lines to the list of facilities that a district must pay to relocate whenever relocation is forced by the district's exercise of its power of eminent domain.

HOUSE BILL 993
EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Hinojosa
SENATE SPONSOR: Uribe
This act permits the exclusion of certain urban property from a conservation and reclamation district with the principal purpose of supplying water for agricultural irrigation of property that is located within a city's corporate boundaries or extraterritorial jurisdiction and that has been subdivided for residential or other nonagricultural purposes. The act describes procedures for implementing an exclusion, which can be initiated by the district board of directors or by the owners of the urban property. As a prerequisite to exclusion, urban property owners must pay any accrued taxes or other owed monetary amounts, as well as a proportionate share of the district's outstanding debt and a negotiated sum intended to compensate the district for loss of future revenue. Exclusions, moreover, must not deny necessary access or connective facilities required to provide water to properties remaining in the district. Once the property has been excluded, the city or other municipal water supplier can seek a proportionate share of the water rights that previously had been awarded to the district, but must pay all administrative expenses involved in the conversion of those water rights.

HOUSE BILL 1560
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Shaw
SENATE SPONSOR: Santiesteban
House Bill 1560 allows a general-law water control and improvement district to issue refunding bonds provided that certain conditions are met. Refunding bonds must mature within 40 years of issuance and must be approved by the attorney general and registered by the comptroller of public accounts. In addition, the district must deposit for repayment of the original bonds (1) the proceeds from the sale of the refunding bonds and (2) other funds as are necessary to pay the principal of and interest on the original bonds. In lieu of the procedures specified in House Bill 1560, however, a district may refund its debts according to the general state laws on the subject.

HOUSE BILL 1572
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Gibson
SENATE SPONSOR: Glasgow
This act makes changes relating to general-law freshwater supply districts. It eliminates interest limitations and other restrictions applicable to repayment of district obligations, providing merely that a district may repay borrowed money with water and sewer revenue. Also, the act raises from $2,400 to $10,000 the maximum salary for a district assessor and collector and dispenses with a fixed salary ceiling for a district engineer. Finally, the act raises from $1,000 to $2,000 the threshold for contracts requiring bid advertisements.
HOUSE BILL 1577
HOUSE AUTHOR:  Shaw
EFFECTIVE:  9-1-85
SENATE SPONSOR:  Sims

This act entitles a director of a water power control district to compensation at a rate not to exceed $50 per day of district service.

HOUSE AUTHOR:  Eckels
EFFECTIVE:  9-1-85
SENATE SPONSOR:  Brown

With the enactment of House Bill 1702, the legislature adds Chapter 66 to the Water Code authorizing a new type of general-law water district, the stormwater control district. Such a district, which may be created in contiguous or noncontiguous areas encompassing all or a portion of a watershed, has powers to construct regional stormwater retention and detention pond facilities, as well as drainage ditches and similar improvements, to prevent area and downstream flooding. When the regional retention and detention pond facilities are not holding water, a district may use the land on which they lie as parks and recreational areas.

Prior to land acquisition and facility construction, a district must submit a detailed plan for review and comment by the county commissioners courts in all counties in which all or part of the district is located. The Texas Water Commission thereupon exercises ultimate authority to order any modifications and to approve the plan. Public works undertaken by a district may be supported by an annual levy of taxes sufficient to repay bonds that have previously been approved by the district electorate. On completion of facilities described in its plan and retirement of all related debt, a district initiates proceedings to dissolve itself and to transfer jurisdiction over the facilities to the appropriate county or counties. Other organizational provisions are similar to those of other types of general-law water districts.

HOUSE BILL 2248
HOUSE AUTHOR:  Tallas
EFFECTIVE:  6-11-85
SENATE SPONSOR:  Sharp

House Bill 2248, in a manner similar to the previously noted House Bill 1560, allows a general-law levee improvement district to issue refunding bonds. The same conditions apply. Again, in lieu of the procedures established by the new legislation, a district may instead refund its debt under other procedures set by state law.

HOUSE BILL 2290
HOUSE AUTHOR:  Guerrero
EFFECTIVE:  8-26-85
SENATE SPONSOR:  Barrientos

Provisions of the Water Code applicable to general-law municipal utility districts require a city’s consent to the inclusion within a district of any land within the city’s extraterritorial jurisdiction (ETJ). A city, in granting its consent, may set certain restrictions on district activities relating to the ETJ. This one-time consent procedure has sometimes proven inflexible, however, and as an alternative House Bill 2290 authorizes the creation of a particular type of municipal utility district known as a regional plan implementation agency. Such an agency, which may be created only in connection with the planning efforts of a regional planning commission and then only at city request, is authorized to negotiate recurring contractual agreements with each city whose ETJ falls within agency boundaries. The agreements must be renegotiated each time the agency proposes a new bond issuance and must itemize agency facilities that are proposed to be funded via the bond issuance and specify which of those are part of the regional plan and which are not. The former, whose capacity may be larger than currently necessary to take into account anticipated growth, may be constructed by or ultimately conveyed to the city. The latter, whose financing is the responsibility of the agency, must not be inconsistent with the regional plan. House Bill 2290 describes procedures for petitioning to create a regional plan implementation agency. It grants to an agency the various powers of general-law municipal utility districts, except where its own provisions differ, and reaffirms that any bond issuances proposed by this type of district must be approved by voters.

The following enactments rename, reorganize, or modify the authority of individual existing districts, grouped alphabetically:

HOUSE AUTHOR:  Smithee

Hospital Districts

Article IX, Sections 4 and 9, of the Texas Constitution provides for the creation of countywide and multicounty hospital districts, respectively. Other constitutional provisions provide for the creation of hospital districts in particular locales. The creation of individual districts must be authorized by special enactment of the legislature, but may be affected by other laws of broader scope or general applicability.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION 89
FOR ELECTION: 11-5-85

Article IX, Section 9, of the Texas Constitution authorizes the legislature to provide by law, contingent on a confirmation election, for hospital districts having power to issue bonds and to levy taxes up to 75 cents on the $100 valuation of all taxable property in the district. Any district so created assumes full responsibility for providing medical and hospital care for needy inhabitants within its boundaries. The constitutional amendment proposed by House Joint Resolution 89 allows the legislature in creating a district to further clarify that responsibility by specifying required health care services, requirements a resident must meet to qualify for the services, and other relevant regulatory provisions.

HOUSE BILL 1064
EFFECTIVE: 4-25-85

House Bill 1064 grants a temporary exemption from a statutory requirement that general and special elections be held on one of four uniform election dates. The practical effect of the exemption, which expires September 1, 1985, is to allow a hospital district confirmation election in Chambers County in advance of a scheduled hospital closing there.
Before amendment by House Bill 1728, state law authorized countywide hospital districts in certain counties to enter into revenue anticipation agreements to pay annual operating and maintenance expenses, an alternative that is cheaper than other forms of borrowing. Qualifying counties included those having a population of one million or more and containing a hospital district in its boundaries with taxation powers exercised by the county commissioners court and with teaching hospital facilities affiliated with state-owned medical schools. House Bill 1728 lowers the applicable population threshold to 450,000 and extends the power to counties containing districts having hospital affiliations with private medical schools. Whereas before, monthly advances made to a district under an agreement were limited to the shortfall between received revenue and income and accumulated unpaid expenses, the amendment by House Bill 1728 allows advances equal to that shortfall plus those operating reserves as may be reasonably required for one month.

The following enactments modify the authority of specific hospital districts, grouped alphabetically:

HOUSE AUTHOR: Laney
SENATE SPONSOR: Sarpalious
EFFECTIVE: 6-4-85

This bill expands the authority of the Castro County Hospital District board of directors regarding hospital property, facilities, and equipment. The board may provide for ambulance services, outpatient clinics, convalescent homes, and other treatment facilities and equipment. The board may operate or contract for the operation of those facilities, lease hospital facilities, mortgage or pledge district property, facilities, or equipment as security for the payment of their purchase price, and sell or otherwise dispose of district property, facilities, or equipment.

HOUSE BILL 1248
HOUSE AUTHOR: Granoff
SENATE SPONSOR: Lyon
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

Under House Bill 1248, the Dallas County Hospital District board of managers is authorized to employ and commission peace officers with full powers of arrest for offenses committed on, or involving injury to, hospital district property.

HOUSE BILL 2405
HOUSE AUTHOR: Hightower
SENATE SPONSOR: Blake
EFFECTIVE: 6-12-85

House Bill 2405 expands the authority of the board of managers of the Livingston Hospital District of Polk County, Texas, to enable the establishment and maintenance of facilities and equipment as are necessary to provide adequate hospital care. The board is authorized to operate or contract for the operation of its facilities, lease hospital facilities, mortgage or pledge district property, facilities, or equipment as security for their purchase price, and sell or otherwise dispose of district properties. Also, the bill authorizes the district’s board of hospital managers to order a nonbinding district referendum to assess voter opinion on the alternatives of selling the current hospital or issuing general obligation bonds for its support.

HOUSE BILL 1333
HOUSE AUTHOR: Uher
SENATE SPONSOR: Sharp
EFFECTIVE: 6-15-85

House Bill 1333 authorizes the Matagorda County Hospital District to issue revenue bonds. Revenue bonds are limited in purpose to the acquisition of hospital sites and to the financing of hospital buildings and improvements, although their issuance would not require a district election. The legislation removes a requirement that voters in elections to authorize general obligation bonds own taxable property in the district. It also raises the allowable interest rate on general obligation bonds from six percent to the maximum interest rate allowed by law.

SENATE BILL 1336
SENATE AUTHOR: Blake
HOUSE SPONSOR: McKinney
EFFECTIVE: 6-12-85

Under this act, the Montgomery County Hospital District is conferred authority, the same as is applicable to cities and counties, to issue certificates of obligation for purposes of public works construction. Also, the district is authorized upon its declaration of an emergency to issue one-year tax anticipation notes at the interest rate authorized by general law. The notes can be used to borrow money for any purpose for which the district is authorized to levy taxes. The act deletes provisions relating to (1) a district board of equalization, (2) the execution of a performance bond by the district administrator or manager, and (3) certain requirements relating to leasing land owned by the district for a period greater than 25 years. It specifies that district directors serve two-year terms expiring on the second Tuesday in May.

The 69th Legislature provided for three new hospital districts and the dissolution of an existing hospital district, each contingent on voter approval. These districts are grouped alphabetically:

If the election proposition to dissolve the district fails, an election on the proposition could not be held earlier than 48 months from the date of the first election on the proposition. If the proposition succeeds, the Refugio County Commissioners Court is directed to provide for the establishment and administration of a hospital system.

Indigent Health Care Districts

Senate Joint Resolution 29, which failed of adoption by the 69th Legislature, would have proposed a constitutional amendment authorizing a new form of special district, the indigent health care district.

SENATE BILL 1335
EFFECTIVE: see below
SENATE AUTHORIZATION: Parker
HOUSE SPONSOR: Collazo
This act, which would have authorized creation of the Jefferson County Indigent Health Care District, was dependent on the constitutional amendment proposed by Senate Joint Resolution 29 and hence has no effect.

Transit Authorities

Texas has two laws dealing with transit authorities. One pertains to Houston and certain other metropolitan areas of a minimum population size. The other, adapted to a special bicounty situation, pertains to the Dallas-Fort Worth regional area.

SENATE BILL 440
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
SENATE AUTHORIZATION: Traeger
HOUSE SPONSOR: Sutton
This act amends state law pertaining to metropolitan rapid transit authorities now existing in the Houston, San Antonio, and Austin areas and authorized, but not existing, in the Corpus Christi area. One change concerns the cities that may participate in an authority. If an authority extends even partially into a county, eligibility for participation extends to any city in that county and any city in an adjacent county. Other changes authorize contracts and other agreements with a nonprofit corporation created by the authority's board, affect the appointment and terms of office of the board chair, raise from $5,000 to $10,000 the threshold above which contracts normally must be advertised for competitive bid, detail the circumstances under which otherwise applicable competitive bidding may be waived, and clarify certain liability limitations and contractual immunities relating to the authority.

SENATE BILL 1132
EFFECTIVE:  5-13-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Mauzy
HOUSE SPONSOR:  Cain

This act amends state law relating to operation of a regional transportation authority in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. The act makes three major changes: It (1) authorizes construction of electric generation facilities and supplementary or alternative contracts with electric utilities to furnish power for electric rail transportation services, (2) modifies election procedures relating to the withdrawal from an authority by a local governmental unit, and (3) elaborates on competitive bidding procedures to which an authority is subject.

HOUSE BILL 2236
EFFECTIVE: 6-10-85

HOUSE AUTHOR: Millsap
SENATE SPONSOR: McFarland

This act pertains to an existing state law allowing the creation, within the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area, of subregional transportation authorities serving the cities of Arlington and Grand Prairie, respectively. It authorizes either city to create a subregional authority as an alternative to participation in a larger regional authority. Specifically, the act authorizes creation of a subregional transportation authority if (1) creation of a regional authority fails voter confirmation, (2) a regional authority, once created, dissolves, or (3) the city elects to withdraw from a regional authority and to create a subregional one. The act, however, strengthens the control exercised by either Arlington or Grand Prairie over an authority's budget, service plan, sales and use tax rate, bond issuances, and executive committee appointees. Any bond or other document of indebtedness issued by the subregional transportation authority is solely its own and not the city's.

Road Utility Districts

In 1984, the 68th Legislature, in its 2nd Called Session, enacted the Road Utility District Act, authorizing a new type of special district identified as a road utility district. Such a district, with powers to build new roads financed by issuance of bonds, can be created subject to a confirmation election if it has the approval of the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission, surrounding cities and counties, and affected property owners. Road utility districts are patterned after municipal utility districts, except that facilities once built are turned over to the state, a county, or a city once the district's debts are retired.

HOUSE BILL 2433

HOUSE AUTHOR: Messer
SENATE SPONSOR: Sharp

House Bill 2433 amends the Road Utility District Act to enable any conservation and reclamation district having taxation powers and powers applicable to general-law municipal utility districts to convert to a road utility district on completion of specified procedures including a public hearing and district election. A second change, in cases where completed road utility district facilities are to be transferred to a single governmental entity, requires approval of the transferral by that entity, the district, and the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission. Other new provisions specify procedures for annexation of territory by a district, authorize under certain conditions a district's acquisition of facilities or property outside its boundaries, and authorize contracts with county governments by certain coastal conservation and reclamation districts having road utility district powers.

The 69th Legislature provided for the creation of two special-law road utility districts. Each also has certain characteristics of a water district, being conferred the powers of general-law levee improvement districts and municipal utility districts in addition to other enumerated powers.

SENATE BILL 1458
EFFECTIVE: 6-13-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Parker
HOUSE SPONSOR: Saunders

Senate Bill 1458 authorizes creation of the Bastrop County Reclamation, Road, and Utility District, No. 1, to include a portion of Bastrop County.
HOUSE BILL 2391
EFFECTIVE: 6-15-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Campbell
SENATE SPONSOR: McFarland

House Bill 2391 authorizes creation of the Denton County Reclamation, Road, and Utility District, to include a portion of Denton County.

Emergency Communication Districts

In 1983, the 68th Legislature authorized creation of an emergency communication district applicable to Harris County and to portions of Harris County cities extending into adjacent counties. The following year, in its 2nd Called Session, the same legislature authorized creation of such districts in Tarrant and Bexar counties. Within an emergency communication district, a system using a simple three-digit (9-1-1) number is established to enable rapid routing of a caller to fire-fighting, law enforcement, medical, or ambulance services.

SENATE BILL 750
EFFECTIVE: 6-6-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Sarpalius
HOUSE SPONSOR: Smithee

Senate Bill 750, the Emergency Telephone Number Act, expands the 9-1-1 concept, authorizing creation of an emergency communication district in any county having a population greater than 75,000 or in two or more counties, each of that minimum size, having a most populous city greater than 140,000 (e.g., Potter and Randall counties, or Dallas and Collin counties). The act establishes procedures for required confirmation elections and specifies the composition of the board of managers for a single-county or multiple-county district. Voters in creating a district must approve imposition of special fees, to be added to telephone bills, not to exceed three percent of the base telephone rates of the principal telephone service supplier within the district. A district's 9-1-1 system may be broadened to include such emergency services as poison control, suicide prevention, and civil defense.

SENATE BILL 851
EFFECTIVE: 6-15-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Parmer
HOUSE SPONSOR: C. Evans

Senate Bill 851 amends the 1984 Emergency Communication District Act applicable to Tarrant and Bexar counties, to clarify provisions relating to budget approvals and the splitting of confirmation election costs among participating localities. It also requires, in order to extend service within a locality to include poison control, suicide prevention, and civil defense, the approval of the district board of managers and the consent of the locality. Transmission of emergency response requests to private safety entities likewise requires this approval and consent.

HOUSE BILL 252
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Green
SENATE SPONSOR: Brooks

House Bill 252 amends current law relating to emergency communication districts operating 9-1-1 emergency telephone number systems. The act authorizes a district’s board to charge an incoming jurisdiction an additional amount of money to cover the start-up costs of providing the service to that jurisdiction. The act also revises provisions for the retirement of debt in the event a district is dissolved.

Rural Fire Prevention Districts

Article III, Section 48-d, of the Texas Constitution authorizes rural fire prevention districts. They may be created, under general law, contingent on a confirmation election. The 69th Legislature passed four bills amending the general laws applicable to rural fire prevention districts.

SENATE BILL 783
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Williams
HOUSE SPONSOR: Emmett

This act modifies provisions of state law relating to a proposed rural fire prevention district that extends into an incorporated city, to deal with the issue of a proposed district that extends into a city’s extraterritorial jurisdiction or an area designated by the city as an industrial district. In all three cases, a request for inclusion of the overlapping parcel within the district must be made to the city, which then has 60 days to grant its consent. Failing consent, voters and landowners in the parcel acting within 30 days may petition the city for provision of fire protection services. The city may agree to provide such services; otherwise, if it refuses service or fails to act on the petition within six months, the parcel is included in the confirmation election to create the district. Should parcel voters fail to confirm, however, the parcel is removed from inclusion within the district regardless of the decision of other voters participating in the election. Moreover, should a city at any time agree to provide fire protection services to an overlapping parcel that is part of a confirmed district, the district board of managers must cease activities there and redraw its boundaries so as to exclude the parcel.

HOUSE BILL 241
HOUSE AUTHOR: Toomey
SENATE SPONSOR: Henderson

This act resolves problems relating to the creation of rural fire prevention districts with overlapping boundaries. It requires the commissioners court of the county that includes the most recently created district to issue an order excluding from that district the overlapping territory. The act also exempts from payment of a district's ad valorem taxes a business entity that provides its own fire protection and meets certain fire-fighting performance and equipment standards.

HOUSE BILL 293
HOUSE AUTHOR: Toomey
SENATE SPONSOR: Henderson

This act requires the board of fire commissioners of a rural fire prevention district to submit for competitive bids expenditures in excess of $10,000. The act also provides for the selection of assistant treasurers by rural fire prevention districts.

HOUSE BILL 1846
HOUSE AUTHOR: Patronella
SENATE SPONSOR: Henderson

This act provides, in cases where the proposed creation of a rural fire prevention district has failed at the required confirmation election, that the county commissioners court may not order another confirmation election for at least a year.

Waste Disposal Authorities

HOUSE BILL 1697
HOUSE AUTHOR: Pennington
SENATE SPONSOR: Brown

This act modifies competitive bidding requirements relating to contracts of the Gulf Coast Waste Disposal Authority, to exempt construction contracts for disposal facilities that burn cities' waste to produce energy. The previous exemption applied only to facilities to burn waste from the city of Houston.
GOVERNMENT—STATE

This chapter covers legislation dealing with state government administration and organization except for that included in the chapters on sunset legislation, public officials and employees, taxes, and appropriations. While the legislature did not enact any major tax changes, it did enact an omnibus measure (House Bill 1593) that increased numerous kinds of fees collected by state agencies.

The 69th Legislature passed reforms to improve the administration and operation of the state auditor's office (Senate Bill 1246) and passed measures dealing with computerization in state government (House Bill 2375, Senate Bill 1171, and Senate Bill 811). The state open records act was affected by amendments relating to legislative records and communications (House Bill 1485). Among three proposed constitutional amendments described in this chapter is one to augment bonding authority for the veterans' housing assistance program (Senate Joint Resolution 9). The legislature created the Texas Music Commission (Senate Bill 190) and a six-year Texas Commission on Economy and Efficiency in State Government (House Bill 460). Changes in state agencies and advisory boards, from among the several chapters of this publication, are summarized in Appendix E.

In fiscal year 1977, fees and licenses provided 5.1 percent of total state revenue to all funds. In fiscal year 1984, fees and licenses provided only 4.3 percent of total state revenue. This act provides for the increase of more than 70 fees and the creation of about 60 new fees to generate revenues and to help finance state services. However, in the case of some fees, if it is determined that a fee is set at a level that produces revenue exceeding the administrative costs associated with the fee, an agency shall reduce the amount of the fee to an appropriate level.

Several of the fee increases that may be of interest to the general public are: (1) the fee for a personalized license plate, which is raised from $25 a set to $75 a set; (2) the fee for a duplicate driver's license, which is raised from $3 to $5; (3) the inspection fee for a motor vehicle, which is raised from $5.25 to $7.75; and (4) the fee for a driver's license, which is raised from $10 to $16. The fee increases imposed by this act are expected to generate during the 1986-87 biennium additional revenue of about $144 million for the state and $25 million for local governments.

GOVERNMENT—SUNSET LEGISLATION

The Texas Sunset Act provides for the recurring review of state agencies and advisory committees and for termination of the entities unless reauthorizing legislation is enacted. The Sunset Advisory Commission, established under the 1977 sunset act to assist the legislature in its decision to continue or abolish an agency, reviewed the operations of 31 agencies between 1983 and 1985. The legislature considered the commission’s recommendations concerning these agencies, allowed four agencies to be abolished, and made major revisions in the administrative structure and programs of a number of others.

The legislature has required the reorganization of the Texas Department of Water Resources (Senate Bill 249) and the reorganization and assumption of new programs by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism (Senate Bill 601). The enabling legislation providing for the operations of the Prosecutor Council, Texas Coastal and Marine Council, Texas Coordinating Commission for State Health and Welfare Services, and Texas Health Facilities Commission is allowed to expire on September 1, 1985. Provisions authorizing the governor to act on matters that were previously the responsibility of the Texas Health Facilities Commission and provisions concerning the continuing operations of the Occupational Safety Board may be found in the health department sunset act (House Bill 2091). Provisions concerning the Boards for Lease of State-Owned Lands are included in the sunset act relating to the School Land Board (Senate Bill 493). In House Bill 1585, the sunset dates for more than 50 agencies were changed in order to allow better management of the review procedure by the staff of the Sunset Advisory Commission.

The sunset evaluation process encourages the adoption of administrative and organizational reforms, many of which are standard and are applied to the legislation for most agencies. The general across-the-board provisions considered for the 1985 sunset legislation include: (1) requiring public membership on boards and commissions; (2) requiring specific provisions relating to conflicts of interest; (3) prohibiting registered lobbyists from serving as members or general counsels of boards; (4) requiring board appointments to be made without regard to race, color, handicap, sex, religion, age, or national origin of the appointee; (5) specifying grounds for removal of a board member; (6) requiring boards to make annual financial reports to the governor, state auditor, and legislature; (7) requiring boards to establish skill-oriented career ladders; (8) requiring a system of merit pay based on documented employee performance; (9) requiring the state auditor to audit the financial transactions of the boards; (10) providing for public notification and public information concerning board activities; (11) placing agency funds in the state treasury to ensure legislative review of agency expenditures through the appropriations process; (12) requiring files to be maintained on complaints; (13) requiring all parties to formal complaints to be periodically informed in writing concerning the status of the complaint; (14) authorizing agencies to set fees or to set fees within certain limits; (15) requiring the development of an equal employment opportunity policy; (16) requiring agencies to provide officers and employees with information concerning standards of conduct; (17) providing for public testimony at agency meetings; and (18) requiring public bodies of agencies to develop and implement policies which clearly separate board and staff functions. Across-the-board provisions that are applicable to agencies with licensing functions include: (1) requiring standard time frames for licensees who are delinquent in license renewal; (2) requiring notification of examination results within a reasonable period after the testing date; (3) providing for an analysis of examination results for persons who fail; (4) requiring licensing disqualifications to be easily determined and to be based on currently existing conditions; (5) providing for licensing by endorsement or reciprocity; (6) authorizing the staggered renewal of licenses; (7) authorizing agencies to use a full range of penalties; (8) specifying board hearing requirements; (9) allowing advertising and competitive bidding practices that are not deceptive or misleading; and (10) authorizing the boards to adopt systems of voluntary continuing education.

Department of Health

HOUSE BILL 2091

HOUSE AUTHOR: C. Evans

SENATE SPONSOR: Edwards

HOUSE BILL 2091 provides for the continuing operation of the Texas Department of Health and sets the biennium preceding September 1, 1997, as the period of its next sunset review. This act includes provisions regulating abortion facilities and allowing the governor to establish a capital expenditure review program, in place of the Texas Health Facilities Commission, if necessary for the receipt of federal funds.

The act clarifies and expands the functions of the board and department of health and includes general sunset provisions. It repeals statutory authorization for certain advisory committees and directs the board to create such committees as necessary.

Abortion Facilities

House Bill 2091 enacts the Texas Abortion Facility Reporting and Licensing Act. The act requires any abortion to be performed by physicians and all abortion facilities to be licensed. The board of health is directed to set minimum standards relating to qualification and supervision of personnel, medical treatment and medical services provided, sanitary and hygienic conditions, essential equipment, and clinical records and to set reasonable fees to defray the costs of administering the act. Facilities are required to submit annual reports to the department providing license information; patient's year of birth, race, marital status, and state and county of residence; type of abortion procedure; date of the abortion; whether the patient survived, and if necessary, cause of death; the period of gestation based on the best medical judgment of the attending physician; the date, if known of the patient's last menstrual cycle; the number of previous live births of the patient; and the number of previous induced abortions of the patient. The reports are confidential and shall not identify patients or physicians; "patient" is defined as a female on whom an abortion is performed, and is not to be construed to include a fetus. The department is authorized to collect fees and inspect facilities, and provisions concerning penalties are included. The act specifically provides that it does not "remove the responsibility or limit the ability of a physician to perform an abortion in an unlicensed facility if, at the commencement of the abortion, the physician reasonably believed that the abortion was necessary to prevent the death of the patient on whom the abortion was performed or to prevent serious impairment of the patient's physical or mental condition."

Health Facilities Review

The Texas Health Planning and Development Act is amended to authorize the governor to establish a capital expenditure review program in compliance with federal law if the governor finds that such a review program is necessary to prevent the loss of federal funds. The executive order establishing the program would be required to expire after the legislature meets in its next regular session.

Other Provisions

The department's responsibilities regarding the state health plan are clarified and it is specifically directed to collect information, including cost data, in order to facilitate and expedite proper and effective health planning and resource development. State agencies affected by recommendations in the state health plan are required to submit cost data to the health department. The governor is directed to appoint members to the 21-person Statewide Health Coordinating Council on September 1, 1985; the council is to provide rules and regulations governing the development and implementation of the state health plan.

The Crippled Children's Services Act is amended to change its name to the Disabled Children's Services Act and to authorize the department to expand eligibility considerations and to provide services for certain persons whose impaired condition incapacitates them for educational and occupational purposes. The services may be provided only if specific appropriations are included in the General Appropriations Act. (See also House Bill 2005 and Senate Bill 1052, summarized in the human services chapter of this publication.)

The statute concerning convalescent and nursing homes and related institutions is amended to clarify the health department's inspection authority. A nursing and convalescent home trust fund is created to make emergency assistance funds available to court-appointed trustees responsible for meeting the basic needs of residents of facilities that have been closed for violations of laws and regulations. HOUSE BILL 1581

HOUSE AUTHOR: C. Evans

SENATE SPONSOR: Edwards

The committee is authorized to investigate dental service programs operated or funded by the state, to conduct studies of the dental care delivery system in the state, and to conduct studies relating to the supply and demand for dental services, as well as to perform duties as imposed by the coordinating council. The governor is directed to appoint members to the committee.

The Sunset Commission recommended this change because the Texas Department of Health is not the only state agency now providing dental services.

Water Agencies

SENATE BILL 249

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Sharp

HOUSE SPONSOR: C. Evans

Senate Bill 249 provides for the continuing operation of the Texas Water Commission and the Texas Water Development Board, makes changes in their administrative structures, and transfers the responsibilities of the Texas Department of Water Resources to the Texas Water Commission with the exception of state water planning and water financing provisions that are transferred to the Texas Water Development Board. The water commission is designated as the state agency with the primary responsibility for implementing the constitution and laws of this state relating to water and will assume most of the department's functions.

The water commission is given general jurisdiction over: (1) water and water rights; (2) special water districts; (3) the state's water quality program; (4) the state's weather modification program; (5) determination of the feasibility of certain federal projects; (6) the safe construction, maintenance, and removal of dams; (7) the state's coastal oil and hazardous spill prevention and control program; (8) inactive hazardous substance, pollutant, and contaminant disposal facilities; (9) administration of a portion of the state's injection well program; (10) the state's programs involving underground water and water wells and drilled and mined shafts; (11) the state's responsibilities regarding regional waste disposal; (12) certain matters concerning solid waste disposal; (13) the national flood insurance program; (14) the state's water rate program; and (15) other areas as assigned.

The water development board is given responsibility for the development of a statewide water plan, the administration of the state's various water assistance and financing programs, and other areas as assigned.

The next sunset review of both agencies is set for the biennium preceding September 1, 1997.

The act establishes the Water District and River Authority Study Committee to study certain districts and authorities to determine if their powers and duties are appropriate for management of the state's water resources. and to determine if the state’s role relative to the creation and operation of those authorities should be changed. The committee will go out of existence on January 1, 1987.

The state auditor is directed to regularly audit the financial transactions of all river authorities and the larger multicounty water districts.

The act changes requirements for modifying reclamation plans in levee improvement districts.

The water commission is directed to assess the impact on fish and wildlife in its consideration of applications for water rights permits to store, take, or divert water in excess of 5,000 acre-feet per year and is given the authority to require applicants to take reasonable actions to mitigate adverse impacts on such habitats. The commission is also directed to assess the impact on water quality in its consideration of all applications for water rights permits. The act sets out criteria authorizing the commission to act on applications for water rights permits without public hearings and includes provisions concerning notice.

Senate Bill 249 transfers jurisdiction over water rates and water services from the public utility commission to the water commission and sets out procedures for the commission in carrying out its duties.

The act provides for state payment if the water commission orders the release or pass-through of water from an existing reservoir owned in part by the state to protect and maintain the ecological health of the bay and estuary system. The Texas Water Development Board is also directed to pay necessary maintenance and operating costs associated with this storage and release.

The maximum penalty for violations of water quality and injection well permits is increased from $1,000 to $10,000. The water commission is authorized to assess penalties concerning water quality and solid waste permits and activities relating to water wells and drilled and mined shafts through administrative proceedings; the maximum penalty is set at $10,000 per day.

The act requires waste treatment plant operators to have a certificate of competency issued by the commission. The commission is authorized to issue emergency orders for discharge of untreated or partially treated wastewater, and the act alters certain procedures relating to temporary and emergency orders. The act also requires that, for any application involving an average daily discharge of five million gallons or more, notice be given to county judges or judges in counties within 100 miles of the point of discharge who have requested that they receive notice of the commission’s consideration of applications.

The railroad commission is given jurisdiction over brine mining and can issue permits for injection wells used for brine mining.

Jurisdiction over all hazardous wastes is transferred from the health department to the water commission, and administrative changes are made in the authority of the Texas Water Well Drillers Board and the Texas Board of Irrigators.

The effective date of Senate Bill 249 is September 1, 1985, and on that date the Texas Water Development Board will become an independent agency. Transition clauses are included to provide for a smooth transition from the Texas Department of Water Resources to the Texas Water Commission and to ensure uninterrupted service when the authority over water services and rates is transferred from the public utility commission to the water commission. It is specifically stated that if there is any conflict between this act and House Bill 2, the water package, the provisions of House Bill 2 prevail.

Senate Bill 249 also includes appropriations for the Texas Water Development Board, the Texas Water Commission, and Texas’ River Compact Commissioners.

Air Control Board

SENATE BILL 725
EFFECTIVE:  9-1-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Caperton
HOUSE SPONSOR:  P. Hill

Senate Bill 725 provides for the continued operation of the Texas Air Control Board. It adds the statement to the purpose section that “the provisions of the Act should be vigorously enforced and . . . the violations of the Act or any rule or order of the Texas Air Control Board should result in expeditious initiation of enforcement actions as provided in this Act” and sets the biennium preceding September 1, 1991, as the period of the next sunset review of the agency, except that the policy structure and enforcement activities of the board are to be reviewed prior to January 1, 1987.
The act includes sunset across-the-board provisions relating to conflicts of interest, discrimination, lobbyists, removal of board members, agency employees, annual reports and audits, public information and hearings, and complaints. It also provides that the governor, rather than the board, shall select the chairman.

The board is directed to adopt as a rule any memorandum of understanding between the board and any other state agency, and a provision allowing employees of the Texas Department of Health to hold hearings for the Texas Air Control Board is deleted.

Statutory provisions concerning construction permits and exemptions and operating permits are expanded. Operating permits are subject to review every 15 years, and facilities operating without permits because construction was begun before the board’s permitting program was implemented are required to be registered. In a section that took immediate effect, the board is directed to consider the possible adverse short-term or long-term side effects that an air contaminant or nuisance odor may have on persons attending elementary, junior high, or high schools when considering permits for construction or modification of facilities near schools. The act also includes additional requirements concerning public hearings and new provisions concerning proceedings to revoke permits. New fees are authorized and the term “facility” is defined. The maximum penalty for violation of the Texas Clean Air Act is raised from $1,000 to $25,000 per day, and the executive director, in addition to the board, is authorized to file suit for injunctive relief to restrain the continuation of a violation. Additional provisions concerning suits against violators are included, and administrative penalties are authorized.

The 10-member Clean Air Study Committee is created to study facilities operating without permits, the issuance of renewable permits, and regulation of emissions into the air from ships. The committee is to report to the 70th Legislature and will cease to exist on January 1, 1987.

The Public Safety Commission is authorized to establish additional motor vehicle emissions inspection and maintenance programs required by federal rule or law and to charge certain fees for the programs.

Sections of a statute enacted by the 66th Legislature relating to a pilot program for motor vehicle inspection and maintenance are repealed, but provisions concerning a special Houston program are left without change.

Parks and Wildlife

SENATE BILL 464

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

SENATE AUTHORE: Lyon

HOUSE SPONSOR: C. Evans

Senate Bill 464 provides for the continuing operation of the Parks and Wildlife Department and sets the biennium preceding September 1, 1997, as the period of its next sunset review. The act allows the commission to establish license and permit fees, sets minimum penalties, and includes new provisions relating to licenses and to the administration of the department.

Under the act, the Parks and Wildlife Commission is authorized to regulate mineral recovery operations on state land, and the department is designated as the state agency with primary responsibility for protecting the state’s fish and wildlife resources. The act also states that “the department shall be, on its request, a full party in any hearing on an application for a permit to store, take, or divert water.”

Senate Bill 464 expands the use of the game, fish and water safety fund and establishes a lifetime license endowment fund to be used to acquire and to develop, manage, and repair public hunting and fishing areas. The department is authorized to accept gifts and to use the gifts as prizes in fund-raising events. Persons over the age of 17 who enroll in activities that require parks and wildlife licenses or permits are required to carry a driver’s license or personal identification certificate, and persons who kill, catch, take, possess, or injure any fish, shellfish, reptile, amphibian, bird, or animal illegally are made liable for the value of each animal. The department is also allowed to recover damages for injury to aquatic life and wildlife.

The act consolidates provisions relating to revocation and suspension of licenses and permits and clarifies the department’s authority over state parks. It establishes a scientific breeder’s permit, changes provisions relating to white-tailed deer and bighorn sheep, authorizes the commission to require permits for taking nongame species of fish or wildlife, modifies the definition of endangered species to include only fish and wildlife that are indigenous to Texas, changes provisions relating to wildlife management areas, and authorizes the department to expend funds for the operation and maintenance of the Franklin Mountains State Park, the Gateway State Park, and the Trinity River State Park. It repeals provisions that prohibit deer hunting in state parks and that limit the open season for hunting in state parks to November through February.
The act authorizes the commission to set certain fees at amounts higher than previous statutory limitations. It authorizes the department to issue tags for animals or birds allowed to be killed, as it has for deer, and expands related provisions. In addition, it allows the commission to lower or waive license fees for children and senior citizens and certain other individuals who are disabled or who have other licenses, and changes nonresident eligibility requirements for certain licenses.

The act also establishes a new classification system for punishment of offenses under the Parks and Wildlife Code. It creates Class A, B, and C Parks and Wildlife Code misdemeanors and sets minimum penalties for these offenses; the maximum penalties are the same as the penalties provided in the Penal Code, which does not set minimum amounts.

Veterans’ Land Board

SENATE BILL 316  SENATE AUTHOR: Williams
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85  HOUSE SPONSOR: Gary Thompson

Senate Bill 316 provides for changes in the operation of the Veterans’ Land Board and sets the biennium preceding September 1, 1997, as the period for its next sunset review. Because the board is a constitutional entity, it is not subject to abolishment under the sunset act.

The act changes the definition of veterans eligible to participate in Veterans’ Land Board programs and authorizes the board to change the definition as necessary to protect the best interests of the program. It includes provisions relating to conflicts of interest, lobbyists, equal protection, removal of board members, annual reports and audits, board employees, and public hearings. It also expands the fees that the board is authorized to collect, authorizes the board to contract with a private entity to administer the Veterans Land Program, removes a requirement concerning on-site meetings between appraisers and veterans but allows the board to require such meetings, and allows the board to regulate and abolish county review committees.

The board is authorized to set the amount of initial payments on land sold under the Veterans Land Program, and the act includes additional provisions concerning the price of land and requiring veterans to furnish written credit reports. The board is authorized to waive the requirement concerning personal inspection of land under certain conditions and to set the minimum acreage that a veteran may purchase; the minimum may not be set at less than five acres. The 10 percent limit on interest rates for delinquent principal and interest payments is removed, and the board is authorized to set the rates.

The act changes the eligibility criteria for the Veterans’ Housing Assistance Program, authorizes the board to change the definition of veteran to protect the best interests of the program, and provides that surviving spouses may complete transactions begun by eligible veterans. The board is authorized to contract with other agencies or private entities to administer the housing program and to set and collect fees to be deposited in a special housing program fee fund.

The act deletes a restriction that the interest may not exceed 1-1/2 percent a year more than the accepted bid price for each series in a bond sale division, and provisions relating to certain fees charged by the Veterans’ Land Board and to certain applications required under the Veterans’ Housing Assistance Program are repealed.

The sections of this act authorizing the board to change the definition of “veteran” take effect only upon the approval of a constitutional amendment (S.J.R. 9, to provide additional bonding authority for the Veterans’ Housing Assistance Program and changing the definition of those veterans eligible to participate in the Veterans Land Program and the veterans’ housing program) to be voted on in November 1985.

SENATE BILL 601
EFFECTIVE: see below

SENATE AUTHOR: Sarpalus
HOUSE SPONSOR: Gibson

Senate Bill 601 establishes the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, repeals statutory authorization for the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, and transfers responsibility for drug abuse services from the Texas Department of Community Affairs to the new commission. It also requires that certain group health insurance policies, group health coverage provided by health maintenance organizations, and large self-funded plans include benefits for care and treatment of alcohol dependency.

Senate Bill 601 enacts the Texas Alcohol and Drug Abuse Services Act. It establishes a nine-member Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, includes conflict of interest provisions, sets the biennium preceding September 1, 1997, as the period for the commission's next sunset review, provides for removal of commission members, and includes general administrative provisions relating to the responsibilities of the commission and its executive director. The act also includes new provisions relating to involuntary treatment of alcoholics that are similar to emergency detention and court-ordered treatment provisions in the Mental Health Code.

Alcohol treatment facilities, which are facilities that provide services for persons with alcohol or drug problems, are required to be licensed. The commission or its representative is authorized to make inspections, and the commission is directed to adopt rules and standards relating to organizational structures, programs, records, facilities, and other aspects of alcohol and drug abuse treatment at licensed alcohol treatment facilities. The commission may not, however, adopt rules restricting competitive bidding or advertising except to prohibit false, misleading, or deceptive practices. The act includes provisions relating to reconsideration of revocations, denials, or nonrenewals of licenses and makes operating a facility without a license a Class C misdemeanor.

If license fees are not set in the General Appropriations Act, the commission is directed to set reasonable fees that will cover at least 50 percent of the costs of the licensing program by 1987. The commission is also directed to adopt rules relating to the rights of individuals receiving treatment in facilities, and reports of abuse or neglect of residents or clients is required.

The act requires that group health insurance policies or contracts, group health coverage provided by health maintenance organizations, and self-funded or self-insured plans with more than 250 employees or members that provide basic hospital, surgical, or major medical expense benefits include benefits for the care and treatment of alcohol dependency.

The act also establishes an 18-member task force to study necessary changes in certification, licensure, and commitment procedures for substance abusers. The task force is to report to the 70th Legislature and will go out of existence August 31, 1987.

The six members of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism are to continue to hold office for the appointed term, with three additional members to be appointed to complete the nine-member Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse. The commission on alcoholism and the department of community affairs are directed to provide for a smooth transition to the new commission. The act takes effect September 1, 1985, except the new licensing requirements and the insurance provisions are effective on January 1, 1986, and the commission is directed to adopt policy statements by November 1, 1985.

The act also provides that a designee of the governor, rather than the executive director of the Texas Department of Community Affairs, shall serve as the chairman of the board of the Texas Housing Agency.

SENATE BILL 2 (1st C.S.)

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Edwards

The department is directed to establish the maximum amount of administrative costs that may be incurred by an area agency on aging and other entities that spend money distributed by the department and to periodically review entities receiving funds from the department.

Under previous law, the chairman of the Texas Board on Aging was a 10th member appointed to the board by the governor. This act directs the governor to designate one of the nine board members to serve as chairman and provides for the present chairman to continue to serve in that capacity as a nonvoting member for a limited period.

The act also includes general provisions relating to board appointments, terms and per diem, and removal of board members; conflicts of interest; department personnel; audits and annual financial reports; and public information and complaints.

Land Boards

SENATE BILL 261
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Caperton
HOUSE SPONSOR: Gibson

Senate Bill 261 authorizes the continuation of the Board for Lease of University Lands and sets the biennium preceding September 1, 1997, as the period of its next sunset review. It adds a member of the board of regents of The Texas A&M University System to the board and designates the commissioner of the General Land Office as chairman. It raises penalties and provides for interest to be charged on delinquent royalty payments.

The act adds conflict of interest provisions, designates the terms of board members, sets out grounds for removal from the board, requires annual financial reports, includes an audit provision, and directs the board to develop and implement policies on public hearings.

The act also requires lessees of university land that is leased for agricultural or grazing purposes to implement a soil and water conservation plan approved by the board of regents of The University of Texas System.

SENATE BILL 493
SENATE AUTHOR: Caperton
HOUSE SPONSOR: C. Evans

Senate Bill 493 continues the operation of the School Land Board, transfers the authority of certain boards for lease of state-owned lands to the School Land Board, and sets the biennium preceding September 1, 1997, as the period for the board's next sunset review.

The act includes provisions relating to field notes of a survey of public land and provides for state grants for constructing permanent improvements on leased permanent school fund land.

Previous law had authorized state agencies to establish boards for lease of state-owned lands as the need arose. Senate Bill 493 gives the School Land Board authority over state land except for that owned by The University of Texas and Texas A&M University, Relinquishment Act land, and land owned by the Parks and Wildlife Department and the Texas Department of Corrections. The board has authority over state land acquired for roads and land owned by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation only for the development of minerals other than oil and gas and for leasing Relinquishment Act land owned by state agencies.

The act includes the general provisions concerning conflicts of interest, removal of board members, annual financial reports and audits, public hearings, and authority to collect fees. The board is authorized to subdivide or survey land to facilitate advantageous sales, to issue permits for surveys or investigations of land other than public school land that is not under a valid lease, and to grant easements on certain land. Notice of the sale of land must state the method of sale, and the sale of oil, gas, or other mineral leases must be by sealed bid or public auction, as determined by the board. The act sets a minimum on the royalties and bonuses that the board may accept, sets out provisions relating to the authority of the board concerning royalties, bonuses, and rentals, and sets out new requirements for conditions of leases.

The act abolishes the Board for Lease of State Park Lands and the Board for Lease of Eleemosynary and State Memorial Park Lands and provides that the provisions of the chapter on boards for lease of state-owned lands apply to land owned by the Parks and Wildlife Department and by the Texas Department of Corrections. Relative to the boards for lease of Parks and Wildlife Department and Texas Department of Corrections land, the act includes the general provisions relating to board appointments, removal of board members, conflicts of interest, requirements for public hearings, requirements for financial reports and audits, and the authority for the boards to adopt rules and collect fees. The section also includes requirements for leases, authorizes the board to grant easements of rights-of-way, and sets the next sunset review for the biennium preceding September 1, 1997.

The act removes restrictions concerning lease of unsold public school and asylum land and authorizes the land commissioner to set terms for agricultural, grazing, or commercial leases. It grants the commissioner, rather than the School Land Board, the authority to award or reject leases and directs the commissioner to require that lessees of land leased for agricultural or grazing purposes implement a soil and water conservation plan approved by the land commissioner. It also increases the authority of the land commissioner and the board of regents of The University of Texas System to grant easements.

The commissioner is directed to collect money for damages to surface land dedicated to the permanent school fund, penalties on past-due royalty payments are raised and interest is authorized, and delay rentals are prohibited.

Senate Bill 493 includes new provisions relating to leases of Relinquishment Act land that are acquired by assignment by the owner of the soil. The act requires that such assignments have the advance approval of the commissioner and provides that leases assigned without advance approval may be forfeited. When a soil owner is assigned a Relinquishment Act lease that he executed, he is accountable to the state as follows: (1) if the lease was assigned to the soil owner without advance approval, the soil owner must pay the state half of the consideration that he received upon the assignment; or (2) if the owner has the approval of the commissioner and the lease is assigned within three years, the soil owner must pay the state half of the profit of the subsequent assignment of the lease.

The act requires that certain leases of public school and gulf land include provisions for payment of damages for mining and directs the commissioner to set the amount and collect money for damages to public school land, except Relinquishment Act land that has a mineral classification. The money will be deposited in a special fund account in the state treasury and used for conservation, reclamation, or constructing permanent improvements on permanent school fund land. The act also establishes the Parks and Wildlife Department and the Texas Department of Corrections special mineral funds, changes provisions relating to geophysical and geochemical exploration permits for Relinquishment Act lands and in tidewater areas, and removes an expiration date for the authority of the School Land Board to trade public school land.

Senate Bill 493 also includes a new section concerning the acquisition of public school land that is contingent on authorization of a constitutional amendment to be voted on in November 1985 (S.J.R. 21, to authorize the use of proceeds from the sale of permanent school fund land to acquire other land as part of the permanent school fund). If the constitutional amendment is passed, the School Land Board will be able to designate money received from the sale of public school land to acquire fee or lesser interests in real property for the use and benefit of the permanent school fund. The section includes requirements for land acquisitions under this authorization.

Interstate River Compacts

Since 1939, Texas has negotiated compacts with neighboring states to apportion the water between compact states from the Rio Grande and Red River and from the Pecos, Canadian, and Sabine rivers. Indigent Health Care and Treatment Act

SENATE BILL 1 (1st C.S.) SENATE AUTHOR: Traeger
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85 HOUSE SPONSOR: Oliver

Senate Bill 1 includes the Indigent Health Care and Treatment Act, requiring counties without public hospitals or hospital districts to provide for the care of their residents, clarifying the responsibilities of counties with public hospitals or hospital districts for both residents and nonresidents, and providing for certain state assistance. It establishes the cancer resource fund and also makes a number of appropriations.

Services required to be provided by counties under this act include certain inpatient and outpatient hospital services; rural health clinics; laboratory and X-ray services; family planning services; physician services; payment for not more than three prescription drugs per month; and limited skilled nursing facility services.

The act includes provisions for determining a person's residency and for settling residency disputes. It authorizes counties, public hospitals, and hospital districts to request persons receiving services to contribute a nominal amount toward the cost of the assistance but provides that services may not be denied or reduced because of nonpayment. The Texas Department of Human Services is directed to establish eligibility standards and procedures in accordance with standards and procedures used by the department to determine eligibility in the AFDC-Medicaid program, except that persons without children who meet the financial criteria are to be eligible for services. The minimum eligibility and service standards are to be met by public hospitals and by counties providing services for county residents who do not live in an area served by a public hospital or hospital district; standards for hospital districts are set by the Texas Constitution and through statutes relating to the specific districts.

The Texas Department of Health is directed to establish uniform reporting requirements for counties and governmental entities that own, operate, or lease public hospitals providing assistance to report expenditures for and nature of care provided; eligibility standards established by the entities; and relevant characteristics of eligible residents.
Counties are expressly made responsible for and the payor of last resort for health care of eligible county residents who do not reside within an area that a public hospital or hospital district has a legal responsibility to serve. The act authorizes counties and public hospitals to mandate health care providers that residents are required to use for nonemergency services. Provisions for emergency and nonemergency services by nonmandated providers and limitations on a county’s liability are included. A county’s liability for health care services for eligible county residents who do not reside within an area that a public hospital or hospital district has a legal obligation to serve is limited to $30,000 a year or to 30 days of hospitalization or treatment in a skilled nursing facility. Procedures are set out for providing state assistance to counties that provide at least 10 percent of the county general revenue levy for the health care services required by this act for indigent county residents who live outside the service area of a public hospital or hospital district; the state will pay 80 percent of such health care costs during the remainder of the year after the 10 percent expenditure level has been reached. If the state does not pay the 80 percent for any reason, the county is not required to provide further services after the 10 percent expenditure level is reached.

If counties are required to increase taxes to pay for the services required under this act, they may raise their rate by more than eight percent during the first year after such services are required without bringing into effect a state law that authorizes a voter petition for a tax-rollback election.

The act also includes provisions relating to the provision of health care services to persons who reside within an area served by a public hospital or hospital district. It establishes minimum standards and prohibits public hospitals that are providing more extensive services from cutting back unless such change would not have a detrimental impact on access to health care for the residents that the hospital serves. As with counties, public hospitals would be the providers of last resort.

The indigent health care assistance fund is created; it may be used for the state assistance to counties and public hospitals and hospital districts; for the provision of health care assistance through any program of medical or health care assistance administered by the Texas Department of Human Services; for the provision of maternal and infant health improvement services and perinatal services for low-income individuals; for the provision of primary health care services for low-income individuals; for cancer prevention and treatment and medical care for cancer victims; for coordinating, implementing, and administering health care programs for low-income or indigent individuals; and for other health care assistance, preventive health, or nutrition programs for low-income or indigent individuals authorized by law.

The cancer resource fund is established in the state treasury, and $7 million is appropriated to the Texas Cancer Council from the fund. Money in the fund may only be appropriated to the council for cancer prevention and research and medical care for cancer victims. (See also, Senate Bill 53, summarized in this section.)

Based on the repeal of the blue law, the act transfers $63 million from the general revenue fund to the indigent health care assistance fund and $7 million to the cancer resource fund. It appropriates $22,220,000 to the health department for the perinatal program (see House Bill 1023, summarized in this section); $7 million for the women, infants, and children program; $8 million for the primary care program (see House Bill 1844, summarized in this section); $80,000 to implement and enforce patient transfer policies (see House Bill 1985, summarized in this section); and $450,000 for collecting hospital discharge data and data on uncompensated care provided by hospitals. The act also appropriates the following to the Texas Department of Human Services from the indigent health care assistance fund: $15 million for Medicaid coverage for the medically needy; $3 million for state matching funds to counties for indigent care; $6 million to provide assistance for hospitals providing a disproportionate share of indigent health care; and $1,250,000 to implement a computerized integrated eligibility services program with the department of health.

The act reduces funds appropriated to the governor’s office in the General Appropriations Act for utility contingency grants from $30 million to $9,990,000 and for salary provision contingency from $4,800,000 to zero; it also authorizes the governor to transfer money among additional line items. It reduces funds appropriated to the senate for 1987 from $13,643,929 to $12,343,929. It calls for a larger reduction in state agency budgets; House Bill 20 provided that reductions were expected to total at least $16,250,000 in both fiscal years of the biennium; Senate Bill 1 provides for reductions to total $20,140,000 in fiscal year 1987.

The act takes effect September 1, 1985, but the additional health care services for the indigent are not required to be provided until September 1, 1986.
HOUSE BILL 1023

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

HOUSE AUTHOR: Madla
SENATE SPONSOR: Traeger

House Bill 1023 is the Maternal and Infant Health Improvement Act; it authorizes the Texas Department of Health to establish a perinatal program in the department to deliver comprehensive maternity and infant health services and ancillary services to eligible women and infants. Senate Bill 1 from the 1st Called Session of the 69th Legislature appropriated $6,750,000 for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1986, and $15,470,000 for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1987, to the department for the program.

The act provides that the program may include all or any combination of the following services for eligible individuals: maternal and infant health improvement services, including comprehensive prenatal and perinatal care, obstetrical consultation services, preventive, health, medical, and facility intrapartum care, neonatal intensive care, followup services for eligible infants who are at high risk of death or disease or of suffering long-lasting disability, and emergency medical transportation; ancillary services; a special program of preventive, health, medical, and facility care and health education services for adolescents concentrating on adolescent pregnancy and pregnancy prevention; health education and health promotion services; and a special program of pregnancy prevention services for women receiving benefits for two or more pregnancies, including the availability of family planning services. The health department would be able to directly deliver the services to the extent that other resources are unavailable and to charge fees for the services delivered. The act includes a section specifically stating that no funds are to be used to provide abortion services unless the mother’s life is in danger.

Applicants for the program must be referred by a physician, facility, public health clinic, community health center, certified nurse midwife, lay midwife, medical social worker, or other source, and an application must be accompanied by a statement that the person with the legal obligation to provide the applicant’s support is financially unable to pay for all or part of the necessary services. Eligibility requirements include state residency and certification from at least one licensed physician that the individual meets the health or medical criteria established by the board and that the physician has reason to expect that the services will prevent or reduce the probability of maternal, fetal, or infant death; complications of pregnancy, including handicapping conditions found in infants that are associated with complications of pregnancy; or adolescent pregnancy.

The act also includes sections providing for reimbursement for services to the extent that other benefits are received, allowing for the recovery of costs of services if other benefits are received, and authorizing the department to deny an application for cause or to modify, suspend, or terminate services after giving appropriate notice.

The department is directed to select providers to participate in the program according to criteria and procedures adopted by the Texas Board of Health; the board may not discriminate against classes of facilities that are operated for profit, and providers that receive federal funds may not be excluded if the funds are inadequate to provide authorized services to all eligible individuals seeking services from that provider. The board and department are specifically directed to coordinate services with existing federal, state, and local programs and to reserve the program’s services for low-income women and infants who are not eligible for other similar services.

The act authorizes the board to appoint a statewide advisory committee to the program and sets out requirements for its membership. The department is directed to initiate a long-range plan to continue at least six years and, from it, to derive a short-range plan to identify costs and assess progress made toward achieving the program goals.

While the act takes effect September 1, 1985, services may not be provided until January 1, 1986.
Primary Health Care

HOUSE BILL 1844
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

House Bill 1844 is the Texas Primary Health Care Services Act; it directs the Texas Department of Health to administer a primary health care program for eligible low-income Texans, to the extent that other resources are unavailable and subject to the availability of specifically appropriated funds. Services are to be reserved to the greatest extent possible for low-income individuals who are not eligible for similar services through any other publicly funded program.

If budgetary limitations exist for the primary health care program, the board of health is directed to adopt rules establishing a system of priorities relating to the types of services provided, geographic areas covered, or classes of individuals eligible for services. Rules on eligibility and areas covered are to be based on a statewide determination of the need for services. Priority is to be given to the following types of services: diagnosis and treatment; emergency services; family planning services; preventive health services; health education; and laboratory, X-ray, nuclear medicine, and other appropriate diagnostic services. Other authorized types of services include nutrition services; health screening; home health care; dental care; transportation; prescription drugs and devices and durable supplies; environmental health services; podiatry services; and social services.

The department is to utilize public and private health, transportation, and education resources, but may deliver services directly if other resources and providers are unavailable, and fees may be charged. Services may not be provided until January 1, 1986.

The act includes provisions entitling the department to recover costs in certain circumstances, authorizing the department to deny, modify, suspend, or terminate services for cause, and concerning the selection of providers to participate in the program. The board is authorized to appoint a statewide advisory committee, and the department is required to develop short- and long-range plans, to periodically assess the progress of the program and the continuing need, and to report to the legislature concerning the program.

Senate Bill 1 of the 1st Called Session includes an $8 million appropriation for the primary health care program.

Oral Health Improvement

SENATE BILL 894
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

Senate Bill 894 is the Texas Oral Health Improvement Act; it authorizes the Texas Department of Health to furnish oral health services to low-income Texas residents under guidelines determined by the Texas Board of Health. The services may be furnished by the department or by approved providers, and individuals must be referred to the program. The act includes provisions relating to eligibility, resource disclosure, denial of services, approved providers, and other administrative procedures and authorizes the department to recover its costs or portions of the costs. The department is also authorized to appoint a technical advisory committee. Provision of services under the program is limited to funds expressly appropriated for the program.

This act provides statutory authorization for services currently offered by the department under the authority of the General Appropriations Act. Provisions are intended to provide authorization for a program of dental care for low-income children, a dental education program to encourage the development of good oral hygiene, and a fluoridation program.

Patient Transfers

HOUSE BILL 1963
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

House Bill 1963 requires hospitals licensed under the Texas Hospital Licensing Law to adopt binding policies relating to patient transfers that require notification of transfer to the receiving hospital prior to the transfer and confirmation that the patient meets admissions criteria. The act also requires the use of medically appropriate life support measures, the provision of appropriate personnel and equipment prior to and during the transfer, and the transfer of all necessary records for continuing patient care. Also, the policies may not require patient consent prior to a transfer. Provisions of the act apply to transfers from physician to physician, as well as from hospital to hospital, and hospitals are encouraged to adopt transfer agreements with other hospitals.

The act directs the Texas Board of Health to adopt rules to implement minimum standards governing the transfer of patients. The hospitals must adopt policies that comply with the minimum standards. Failure to adopt, implement, and enforce a patient transfer policy in a timely manner subjects a facility to a civil penalty of up to $1,000 per day for each act of violation. Persons harmed by such lack of action may seek injunctive relief and civil damages from the facility. The Texas Board of Health is directed to submit a report of the effectiveness of the department’s rules relating to hospital transfers and to the degree of compliance by hospitals to the legislature prior to its 1987 session.

In addition, House Bill 1963 states that hospital licenses may be denied, suspended, or revoked if a hospital fails substantially to comply with the Texas Hospital Licensing Law or with rules or standards adopted under the act. It expands the minimum hospital licensing standards to be enforced by the health department and makes changes in a number of administrative procedures.

Consent of certain relatives must be obtained for the removal of the heart, kidney, liver, and other organs and tissues which require patient support systems to maintain the viability of the organ or tissue. For the removal of other organs and tissues, the medical examiner must obtain consent within four hours of the death or must determine that no reasonable likelihood exists for identifying and contacting any of the designated relatives.

Senate Bill 401 broadens the requirements to allow the use of new types of prophylaxis and requires the department to furnish the prophylaxis only if funds are available.

SENATE BILL 655

Senate Bill 655 provides that applicants for hospital medical staff membership may not be denied membership solely on the ground that the applicant holds a license to practice podiatry rather than a license to practice medicine. SENATE BILL 656

HUMAN SERVICES

During the interim preceding the 69th Legislature, the Senate Interim Committee on Hunger and Nutrition examined dietary deficiencies among Texas residents. Senate Bill 526, the Omnibus Hunger Act of 1985, responds to this problem through the augmentation of food and nutrition programs of the Texas Department of Health, Texas Department on Aging, and Texas Department of Human Services (the latter renamed by Senate Bill 351). The act was one of three major measures relating to low- and moderate-income persons. Another enactment, Senate Bill 969, is designed to increase the availability of safe, affordable housing to the elderly. A measure summarized in the health chapter, Senate Bill 1 (enacted during the 1st Called Session), deals with indigent health care.

The legislature extended for two additional years (House Bill 330) the state's temporary emergency relief program that had been established during the 1983 session. Several measures deal with amendments to laws affecting the handicapped. Senate Bill 48 enhances oversight of child-care facilities.

Hunger Act

SENATE BILL 526

EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Parmer

HOUSE SPONSOR: Hinojosa

Senate Bill 526 is the Omnibus Hunger Act of 1985. The stated purpose of the act is to "address the widespread and growing problem of hunger in Texas, particularly as it affects the nutritional and health status of elderly persons, pregnant women, infants, and children and those families and individuals who, through no fault of their own, do not get enough to eat on a regular or intermittent basis. It is the further intent of this Act to decrease long-term health care and institutionalization costs by addressing the issues of disease prevention and health promotion and assuring an adequate diet to those citizens in this state legitimately in need of assistance."

The act authorizes the Texas Department of Health to spend $12 million to expand the federal Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) to establish projects in unserved counties and to increase the number of participants in underserved areas. In addition, the Texas Board of Health is authorized to transfer limited funds to the program to be used for the same purpose as the federal grant funds in order to ensure the full expenditure of those federal funds. Senate Bill 1 from the 1st Called Session appropriates $2 million for the first year and $5 million for the second year of the biennium for the program.

The Texas Department on Aging is authorized to spend $3.5 million to create the Texas Senior Nutrition Maintenance and Home-Delivered Meals Program to more adequately meet the needs for home-delivered meals among elderly persons. The program requires 15-percent matching local funds.

The Texas Department of Human Services (DHS) is directed to establish the Emergency Nutrition Program and is authorized to spend $2.5 million to meet the current unmet need for emergency food assistance. The program requires 50-percent matching local funds.

The act requires local food stamp offices to maintain current lists of emergency food providers for referrals. It requires DHS to establish regional or statewide toll-free telephone hotlines to provide emergency information and referrals and to assist communities in establishing emergency food assistance programs. The department is also authorized to establish information and referral services where such programs are needed but do not exist.

DHS is directed to establish a two-year pilot program to train volunteers and advocates to provide information to the elderly and to prescreen elderly applicants for nutritional assistance programs.

DHS is also directed to develop and distribute information relating to eligibility, application for, and extent of available nutritional assistance programs. At their request, applicants are to receive assistance in filling out forms and completing the application process, and the department is required to implement and monitor an expedited verification procedure so that applicants who meet the federal criteria for expedited issuance and have an immediate need for food assistance receive either a manual Authorization-to-Purchase card or the immediate issuance of food stamp coupons within one working day.

In its final sections, the act allows food banks to participate in the State Purchasing and General Services Commission program that provides for the sale and transfer of surplus and salvage equipment and materials of state agencies.
The General Appropriations Act appropriates $4.5 million to DHS "to fund home-delivered meals to elderly shut-ins, emergency food vouchers and to improve responsiveness to people in desperate need of food." It is intended that of this total, $2.5 million will be transferred to the Texas Department on Aging for the Texas Senior Nutrition Maintenance and Home-Delivered Meals Program; $0.5 million will be reserved for the expedited food stamp program, and $1.5 million will be used to establish the Emergency Nutrition Program.

Housing for the Elderly

SENATE AUTHOR: Parker

HOUSE SPONSOR: Finnell

The purpose of Senate Bill 969 is to increase the availability of safe, affordable housing for the elderly.

The Texas Housing Agency was established to encourage private enterprise and investment for the development of sanitary and safe residential housing for persons and families of low income and families of moderate income. Senate Bill 969 directs the housing agency to require that at least five percent of the units in a multifamily housing development containing at least 20 units and financed by agency bonds be occupied by elderly individuals of low income or by families of low or moderate income in which an elderly person is head of the household; exceptions are provided if there is not sufficient need for this type of housing in the area of a development. The housing agency is directed to reimburse the Texas Department on Aging for assistance in implementing measures relating to the requirement.

The Texas Housing Finance Corporations Act authorizes the creation of public nonprofit housing finance corporations by city or county governments to provide a means of financing the cost of residential ownership and development to make decent, safe, and sanitary housing available to people of low to moderate incomes who are unable to obtain housing from conventional sources. Senate Bill 969 directs such corporations either: (1) to require that not less than five percent of the units in a multifamily residential development containing at least 20 units and financed by bonds under the Texas Housing Finance Corporations Act be reserved for the lifetime of the development for occupancy by elderly individuals of low income or families of low or moderate income in which an elderly individual is head of the household; or (2) to collect from loan recipients a fee equal to one-tenth percent of the total principal amount of the loan made for a development and to remit the fee to the Texas Department on Aging to be used to assist elderly individuals or families in which an elderly individual is the head of the household to obtain housing. City and county governments participating in this housing program are required to report to the Texas Department on Aging annually concerning housing available for the elderly, and the corporations are required to notify the department of each bond issuance under the housing act.

These provisions apply to housing developments financed by bonds issued as a result of an official decision to issue bonds by the housing agency or a corporation that occurs on or after January 1, 1986.

Senate Bill 969 also directs the Texas Department on Aging to assess the need for housing for the elderly, to set standards relating to the design and construction of housing for elderly individuals, to provide planning assistance to builders, and to publicize the availability of the housing program to potential developers and residents.

Under the adoption services program for hard-to-place children of the Texas Department of Human Services, the adoption of a hard-to-place child may be subsidized by payments from either the county or state that would not exceed foster home care costs if the child were not adopted. Senate Bill 267 authorizes the department to subsidize the cost of medical care for a hard-to-place child and provides for state-paid subsidies for children receiving supplemental security income from the federal government.

SENATE AUTHOR: Washington
HOUSE SPONSOR: Madla
Senate Bill 940 is the Community Homes for Disabled Persons Location Act. It provides that small family homes for the disabled that meet established guidelines will automatically qualify as a permitted use of property in all residential zones or districts in the state. The act also prohibits private agreements made after September 1, 1985, that bar the use of property for family homes. No more than six disabled persons and two supervisory personnel may reside in a home at the same time, and the disabled residents must be provided with food and shelter, personal guidance, care, habilitation services, or supervision. The family home must meet licensing requirements and not more than one motor vehicle per bedroom may be kept for the residents’ use without city ordinance approval.

SENATE BILL 1052
SENATE AUTHOR: Sharp
HOUSE SPONSOR: Madla
Senate Bill 1052 authorizes the crippled children’s services program of the Texas Department of Health to provide an initial diagnostic examination to determine if a child who meets the financial, age, and residency requirements is eligible to receive services under the program. It directs the Texas Board of Health to adopt rules that clearly define the medical and financial criteria for eligibility and to provide a system for verifying the eligibility information submitted by an applicant for services.

These changes were made in response to recommendations of the Legislative Budget Board (LBB). In its performance report concerning the program, the LBB found that there has been a lack of clarity about the program’s medical and financial eligibility criteria, with the result that the program has a client caseload that is probably larger than necessary.

SENATE BILL 1289
SENATE AUTHOR: Blake
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

State law provides that certain vehicles operated by or for the use of disabled persons may be issued identification devices that allow these vehicles to be parked in specially designated areas. The act appropriates $1.9 million to the Texas State Library to provide the devices for the local and university libraries and to maintain the devices for two years, and it requires the state library to provide training for university and public library employees. Following the two-year period, the individual libraries are responsible for the maintenance costs. The act also includes provisions concerning procedures if libraries are financially unable to maintain the devices, guidelines for use and maintenance, and public information. HOUSE BILL 2086
HOUSE AUTHOR: C. Harris

State law has prohibited discrimination against persons using trained dog guides or hearing-ear dogs and has included provisions relating to liability for damage caused by the dogs, penalties for their improper use, and requirements of drivers approaching intersections or crosswalks where pedestrians are being aided by the dogs. House Bill 2086 expands the laws so that they cover “support dogs” that are “specially trained or equipped to help a handicapped person.”

Department Administration and Other Programs

SENATE BILL 48
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Lyon
HOUSE SPONSOR: Barton

The Texas Department of Human Services is the state agency that regulates child-care facilities and under current law may investigate the criminal backgrounds of persons applying for or holding a license. Senate Bill 48 enables the department to obtain criminal history information to assist child-care facilities in screening employees and job applicants and to aid its own investigations of persons providing child-care and protective services.

The act authorizes the department to obtain criminal information from certain law enforcement agencies for the purposes of investigating the following: owners and employees of licensed, registered, or certified child-care facilities, as well as applicants for employment; residents of a registered family home, except for children in care and their parents; persons providing or applying to provide adoptive or foster care for children in the department’s custody; employees of the department engaged in the direct delivery of child protective services on the date the department implements the act; and persons applying for employment with the department whose position would involve direct delivery of child protective services.

The information obtained is privileged information but may be released to the person being investigated and a child-care facility that employs or is considering employing a person covered by provisions of the act. The department is directed to establish rules to prevent use of its authority or obtained information for harassment and to establish a uniform method for requesting and using the information. The act creates an offense for the unauthorized disclosure of information obtained under the authority of the act.

SENATE BILL 329
SENATE AUTHOR: Brooks
HOUSE SPONSOR: Barton

Previously, the Texas Department of Human Services was required to submit three annual reports to the legislature: one from the commissioner, on the overall operation and administration of the department that was to be submitted by October 1 of each year; one from the division that regulates and licenses child-care facilities and child-placing agencies, on the division’s activities; and one from the department, regarding its work in certifying social workers. Senate Bill 329 consolidates the three reports and changes the submission deadline to December 31.
SENATE BILL 351
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

Senate Bill 351 changes the name of the Texas Department of Human Resources to the Texas Department of Human Services. It makes the same change in the commissioner’s title and in the name of the board but provides that paper supplies with the old names must be used before supplies that reflect the name changes are ordered or purchased.

HOUSE BILL 330
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

In 1983, the legislature established a two-year pilot temporary emergency relief program to provide matching state funds to assist counties, in cooperation with other public entities and nonprofit organizations, in meeting the needs of individuals and families for temporary emergency relief. Through the program, people who are unemployed or elderly or who have low incomes have received temporary assistance to help cover the costs of such necessities as food, housing, and utility bills.

House Bill 330 continues the program, making it subject to sunset review in 1987, but reduces its maximum state funding from $5 million to $1 million. It authorizes alternative participants if counties discontinue participation in the program and establishes the emergency contingency fund with five percent of the money appropriated for the program; money in the contingency fund may be spent only with the approval of the governor, lieutenant governor, and speaker of the house of representatives.

HOUSE BILL 653
EFFECTIVE: 5-24-85

House Bill 653 establishes a task force to study current licensing standards for personal care homes and recommend changes in the licensing standards to allow a more extensive range of appropriate facility types and to ensure the safety of the residents. It also directs the Texas Department of Human Services, the Texas Department on Aging, the Texas Department of Health, and the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation to adopt rules to reflect the recommendations of the task force as soon as possible. The act authorizing the task force expires on August 31, 1987.

Personal care homes provide room and board and personal care assistance such as help with bathing, laundry, and transportation for individuals who need such help but who do not need nursing home care.
INSURANCE

New insurance legislation passed in 1985 includes Senate Bill 544 requiring coverage of alcoholism treatment in certain group health policies. Senate Bill 853 authorizes the formation of insurance trusts by savings and loan associations.

Insurance Companies and Agents

SENATE BILL 114
SENATE AUTHOR: Harris
HOUSE SPONSOR: A. Smith
EFFECTIVE: 1-1-86
Senate Bill 114 amends the Insurance Code to revise and provide standards for development and administration of investment plans for the assets of domestic legal reserve, capital stock life, health and accident insurance companies chartered under Chapter 3 of the Insurance Code, mutual life companies chartered under Chapter 11 of the Insurance Code, and group hospitalization plans under Chapter 20 of the Insurance Code. The act requires diversification of investments without excessive concentration of funds in any single type of investment. A company would be prohibited from investing more than a certain percentage of its capital and surplus in any one entity. The act, however, contains a grandfather clause permitting investments made under current law to be retained.

SENATE BILL 166
SENATE AUTHOR: Barrientos
HOUSE SPONSOR: Guerrero
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
Under the Insurance Code, individuals, partnerships, and corporations may be licensed as “local recording agents” to write property and casualty insurance. This act relates to certain exceptions from the temporary license requirements for local recording agents. Senate Bill 166 amends the Insurance Code by adding to the list of exceptions persons who have attained the Certified Insurance Counselor (C.I.C.) designation from the national Society of Certified Insurance Counselors.

SENATE BILL 349
SENATE AUTHOR: Henderson
HOUSE SPONSOR: Patrick
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
The Insurance Code prohibits insurers from paying commissions to officers of life insurance companies or from otherwise basing the compensation of such directors on the volume of insurance written or renewed. Senate Bill 349 amends the code by adding new language to provide for compensation to a marketing officer based on the aggregate amount of insurance issued or in force with the company during a specified period of time. The officer may not be in charge of underwriting or approving risks, and the compensation is not allowed to be based on commissions for individual sales of insurance products. The penalty for violation of this prohibition is revocation of the company’s charter; however, through this act it is made permissive with the State Board of Insurance, rather than mandatory.

SENATE BILL 412
SENATE AUTHOR: Jones
HOUSE SPONSOR: Messer
EFFECTIVE: 5-2-85
The Insurance Code states that anyone who solicits an application for life insurance will be regarded as the agent of the life insurance company and not the agent of the insured in the case of a dispute. Senate Bill 412 amends the Insurance Code by including agents who solicit applications for accident and health insurance as well as agents who solicit applications for life insurance. Such agents do not have the authority to change any conditions in the insurance application or in the policy.

SENATE BILL 433
SENATE AUTHOR: Glasgow
HOUSE SPONSOR: Shea
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
Senate Bill 433 relates to the regulation of title insurance. It grants authority to the State Board of Insurance to regulate title insurance advisory organizations. It also provides that the State Board of Insurance may determine charges and reasonable response times for title information to be provided a title insurance company by an abstract plant. Current law requires such rates and response times to be “reasonable” but does not define the term.
SENATE BILL 719

EFFECTIVE: 6-15-85

This act is concerned with restrictions on transactions with funds and assets of domestic insurance companies. Senate Bill 719 amends the Insurance Code to permit a domestic insurance company with at least $5 million in assets to deposit securities with another affiliated company if the deposit is made pursuant to a written agreement approved by the commissioner of insurance and authorized by the board of directors of the depositing company. The terms of the agreement must include:

(a) adequate records maintained by the depository corporation to identify the securities belonging to the depositing company;

(b) authority from the corporation allowing the commissioner of insurance to examine the records relating to the securities on deposit; and

(c) provisions for the holding of securities.

The act further sets the procedure for payment of debentures upon liquidation. Debentures properly reflected as outstanding obligations on the company books are to be paid after all claims, but prior to the distribution to shareholders.

SENATE BILL 955

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

A foreign life, accident, or health insurance company that has complied with state requirements may be issued a certificate of authority to operate in Texas. These companies, however, are not subject to all the regulations and statutes governing domestic insurance companies. Senate Bill 955 amends the Insurance Code to bring these out-of-state group accident and health insurance companies under the regulation of the State Board of Insurance with regard to coverage issued to Texas citizens.

SENATE BILL 1004

EFFECTIVE: 5-24-85

Stipulated premium companies historically have been limited to selling policies with limited amounts of coverage. In recent years, however, rapid growth in business from some of these companies has prompted the need for solvency protection of the kind that is applicable to other types of companies. Senate Bill 1004 amends the Insurance Code to inaugurate a phased-in requirement that these companies maintain a first-year unearned premium reserve. For policies issued during calendar year 1985 only a one-third unearned premium reserve is required during the first policy year; and for 1986, only a two-thirds unearned premium reserve is required. The act also deletes outdated language regarding the attorney general's review of insurance company charter applications and removes the requirement that the board of directors of a stipulated premium company be composed entirely of shareholders. It allows the stipulated premium company to purchase its own stock, and raises to $50,000 the threshold for compensation to officers, trustees, and directors.

SENATE BILL 1063

EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

Some insurance needs of Texans cannot be met by those companies authorized to do business in the state. Therefore, the state permits specialized agents, known as surplus lines agents, to place business with companies not authorized to do business in Texas. Senate Bill 1063 amends the Insurance Code by deleting current language pertaining to the licensing of surplus lines agents and substituting language for license renewal procedures established in the sunset review. The act requires that a qualifying examination approved by the board must be passed before a license may be issued. Each license issued shall be for a two-year period expiring December 31, unless a system for staggered renewal is adopted by the State Board of Insurance. The commissioner of insurance shall collect a fee not to exceed $20 as determined by the State Board of Insurance for duplicate licenses, which is nonrefundable and shall be deposited in the State Board of Insurance operating fund. Existing license holders are exempt from the examination requirement.

SENATE BILL 1156

EFFECTIVE: 5-24-85

This act allows a domestic insurance company that is a subsidiary of an insurance holding company to move its records and principal offices to another state. The commissioner of insurance can disapprove such a move within 30 days of being notified in writing of the insurer's intent. The company's records would have to be under the Texas subsidiary's direct control, and the entity controlling the holding company would have to be based in the United States. The act would disallow as a premium tax credit the cost of out-of-state travel expenses incurred as a result of the removal of books and records. It also corrects a problem created when language regarding reimbursement of out-of-state travel expenses was deleted in the sunset review process.

SENNET BILL 1238  SENATE AUTHOR: Howard
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85  HOUSE SPONSOR: A. Smith

Senate Bill 1238 amends the Insurance Code provisions relating to the examination and licensing of various types of insurance agents and other insurance personnel. The act provides that licensing fees are not refundable, authorizes a fee for duplicate licenses, and establishes standard procedures for license renewal. The State Board of Insurance is authorized to contract with a testing service to develop and administer licensing examinations, and the board may require the testing service to notify examinees of the test results.

This act also permits a corporation licensed as a agent under the Insurance Code to notify the State Board of Insurance within 30 days of changes in its officers, directors, or shareholders. Previous law required immediate notification. In addition, persons living in a town divided by the state line may be licensed as resident agents if their business office is located in Texas.

Senate Bill 1238 also makes changes in the notice that the insurance board is required to give an applicant or insurance carrier when a license is denied, revoked, or suspended. Notice must be given to the licensed agent and to any insurance carrier represented by the agent before a license may be suspended, revoked, or renewal denied if the carrier's business is directly involved in allegations against the agent.

This act further prohibits the licensing of a corporation under the Insurance Code if any shareholder of the corporation is itself a corporate entity. Employees, officers, directors, or shareholders of a state or federal savings and loan association licensed as an insurance agent may assign commission income to that institution.

SENNET BILL 1415  SENATE AUTHOR: Harris
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85  HOUSE SPONSOR: Gavin

Under current law, a Texas mutual life insurance company may merge with another mutual life insurance company or may convert to a Texas stock company. Senate Bill 1415 provides a procedure whereby a Texas or out-of-state mutual legal reserve life insurance company can merge with a Texas or out-of-state company, and can then become a stock company or remain a mutual. Any merger plans must be approved by the commissioner of insurance, following a public hearing, and must provide for and protect the accumulated funds and interests of the mutual policyholders. The capital and surplus of the converted stock legal reserve life insurance company must be at least the minimum capital and surplus required for the organization of other such companies.

HOUSE BILL 597  HOUSE AUTHOR: Patrick
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85  SENATE SPONSOR: Traeger

House Bill 597 allows insurance companies, other than life, health, and accident insurance companies, to invest in real estate if they have assets in excess of $500 million. These companies are allowed to invest up to 15 percent of any assets in excess of $500 million in real estate that has or will have buildings or other improvements worth at least as much as the acquisition cost of the real estate itself. This may be done so long as no more than five percent of the investable sum is invested in any one piece of property. These insurance companies are prohibited from acting as real estate brokers and are not permitted to own or develop residential property. The act also repeals the requirement that mineral interests acquired since 1941 be sold within 10 years of acquisition.

HOUSE BILL 1470  HOUSE AUTHOR: Lee
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85  SENATE SPONSOR: Glasgow

The Insurance Code states that it is the specific duty of any Texas licensed insurance company to respond to inquiries by the State Board of Insurance with regard to its business. House Bill 1470 amends the provision by requiring all insurance agents and other licensees of the board to respond. The act further provides that information received as a result of such an inquiry which is otherwise privileged or confidential by law will remain so unless and until it is introduced as evidence at an administrative hearing or in a court of competent jurisdiction.
HOUSE BILL 1618

HOUSE AUTHOR: Arnold
SENATE SPONSOR: Harris

House Bill 1618 permits financial institutions and insurance companies already authorized to do business in Texas to register their names with the secretary of state and to have a unique claim to that name. Such corporate names may be reserved even if they are the same as or deceptively similar to another authorized corporate name provided that the financial institution or insurance company was duly organized before the conflicting corporate name was registered with the secretary of state and has been in continual existence since then.

HOUSE BILL 1779

HOUSE AUTHOR: Messer
SENATE SPONSOR: Jones

House Bill 1779 amends and repeals certain sections of the Insurance Code relating to the authority of insurance agents. Under prior law there were two articles defining agents. A recent Corpus Christi Court of Appeals decision held that the second article could also be seen as determining the authority of an insurance agent acting on behalf of an insurance company. This act repeals that article and clarifies the intent of the first article by stating that an agent is not authorized to alter the terms or conditions of an insurance policy or an application for an insurance policy.

HOUSE BILL 2229

HOUSE AUTHOR: Shea
SENATE SPONSOR: Sims

House Bill 2229 amends the Insurance Code provisions relating to licensure of life insurance counselors so that those provisions do not prevent a person who has earned the professional designation of Chartered Financial Consultant (ChFC) or Certified Financial Planner (CFP) from using that designation to indicate professional achievement.

HOUSE BILL 2305

HOUSE AUTHOR: Haley
SENATE SPONSOR: Brown

House Bill 2305 amends the Insurance Code by adding an article entitled “Motor Vehicle Theft and Motor Vehicle Insurance Fraud Reporting.” This act allows authorized governmental agencies to request from insurers information relevant to the theft of any motor vehicle or the suspected motor vehicle insurance fraud. Information released under the provisions of this act is privileged and not part of any public record, and not generally subject to subpoena in a civil or criminal proceeding. Notice to any authorized governmental agency is sufficient notice to all such agencies and allows the agency to release such information to other authorized governmental agencies. The person or insurer who furnishes this information is not liable for damages in a civil action or subject to criminal prosecution in the absence of malice or fraud.

Policies and Rates

SENATE AUTHOR: Harris
HOUSE SPONSOR: Shea

Currently, the State Board of Insurance regulates the rates charged and the forms used in writing mortgage guaranty insurance. Senate Bill 502 permits mortgage guaranty insurers to put rates and rate changes into effect 15 days after filing them with the State Board of Insurance. The board is authorized to require the filing of data supporting the rates and rate information filed. Rates charged by mortgage guaranty insurers must not be excessive, inadequate, or unfairly discriminatory, and the rate filing must be accompanied by a company official’s certification as to the appropriateness of the charges.

SENATE BILL 544

SENATE AUTHOR: McFarland
HOUSE SPONSOR: C. Evans

Studies show that a principal benefit of alcoholism treatment is a reduced need for treatment of related health disorders that are typically covered by health insurance. Senate Bill 544 requires coverage of alcoholism treatment in group health insurance policies, medical service and HMO plans, and employer-funded and self-funded plans with more than 250 members. The act excludes individual insurance policies, cash indemnity policies, limited-coverage policies, and disability-income policies. It also deletes language that leaves alcohol and other drug dependency coverage to the consumer's option. Health insurance policies and coverage agreements created or extended before this measure's effective date are not affected until they expire or are renewed or amended.

SENATE BILL 1367
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Brooks
HOUSE SPONSOR: Green

Individual accident and sickness policies are strictly regulated under the Insurance Code regarding minimum benefits and standard provisions. Similar statutory standards are not provided for group accident and health policies. Senate Bill 1367 adds provisions to the current statute to provide uniformity in 14 basic provisions of group accident and health contracts. Since some contracts are limited in coverage, the standard provisions are applied only when applicable to a particular contract.

HOUSE BILL 373
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

HOUSE AUTHOR: Patrick
SENATE SPONSOR: Harris

This act amends the Insurance Code requiring insurers to give written notice not less than 30 days before the date on which a premium rate increase takes effect on any group policy of life, health, and accident and health or a group policy of life, health, and accident insurance delivered or issued for delivery in Texas. The insurer must give written notice of the amount of the increase and the date on which the increase is to take effect. This notice is also required for increases in subscriber charges and service fees under group policies provided by health maintenance organizations. Notice must be based on coverages in effect on the date of the notice and nothing within the act prevents the insurer or health maintenance organization from negotiating changes in benefits and rates at the request of the policyholder after the required notice has been given.

HOUSE BILL 695
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

HOUSE AUTHOR: Gavin
SENATE SPONSOR: Glasgow

This measure allows insurers to issue new policies for life, health, and accident insurance immediately after filing those policies with the State Board of Insurance. This will allow the insurers and agents to market a new policy while awaiting review by the State Board of Insurance. An attorney, actuary, or chief executive officer of the insurer must certify that the filed form complies with the Insurance Code and with board rules. The forms are approved automatically if not affirmatively approved or disapproved by the board within 60 days. Insurers using this procedure are subject to disciplinary action by the commissioner of insurance for forms in violation of the Insurance Code or board rules. The commissioner may order the insurer to amend a form or issue a corrected form to replace one found in violation of a statute or rule. Certification is a procedure insurers may use in addition to that which is provided under current law.

HOUSE BILL 1628
EFFECTIVE: 6-15-85

HOUSE AUTHOR: Gavin
SENATE SPONSOR: Harris

This act gives life insurance companies more flexibility in the updating of life, endowment, or annuity policy benefits to existing policyholders. It does this by permitting a life insurance company to exchange, alter, or convert any policy of life, endowment, or annuity for or into an existing policy as of a date on or after the effective date of the existing policy. It also states that if the new policy is issued to be in effect prior to the date of exchange, alteration, or conversion, the amount of new coverage may not exceed the greater of:

(a) the amount of coverage that the original policy's or annuity's premium would have purchased under the terms of the new policy, at the insurer's age when the original policy was issued; or

(b) the amount of the original policy or annuity.

Trade Practices

SENATE BILL 1127
EFFECTIVE: 5-24-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Glasgow
HOUSE SPONSOR: Gavin

HOUSE AUTHOR: Messer
SENATE SPONSOR: Glasgow

This act amends the Insurance Code concerning suits by consumers and competitors for deceptive or unfair practices in the business of insurance. The measure ends the current requirement that an award triple the amount of actual damages to be made to a plaintiff who successfully sues an insurance agent or company for such practices. The award is changed to the amount of actual damages plus court costs and reasonable and necessary attorney’s fees. If it is found that the act is “knowingly committed,” the court shall award, in addition, two times the amount of actual damages or one of two other alternatives. A person wishing to sue an insurer is required to give 30 days’ written notice to the insurer, specifying the complaint, the amount of damages and expenses, and reasonable attorney’s fees. The insurer has 30 days to make a written offer of settlement. If the settlement offer is rejected, it can be filed as evidence with the court hearing the suit. If the amount offered in the settlement is found to be the same or reasonably the same as the actual damages, the judge will award either the proposed settlement or the actual damages, whichever is less.

HOUSE BILL 1508

HOUSE AUTHOR: Gavin
SENATE SPONSOR: Glasgow

Article 21.21 of the Insurance Code regulates trade practices of the insurance business by defining and prohibiting unfair methods of competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in the business of insurance. House Bill 1508 amends this article to clarify the intent that penalties for violations of Article 21.21 are not claims under any of the various guaranty fund acts, including the Life, Accident, Health, and Hospital Service Insurance Guaranty Association Act.

HOUSE BILL 1811

HOUSE AUTHOR: Gavin
SENATE SPONSOR: Caperton

This act amends the Insurance Code concerning unauthorized insurance activities. The existing fine and forfeiture penalties are replaced by a civil penalty of up to $10,000 for violating any provision of the unauthorized activities law. The commissioner of insurance has authority to request information from any entity suspected of violating the Insurance Code. The attorney general is directed to conduct a suit for injunctive relief or to recover civil penalties or both at the request of the commissioner. Any injunction shall be issued without bond. The measure also adds new language providing indemnification or expense reimbursement for medical expenses. This reimbursement can be made through an agent, insurer, administrator, funding mechanism, or other method.

The code is also amended to require an insurer or person claiming exemption from state insurance regulation to file supporting documents with the commissioner before commencing operations.

Guaranty Acts

HOUSE AUTHOR: Lee
SENATE SPONSOR: Harris

House Bill 1433 relates to certain insurance company insolvencies and limitations on covered claims. The act excludes from coverage under the Texas Property and Casualty Insurance Guaranty Act municipal bond insurance and sureties. The guaranty act sets up a fund to pay off claimants against certain types of insurers if the insurers become insolvent. The act is also amended by removing all limits on claims for workers’ compensation benefits, by increasing the limits imposed on each claim for unearned premium from $500 to $1,000, and by increasing the current limit on each covered claim from $50,000 to $100,000. The act exempts from any limit the amount to be paid from the guaranty fund on a claim for workers’ compensation, as well as deleting superfluous language that inappropriately mentions insolvent workers’ compensation insurance.

HOUSE BILL 1808

HOUSE AUTHOR: Gavin
SENATE SPONSOR: Montford

This measure amends the Texas Life, Health and Accident Guaranty Act by adding “annuities” to the definitions of “net direct written premiums” and “lines of business.” This will provide the commissioner of insurance the authority to use annuity consideration when calculating guaranty fund assessments. House Bill 1808 also prohibits guaranty fund member companies from advertising that their policies are protected by the guaranty act. This will bring the act in line with other guaranty acts which currently prohibit such advertising.

Savings and loan associations are required to have insurance to cover losses from acts or omissions of officers and employees, as well as losses arising from burglary or robbery. This blanket coverage has become difficult to obtain, even at increased premiums. Senate Bill 853 allows savings and loan associations to band together to form an insurance trust to provide necessary insurance coverage. The insurance trust is subject to the approval and supervision of the State Board of Insurance. The trust, however, is not considered to be engaged in the business of insurance that would be regulated by other provisions in the Insurance Code.

This act permits closed meetings between the board and its staff, and agents or representatives of an insurance company, to determine the action to be taken with respect to the company's solvency.

This subsection provides authority to the State Board of Insurance to receive, review, and approve assumed name certificates of foreign insurers under the provisions of the Business & Commerce Code.

HOUSE BILL 1861
HOUSE AUTHOR: Craddick
EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Howard

Homeowners who install certain security devices are eligible for a homeowners insurance discount. The devices must be inspected for compliance with certain standards by certified inspectors. This act provides that the inspectors be peace officers licensed and certified by the Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education rather than, as previously provided, city or county employees certified by the Texas Crime Prevention Institute. In addition, assignment of inspectors will now be made at the city or county level, rather than at the state level.

The State Board of Insurance is also given rulemaking authority to set alternative standards for security devices that are equivalent to those that qualify under the statutory standards.
LABOR

Labor legislation enacted in 1985 includes House Bill 71, which establishes a shared work unemployment program as an alternative to employee layoffs of a specified scope and duration. House Bill 32, following on 1984 legislation that extended workers' compensation coverage to agricultural workers, extends to these workers' unemployment compensation coverage as well. House Bill 724 amends the maximum maintenance tax rate on workers' compensation insurance premiums, and House Bill 118 amends the calculation of the unemployment tax rate for new employers.

Other chapters summarize measures relating to occupational safety legislation. House Bill 2091, found in the chapter on sunset legislation, establishes an occupational disease reporting system and abolishes the Occupational Safety Board while retaining its programs within the Texas Department of Health. House Bill 1112, found in the chapter on environment, requires certain information to be made available to workers who handle dangerous chemicals.

Shared Work Unemployment Program

HOUSE BILL 71
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Criss
SENATE SPONSOR: Blake

At least seven states have implemented "worksharing" programs to provide alternatives to layoffs. House Bill 71 creates a shared work unemployment program in Texas to be administered by the Texas Employment Commission. The program enables employees who would otherwise be laid off to work reduced hours at correspondingly reduced wages and to remain eligible to collect some unemployment compensation benefits. To participate, an employer must submit a shared work plan to the commission for approval and must certify that its implementation is in lieu of temporary layoffs in an affected unit that would affect at least 10 percent of the employees in that unit. A shared work plan must apply to at least 10 percent of the employees in an affected unit and must provide for a reduction of work hours by not less than 10 percent and not more than 40 percent. The commission may not pay shared work benefits to an individual for more than 26 weeks in a benefit year. Participating employers will be assessed a reasonable fee by the commission to cover administrative costs.

HOUSE AUTHOR: Blake
SENATE SPONSOR: Criss

Senate Bill 424 requires that an employer repay the unemployment compensation fund the amount by which a back pay award made to an employee was reduced because the employee received unemployment compensation benefits. The employer must notify the Texas Employment Commission within 12 days after the employer learns of the reduction in the back pay award. An employee whose back pay award is reduced because the employee received unemployment compensation payments is not liable to the fund for the amount of the benefits paid.

HOUSE BILL 32
EFFECTIVE: 1-1-86
HOUSE AUTHOR: Criss
SENATE SPONSOR: Mauzy

The Texas Unemployment Compensation Act excluded most types of agricultural labor from benefit coverage. A recent court ruling declared the exclusions unconstitutional. House Bill 32 provides unemployment compensation coverage for most farm and ranch laborers, including seasonal and migrant workers.

Effective January 1, 1986, a farm or ranch is an employing unit required to pay unemployment compensation taxes if it paid cash wages of $7,500 or more during a recent calendar quarter or employed at least four agricultural laborers for a certain period during a current or past year. Beginning January 1, 1987, the quarter wages level is reduced to $6,250 and the employment level is reduced to three laborers. A labor agent who furnishes farm and ranch laborers is made liable for payment of taxes. If the agent does not pay the required taxes, the person with whom the agent contracts is jointly liable with the agent for payment.

HOUSE BILL 118
EFFECTIVE: 6-10-85
HOUSE AUTHOR: Criss
SENATE SPONSOR: Blake

This act changes the manner in which the unemployment compensation tax rate of new employers is calculated. The Texas Employment Commission is required under House Bill 118 to establish an annual average contribution rate for each standard industrial classification established under the United States Office of Management and Budget. New employers shall pay contributions for the calendar year at the rate established for that year for the division to which the employer is assigned, or at two and seven-tenths percent of the wages paid by that employer, whichever is greater. This rate is imposed until a rate can be figured on the basis of actual experience. The act includes a provision to prevent reorganization of existing businesses in order to be considered new businesses subject to the average industrial division rate. Employers who acquire a business in whole or part also acquire the business’s experience rate.

HOUSE BILL 1263
HOUSE AUTHOR: Keller
SENATE SPONSOR: Harris

House Bill 1263 makes certain sales agents who work on a commission basis ineligible for unemployment compensation benefits based on that employment.

HOUSE BILL 1385

HOUSE BILL 1787
HOUSE AUTHOR: Leonard
SENATE SPONSOR: Blake

The amount of unemployment compensation benefits an individual is eligible to receive is based on the amount of benefit wage credits earned. The credits were based on past wages not exceeding the social security wage cap, which for 1985 is $39,600. House Bill 1787 requires that employers report total wages paid to employees to the Texas Employment Commission and that the amount of benefit wage credits that may be earned by an individual be based on total wages.

HOUSE BILL 2107
HOUSE AUTHOR: C. Smith
SENATE SPONSOR: Blake

To facilitate the repayment of a 1982 federal loan to the state’s unemployment compensation fund and to maintain a low employer tax rate, House Bill 2107 revises the administration of certain state unemployment compensation funds. The advance interest trust fund was created in 1982 to pay interest incurred on advances from the federal unemployment trust fund. This act provides that the fund may also be used to repay temporary transfers of surplus cash that may be made between the fund and other funds. The governor is permitted to authorize the Texas Employment Commission to transfer money from the fund to the unemployment compensation fund to avoid loss of federal tax credit for Texas employers or to avoid paying interest on a federal advance or loan. An additional unemployment tax is levied on employers if the commission determines that funds are not otherwise available to pay interest on a federal advance.

In addition, the act includes provisions identical to those in House Bill 1385 providing that certain funds in the unemployment compensation special administration fund be deposited in the federal unemployment trust fund at the end of the state’s fiscal year.

Workers’ Compensation

SENATE BILL 382
SENATE AUTHOR: Mauzy
HOUSE SPONSOR: Cain

The act provides a procedure whereby the Industrial Accident Board will receive notice of appeals and judgments in workers’ compensation cases. In all cases appealed from the board to a district or county court, the clerk of the court must, within 20 days after the suit is filed, mail the board a notice giving the style, number, and date of filing. The clerk must also, within 20 days after the judgment, mail the board a certified copy of the judgment. The failure of the attorney preparing the judgment to file a copy of the judgment does not excuse the clerk from the duty of mailing a certified copy to the board. The clerk is entitled to reasonable fees for these services, which are charged as court costs.
SENATE BILL 909
EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85

Senate Bill 909 allows a claimant to file suit to enforce a workers’ compensation settlement approved by the Industrial Accident Board or to enforce a court-approved agreed judgment. A 12 percent penalty and a reasonable attorney’s fee is recoverable in addition to the settlement amount.

HOUSE BILL 724
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

The state’s workers’ compensation program, administered by the Industrial Accident Board, is funded by a maintenance tax on the gross premiums collected by workers’ compensation insurers during the preceding year. House Bill 724 changes the fixed tax rate of .45 percent to a flexible rate to be adjusted by the board but not exceeding .7 percent.

The act also authorizes the board to accept grants and gifts to be used for the purposes expressly prescribed by the donors.

HOUSE BILL 865
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

The Industrial Accident Board administers the second injury fund to pay workers’ compensation to a previously injured worker who suffers a subsequent injury that results in incapacity to which both injuries contributed. House Bill 865 provides that the board is entitled to recover claims on the fund from third parties, for example, insurance companies. Money recovered is to be credited to the second injury fund.

See the chapter on public officials and employees for legislation relating to workers’ compensation coverage of public employees.
MENTAL HEALTH AND MENTAL RETARDATION

Legislation summarized in this chapter includes Senate Bill 633, which enacts many of the recommendations of the interim Legislative Oversight Committee on Mental Health and Mental Retardation. Appointment to this position, which is subject to approval by the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, will be made by the commissioner of mental health and mental retardation, and the director of operations will assist the commissioner in the administration of departmental matters not related to medical or other programmatic functions.

Senate Bill 217 also transfers rulemaking authority from the commissioner to the board. The commissioner is directed, with the approval of the board, to establish the duties and functions of all department staff and to appoint the head of each facility and institution administered by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

SENATE BILL 419
EFFECTIVE: 6-12-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Krier

Under the Texas Pharmacy Act, all pharmacies are required to be licensed by the State Board of Pharmacy and are grouped by the act into four classifications. As defined by state law, the term “Class C pharmacy” applies to a pharmacy located in a hospital or other inpatient facility that is licensed by the Texas Department of Health or operated by the state. Senate Bill 419 amends this definition to specifically include pharmacies located in private psychiatric hospitals that are licensed under the Texas Mental Health Code.

SENATE BILL 633
EFFECTIVE: 6-12-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Brooks
HOUSE SPONSOR: Vowell

The Legislative Oversight Committee on Mental Health and Mental Retardation was established in June 1984 and was charged with recommending policy changes to improve the delivery and service system provided by the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. Several of the recommendations made by the committee have been enacted into state law through the provisions of Senate Bill 633.

The act requires the department to initiate a long-range plan to serve as the basis for the department’s biennial budget request and outlines the elements to be included in the plan. The act also requires the board to appoint a citizen’s planning advisory committee to advise the department on the development and implementation of the plan.

Senate Bill 633 also amends several procedural requirements with regard to the operations of community-based mental health and mental retardation centers. One provision requires community centers to charge reasonable fees for services and prohibits the denial of services due to inability to pay. Other portions of the act direct the boards of trustees of community centers to establish operational policies and standards that are consistent with the department’s policies and standards.

The act eliminates state grants-in-aid and provides for contracts between the department and community providers. In determining eligibility for a contract, the department shall ensure that certain mental health and mental retardation services are available in each service area, and the department may contract with designated providers other than a community center if the department determines that the community centers are unable to provide the minimum required services. The act also permits the department to audit, supervise, and enforce the contracts.

Under the terms of an agreement between the department and a community center requesting the funding, a renovation project must meet certain eligibility requirements. The department will obtain a lien against the center’s buildings and facilities in an amount equal to the funding. The lien is released when the funding has been repaid in full. HOUSE BILL 1256
HOUSE AUTHOR: Oliver
SENATE SPONSOR: Farabee

House Bill 1256 amends the recently revised Texas Mental Health Code by enacting several procedural changes relating to voluntary and involuntary mental health proceedings and to the rights of patients. A major substantive change alters the criteria to be used in determining whether a person’s condition warrants emergency detention in a mental health facility prior to a commitment hearing. New language, which conforms to the standards required to obtain an order for involuntary court-ordered treatment, states that certain conditions of emotional distress and mental deterioration must be present to justify precommitment trial detention.

Another important change in House Bill 1256 authorizes the committing court to issue an order for temporary detention allowing the hospitalization for up to 72 hours of a patient receiving court-ordered outpatient care who is awaiting a modification hearing. The court may order the detention if it finds that there is probable cause to believe that a patient ordered into outpatient care either has not complied with the original order or has deteriorated and requires inpatient care to evaluate the proper setting for continued care.

The act further permits a judge to designate magistrates to issue protective custody orders in the judge’s absence and requires that the newly established criteria for emergency detention cases shall also apply to orders for protective custody. A third major revision to the Texas Mental Health Code authorizes a judge or designated magistrate to issue protective custody orders even though the person for whom protective custody is sought has criminal charges pending.

House Bill 1256 also authorizes courts to give actual notice to persons involved in mental health proceedings, clarifies county responsibilities for court costs, and adds new provisions to protect the confidentiality of mental health records. Other provisions authorize multiple continuances of hearings under certain conditions and allow special continuances of protective custody hearings in cases of extreme weather emergencies.

Under the provisions of Senate Bill 1295, this facility, designated as the Harris County Psychiatric Center, is transferred to The University of Texas System and is to be operated in accordance with the rules and regulations established by The University of Texas board of regents and this act. Other provisions of the act transfer the operation of the Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences (TRIMS) to the authority of the board of regents of The University of Texas System. The sum of $1 million, which was allocated to the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for the conduct of research at the institute, is transferred to the university system for this purpose. Also transferred are any gifts, grants, and unexpended TRIMS funding, with the exception of certain previously appropriated training and program development funds which will be retained by the department.

After the transfer of operations takes effect, priority consideration for employment by either The University of Texas System or Harris County at the psychiatric center shall be given to employees of the Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences. If eligible, former TRIMS employees previously covered by the Employees Retirement System will become members of the Teachers Retirement System of Texas.
PARKS AND WILDLIFE

The Parks and Wildlife Department and its governing Parks and Wildlife Commission, up for sunset review in 1985, were renewed under Senate Bill 464 found in the chapter on sunset legislation. The renewal measure gives the commission discretion to set certain fees at amounts higher than previous statutory limitations.

Parks legislation includes an authorization, under Senate Bill 1355, of a sesquicentennial park and street beautification program near the Capitol grounds in Austin as part of Texas’ upcoming 150th anniversary celebration. Wildlife legislation includes Senate Bill 980, which follows up on the legislature’s 1981 enactment of a prohibition on commercial fishing for redfish and speckled trout. The new legislation attempts to control shipments of these species, which may still be caught out of state or by Texas fishermen, so as to deter commerce in illegal fish. The 69th Legislature also enacted Senate Bill 609 converting state shrimp and oyster regulation from statutory regulation by the legislature to administrative regulation by the Parks and Wildlife Commission. Another measure, Senate Bill 279, is designed to ensure the integrity of freshwater fishing tournaments.

SENATE BILL 1125
EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85

The act also redefines the term “debt” for the purposes of effective tax rate calculations.

In addition, a tax rate must now be adopted in two parts. The first part relates to a debt service rate and the second relates to the portion of the tax rate needed to fund maintenance and operation expenses of the unit. Provisions are repealed permitting a taxing unit to publish a proposed rate increase in terms of total tax levied rather than as an increase in the tax rate.

The act grants taxpayers standing to sue taxing units to enforce compliance with the rate computation, publication, and adoption procedures.

Taxable Property and Exemptions

SENATE BILL 602
EFFECTIVE: 6-7-85
HOUSE SPONSOR: Schlueeter

The act requires that a local option homestead exemption be adopted by a taxing unit before May 1 of the tax year.

SENATE BILL 809
EFFECTIVE: 1-1-86
HOUSE SPONSOR: Kuempel

The state constitution authorizes the legislature to exempt by general law from taxation “institutions of purely public charity.” The Tax Code implements this authority and specifies the conditions that an organization must meet to qualify as a charitable institution exempt from property taxation. This act amends the conditions to allow certain charitable organizations to pledge their assets upon dissolution indirectly, through their members, to the state or to organizations that qualify as charitable under a section of the federal Internal Revenue Code. This act also allows an organization to qualify as charitable if it provides for the organized solicitation and collection for distributions through gifts, grants, and agreements to nonprofit charitable, education, religious, and youth organizations that provide direct human, health, and welfare services and if it meets certain other organizational requirements.
SENATE BILL 1364
EFFECTIVE: 5-15-85
Senate Bill 1364 amends the Property Redevelopment and Tax Abatement Act by expanding the areas eligible for reinvestment zone agreements to abate property taxes in exchange for improvements conforming with a comprehensive development plan. An incorporated city or town may now designate reinvestment zones and execute tax abatement agreements in the extraterritorial jurisdiction of the city. To encourage economic development, a county commissioners court may now designate reinvestment zones and execute tax abatement agreements in any areas of the county not contained in the taxing jurisdiction of an incorporated city or town. Property may be located simultaneously in reinvestment zones designated by a city and by a county.

Appraisal and Assessment

SENATE BILL 67
EFFECTIVE: 1-1-86
This act requires the chief appraiser of an appraisal district, on receiving a taxpayer report claiming a decrease in the appraised value of oil and gas property, to review and verify the appraisal and note his determination on the back of the report. The appraiser no longer has to physically visit the property, however.

SENATE BILL 79
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
The Tax Code provides that members of an appraisal district board of directors serve two-year terms beginning on January 1 of each even-numbered year. This act permits the taxing units that participate in an appraisal district to institute staggered terms for the board of directors. A change to staggered terms is optional.

SENATE BILL 515
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
The Tax Code provides that information about real or personal property sales prices voluntarily disclosed to an appraisal district office after a commitment of confidentiality is confidential and not open to public inspection. This act amends the law to include as confidential such information given directly to the State Property Tax Board, and it also provides protection from civil liability for a person who discloses sales information to an appraisal office or the State Property Tax Board.

SENATE BILL 575
EFFECTIVE: 6-14-85
The act directs that an appraisal review board must complete substantially all timely filed protests before approving the appraisal records and may not approve the records if unresolved pending protests represent more than five percent of the total taxable value of the taxing unit. Since values under protest are not included in the appraisal records, this provision ensures that a taxing unit has generally complete approved records when considering the tax rate.

SENATE BILL 623
EFFECTIVE: 6-11-85
The act authorizes a tax assessor who assesses taxes for more than one taxing unit to issue, rather than one unified bill, a separate tax bill for a unit that does not adopt a tax rate within 60 days of the certification of the approved tax roll. The additional cost of the separate billing will be borne by the taxing unit that is late in adopting its rate.

SENATE BILL 760
EFFECTIVE: 6-12-85
The Tax Code specifies the procedure by which a taxpayer may protest to an appraisal review board certain actions of the chief appraiser. This act changes the deadline for written notice of protest from prior to the date the board approves the appraisal records to either before July 1 or not later than the 20th day after the date on which the appraisal records are submitted to the board, whichever is later.

The act also provides for a late protest if there has been a failure by the chief appraiser or board to deliver a notice to which a property owner is entitled. A late protest involving a failure to deliver notice must be filed nevertheless before the date that the taxes on the property to which the notice applies become delinquent.
SENATE BILL 908

SENATE AUTHOR: Jones
EFFECTIVE: 1-1-86
HOUSE SPONSOR: R. Lewis

The State Property Tax Board has been required to conduct a biennial study to determine the “weighted average level of appraisal” in each appraisal district using a reasonable and representative sample of properties. This figure is used as a basis for property owner protests on the grounds of unequal appraisal. This act replaces the weighted average level of appraisal with the median level of appraisal and requires the board to conduct its study to determine the median level of appraisal annually rather than biannually.

SENATE BILL 978

SENATE AUTHOR: Jones
EFFECTIVE: 6-15-85
HOUSE SPONSOR: Shea

The act sets forth a procedure by which an appraisal review board may correct substantial errors in the appraisal roll. Current law provides only for the correction of clerical errors not affecting the amount of a tax. The procedure is initiated by a motion filed jointly by the chief appraiser and a property owner.

HOUSE BILL 1188

HOUSE AUTHOR: Schlueter
EFFECTIVE: 5-24-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Jones

A taxpayer’s appeal to district court of an order of an appraisal review board may not proceed if the taxpayer does not make a partial payment of the taxes due before the delinquency date. This act allows a taxpayer to seek a court hearing to review and determine compliance with the partial payment requirement and gives the taxpayer 30 days to complete compliance if the court finds that the taxpayer has complied substantially but not fully with the payment requirement.

HOUSE BILL 1202

HOUSE AUTHOR: Pennington
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Whitmire

The act provides procedures for the recall of a member of an appraisal district board of directors by the governing bodies of the taxing units that originally elected the board member. Procedures are also specified for replacing a board member removed as the result of a recall.

HOUSE BILL 2044

HOUSE AUTHOR: Schlueter
EFFECTIVE: 1-1-86
SENATE SPONSOR: Jones

A chief appraiser of an appraisal district is required to prepare appraisal records listing all property that is taxable in the district and stating the appraised value. This act requires the chief appraiser also to list tax-exempt property owned by the state, except property owned or held by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

HOUSE BILL 2045

HOUSE AUTHOR: Schlueter
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Jones

House Bill 2045 amends state law relating to the manner in which agricultural land is appraised by modifying the definition of “net to land.” Under new provisions, the term refers to the average net income derived from the use of open-space land that would have been earned during the five-year period preceding the year before the appraisal of the land. Under prior law, the term referred to the five-year period immediately preceding the time of the appraisal.

HOUSE BILL 2067

HOUSE AUTHOR: Heflin
EFFECTIVE: 6-10-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Brown

This act provides that the board of directors of an appraisal district in a county with a population of at least 1,500,000 may appoint not more than 15 additional members to the appraisal review board to serve as needed to hear taxpayer protests and to assist the board with other functions. The additional members are not voting members of the appraisal review board. The powers and duties of additional members are also specified.

HOUSE BILL 2298

HOUSE AUTHOR: Shea
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Leedom

This act clarifies the proper parties in an appeal of an appraisal review board order. A chief appraiser’s appeal to district court of a taxpayer protest must be brought against the appraisal review board and the property owner. A taxing unit’s appeal of a challenge must be brought against the appraisal district, the appraisal review board, and the property owner.
The act permits the taxing units participating in an appraisal district to change the fiscal year of the district. The fiscal year of a district is the calendar year unless the governing bodies of three-fourths of the taxing units that may vote for board appointments adopt resolutions to change the fiscal year.

The act changes the date by which a property owner must deliver rendition statements and property reports to a chief appraiser from May 1 to April 1. Extensions are permitted but in no event beyond May 15. The act also sets May 15 as a mandatory deadline for the chief appraiser to submit appraisal records to taxing units and provides that taxing units may sue the chief appraiser or the appraisal review board to compel compliance with certain deadlines in the process of compiling and certifying the appraisal roll.

Collections and Delinquency

This act permits a tax collector, with approval of the taxing unit's governing body, to adopt a policy of accepting partial payments of property taxes. Partial payment does not affect the date that the tax becomes delinquent, but penalties and interest would be incurred only on the portion of a tax that remains unpaid on the date the tax becomes delinquent.

This act provides for a delayed delinquency date for individual tax bills mailed after January 10. Under prior law, a delayed date could be set only if all or substantially all of a taxing unit's bills were mailed after January 10.

The act provides that the annual notice of current delinquency and the five-year notice of delinquency need not be delivered if the tax collector does not know the delinquent taxpayer's name and address. It also repeals the requirement for newspaper publication of delinquency for a taxpayer whose name or address is unknown.

This act permits a taxing unit to waive penalties and interest on a delinquent tax bill if an act or omission of its personnel caused or contributed to the delinquent payment and if the tax is paid within 21 days after the taxpayer becomes aware of the delinquency.
PUBLIC LANDS

The 69th Legislature passed sunset renewal laws continuing the School Land Board (Senate Bill 493), the Veterans' Land Board (Senate Bill 316), and the Board for Lease of University Lands (Senate Bill 261), and transferred to the School Land Board authority previously exercised by certain other boards with regard to state-park and state-agency lands (also Senate Bill 493). The three renewal laws are found in the chapter on sunset legislation.

This chapter summarizes Senate Bill 43, which creates an asset management division within the General Land Office to evaluate state-owned real property. Many other measures summarized in this chapter deal with the sale or other conveyance of specific properties. The chapter on energy, along with portions of House Bill 1912 described here, covers new legislation pertaining to oil, gas, and mineral leases on public lands.

Senate Bill 43 provides for an accounting and central review of certain state real property and creates a funding source for capital budgeting needs. The act creates the assets management division in the General Land Office for the purpose of reviewing and evaluating lands owned by the state and making recommendations regarding use and disposition. The division shall review the real property inventory of each state agency not less than every four years and shall conduct a review during the year before an agency is scheduled for abolition under the sunset act. The division is directed to prepare a list of the current market values of all state-owned real property not later than September 1, 1988. If the legislature authorizes a real estate transaction involving real property owned by the state, the division shall take control of the property and complete the transaction on behalf of the state. The proceeds from the transaction are to be deposited in the Texas capital trust fund, which is created by the act. The fund may be used to finance the acquisition of real and personal property; the purchase, construction, or renovation of a state building; or the administration of the asset management division. The fund may not exceed $500 million.

HOUSE AUTHOR: Shaw
SENATE SPONSOR: Santiesteban

House Bill 1952 amends various chapters of the Natural Resources Code relating to the powers and duties of the General Land Office and the School Land Board. The act requires channel and dock companies to apply for easements on state land. Previously such companies, under their charters, could acquire easements at their discretion and free of charge. This change applies to easements acquired after January 1, 1985.

The act also strengthens the ability of the General Land Office to pursue payment of royalties from mineral leases of land in which the state owns an interest. Such leases must now be filed with the General Land Office to be effective. In addition, provisions are enacted that will facilitate the state in obtaining information from the federal government about oil and gas development on the outer continental shelf.

Changes are enacted regarding the lease and purchase of a vacancy (an area of unsurveyed public school land not listed on the records of the land office as public school land) and the issuance of a permit to prospect. The penalty and interest provisions that apply to unpaid royalties from oil and gas leases are applied to hard mineral leases.

selection of vendors of investment contracts, the sales practices and advertising materials of the vendors, and the disclosure of information concerning investment contracts. The act further states that any state employee

Although these contracts are limited to a length of five years, the administrator of the plan may renew or renegotiate the contract for an additional period. If the amounts deferred by a state employee cannot be transferred immediately to the participating vendor, the comptroller may place the funds with the treasury until the transfer, and those funds will earn interest while awaiting transfer.

Senate Bill 295 requires the basic group insurance coverage provided to employees of state colleges and universities to be comparable, rather than at least equal, to coverage commonly provided to employees of private industry and to other state employees. The act also requires an institution of higher learning to offer an employee optional insurance coverage if the cost of the basic coverage exceeds the amount appropriated by the legislature for an employee. If the employee chooses the basic coverage rather than the optional coverage, the institution may deduct from the employee’s monthly wages up to one-half of the amount that the insurance premium exceeds the state’s contribution, and the institution will pay the difference. For employees paid from funds other than those appropriated by the General Appropriations Act, the institution must contribute an amount equal to the amount appropriated for each employee under the General Appropriations Act. If the premium payment exceeds the employer contribution because the employee chooses optional dependent coverage, the excess premium will be deducted from the monthly wages of the employee.

This act also authorizes the administrative council that oversees the state college and university group insurance program to provide reasonable flexibility for institutions to design a plan around existing local conditions and requires the administrative council to take competitive bids for insurance coverage once every six, rather than every four, years.

RETIREMENT

SENATE BILL 105

This act creates a new retirement plan, entitled the Judicial Retirement System of Texas Plan Two, for district and appellate judges whose service begins after the bill takes effect. Plan Two will operate on earnings and contributions from working judges and the state and is the first retirement system for judges of district and appellate courts to have advanced (or actuarial) funding.

Under the new plan, judges will contribute six percent of their state salaries, and the state is obligated to contribute at a rate sufficient to enable the plan to operate without actuarial liability. Benefits under the existing retirement plan, which is renamed the Judicial Retirement System of Texas Plan One, are linked to the salaries of currently sitting judges while benefits under Plan Two are linked to a retiree's salary during his or her last 60 months of service.

In addition, this act removes prohibitions against the practice of law in court by retired judges who do not elect to be available for assignment as visiting judges and adds new conditions to the list of those that render a retiree ineligible for appointment as a visiting judge.

The act is effective on September 1, 1985, or after internal revenue certification, whichever is later.

All members of the Teacher Retirement System of Texas who are not covered by the State Employees Uniform Group Insurance Program or the College and University Group Insurance Program are required to contribute .25 percent of their salaries for the program. The state will contribute an amount based on TRS members' salaries, beginning at .35 percent and rising to .5 percent. Participants in the program are required to pay premiums to cover optional plans.

It requires the annual financial report of a public retirement system, except for reports by certain very small systems, to include the financial statements and schedules examined in the most recent audit and calls for the statements to conform to generally accepted accounting principles. The act also specifies requirements concerning reports filed by public retirement systems with the State Pension Review Board and requires an annual statement of total accumulated service credit to be prepared for each member of a public retirement system. Until September
1, 1988, the State Pension Review Board may exempt a public retirement system from the requirement that it provide each member such an annual statement if the requirement will create an administrative hardship for the system. Copies of the most recent report to the State Pension Review Board must be kept by each public retirement system at its main office for public review.

STATE TAXES AND TAX ADMINISTRATION

This chapter provides descriptions of legislation relating to state taxes and to local taxes involving state administration. Enactments relating to property taxation are summarized in another chapter.

A significant measure included in this chapter is House Bill 1949, which revises state taxation of telecommunication services. Also included are selected provisions of House Bill 955, designed to encourage the selection of a Texas port as the site for a major Navy facility.

Telecommunication Taxation

HOUSE BILL 1949

EFFECTIVE: 10-1-85

HOUSE AUTHORITY: Gibson

SENATE SPONSOR: Farabee

This act makes telecommunication services, other than interstate long distance service and local trunk service, subject to the state sales and use tax. To eliminate problems of multiple taxation, the act clarifies the application of gross receipts taxes on telephone companies and repeals the gross receipts tax on telegraph services, which became subject to the sales and use tax. Interstate long distance service is untaxed and basic local exchange telephone service is subject to the gross receipts tax. Privately owned coin-operated telephones will be subject to the sales tax, and receipts from coin-operated telephones owned by a telephone company will continue to be subject to a gross receipts tax.

Telecommunication services are exempt from city and transit authority sales taxes unless imposed by a majority vote of the governing body of the city or transit authority.

National Defense Impacted Region Assistance Act of 1985

HOUSE BILL 955

EFFECTIVE: see below

HOUSE AUTHORITY: A. Smith

SENATE SPONSOR: Brown

House Bill 955 is the National Defense Impacted Region Assistance Act of 1985, which provides state financial assistance to any region of the state that is affected by new construction or expansion of a major United States Navy facility. Because the legislature believes that the location of this proposed facility in Texas would provide substantial economic benefit to the state, it passed this act ensuring adequate provision of government services as an incentive to the Navy to choose a site in Texas.

Among its provisions, the act amends the Tax Code to exempt from the sales tax property bought by a contractor for use in improving realty in connection with the construction of the naval facility. The Texas home port trust fund, to be administered by the governor, is created to provide for public works improvements related to the naval facility. Seventeen million dollars is transferred from the water assistance fund and appropriated to the new fund.

Effective September 1, 1986, the Tax Code is also amended to allocate the portion of the cigarette tax previously allocated to the local parks, recreation, and open space fund to the Texas home port trust fund until $8 million has been allocated. Then, for the balance of the 1987 fiscal year, this portion of the cigarette tax reverts to the local parks fund. If no naval facility is located in Texas, all of these funds go to the local parks fund.

In any event, the Texas home port trust fund lapses on the fourth anniversary of the commencement of construction of the naval facility and all funds revert to the general revenue fund. Improvements made with these funds may be leased to the United States government, but ownership remains with the state, navigation district, or political subdivision.

The act, with the exception noted above, is effective on the date the governor issues an official proclamation declaring the Department of the Navy's decision to locate its facility in Texas. The act expires if the proclamation is not issued on or before January 1, 1986.

This act amends provisions of the Tax Code relating to motor fuel taxes by eliminating the requirement that a gasoline or diesel fuel cargo tank be calibrated by the comptroller to certify actual liquid volume. Advances in tank manufacture and in metering of liquid transfer had negated the need for the requirement.
STATUTORY REVISION

TITLE 1. INTRODUCTORY PROVISIONS
TITLE 2. VOTER QUALIFICATIONS AND REGISTRATION
TITLE 3. ELECTION OFFICERS AND OBSERVERS
TITLE 4. TIME AND PLACE OF ELECTIONS
TITLE 5. ELECTION SUPPLIES
SUBTITLE C. RESTRICTED BALLOT
TITLE 9. CANDIDATES
TITLE 10. POLITICAL PARTIES
SUBTITLE A. INTRODUCTORY PROVISIONS
SUBTITLE B. PARTIES NOMINATING BY PRIMARY ELECTION

TITLE 11. PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS
TITLE 12. ELECTIONS TO FILL VACANCY IN OFFICE
TITLE 13. RECOUNTS
TITLE 14. ELECTION CONTESTS
TITLE 15. (reserved)
TITLE 16. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

All of the old Texas Election Code except Chapter 14, regulating political funds and disclosure, is repealed by this act. A separate bill that would have recodified Chapter 14 as Title 15 of the new code did not pass.

The act provides that if a provision of the code conflicts with another act of the 69th Legislature, the other act prevails. If the other act makes the same substantive change but the text differs, the text in the new code prevails.

Objection to any provision of the new code by the U.S. Justice Department under the federal Voting Rights Act does not affect the validity of the rest of the act. The secretary of state is directed to identify the corresponding provision of prior law in the Texas Election Code, and that old provision shall continue in effect in place of the new provision.

The new Election Code, in addition to reorganizing election law, makes a number of substantive changes to eliminate inconsistencies, clarify provisions, delete or replace obsolete or unworkable laws, standardize or improve procedures, and adopt new practices. The substantive changes are too numerous to list in a brief summary, but among the major ones are the following:

1) The current five-year waiting period for felons to become registered voters is replaced with a two-year waiting period from the date of discharge or completion of probation.

2) A regulatory system for volunteer deputy registrars is provided that clarifies the roles of the voter registrar and the deputies in the registration system.
(3) The county executive committee of a political party is required to provide training programs for its election officers; election judges in elections ordered by the governor or a county authority are required to complete a training program provided by the county clerk.

(4) Voting booths are required to be used at all polling places, rather than at each polling place in a city with a population of 10,000 or more.

(5) The requirements of the federal Overseas Citizens Voting Rights Act of 1975, currently being implemented by directive of the secretary of state, are implemented in the new Election Code.

(6) A specific procedure by which candidates for office may be declared ineligible by certain administrative authorities is provided.

(7) The primary ballot pledge of support for the party's nominees is replaced with a statement that the voter is a member of a particular party and understands that he is ineligible to vote or participate in another political party's primary election or convention during the current voting year.

(8) The biennial state convention for major political parties currently held in September is moved to June.

(9) A standard procedure for obtaining and conducting a recount in any election, regardless of the method of voting, is provided.

TITLE 2. CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE

CHAPTER 102. COSTS PAID BY DEFENDANTS
SUBCHAPTER A. GENERAL COSTS

TRANSPORTATION AND HIGHWAYS

Transportation laws passed by the 69th Legislature include many relating to motor vehicles and their operation. The most important is the mandatory seat belt law, Senate Bill 500, which applies to front seat occupants four years old or older travelling in automobiles and pickup trucks. An earlier law, enacted by the 68th Legislature in 1984 during its 2nd Called Session, requires child restraint systems for all passengers under the age of four, front seat or back. Other new motor vehicle laws of general interest include House Bill 1593 (state government chapter) raising driver's license and vehicle inspection fees, House Bill 913 (this chapter) increasing the penalty for illegally passing a stopped school bus, and House Bill 1819 (alcoholic beverages chapter) increasing the penalty for driving while intoxicated whenever the driver is found with an open container of alcohol. This chapter also summarizes enactments—Senate Bill 662, House Bill 1986, and House Bill 938—affecting the allocation and use of state highway and public transportation funds.

Seat Belts

SENATE BILL 500
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Lyon
HOUSE SPONSOR: Messer

Senate Bill 500 establishes Texas' mandatory safety belt law, which requires the use of safety belts by front seat occupants of cars and of trucks with a manufacturer's rated carrying capacity of not more than 1,500 pounds.

The act applies to persons riding in the front seat of a vehicle equipped with safety belts. A motor vehicle operator who allows a child between the ages of four and 15 to ride in the front seat of the vehicle while unsecured by a safety belt is also in violation of the new law.

Punishment for this offense is not less than $25 nor more than $50, and although Senate Bill 500 takes effect on September 1, 1985, violations will not be subject to penalties until December 1, 1985. A violation of this law will not be included among those offenses which, if committed habitually, may result in a driver's license suspension.

Persons who obtain medical waivers or who are employees of the United States Postal Service traveling on their mail routes are exempted from the act. The act also disallows the use or nonuse of safety belts as evidence in a civil trial and directs the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation to develop public education programs encouraging compliance with the new law.

Under a regulation established by the United States Department of Transportation, all passenger cars manufactured for sale in this country must be equipped with automatic crash protection devices such as air bags and automatic seat belts by September 1, 1989. If by April 1, 1989, however, states representing two-thirds of the nation's population have enacted mandatory seat belt use laws that meet with federally established criteria, the automatic crash protection ruling will be rescinded. Texas' safety belt law currently does not entirely comply with federal guidelines.

Highway Administration

SENATE BILL 662
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Traeger
HOUSE SPONSOR: Rudd

This act amends existing law to raise the limitation on the Department of Public Safety's use of the state highway fund no. 6 from $30 million to $60 million per fiscal year. HOUSE AUTHOR: Cain
SENATE SPONSOR: Traeger

House Bill 1986 permits transportation corporations to undertake highway construction and improvement projects that are approved by and sold to the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission on 225 completion. The corporation may enter into the contracts with the commission only if the commission determines that the proposed projects are intended to become part of the federal and state highway system.

For the purpose of joint funding of highway construction, the act authorizes transportation corporations to contract with home-rule cities, counties, county road districts, and road utility districts. The act also authorizes transportation corporations to issue bonds and notes.

HOUSA AUTHOR: J. Harris
SENATE SPONSOR: Brown
House Bill 2516 designates the portion of State Highway 288 located from the Brazoria County line to Freeport as the Brazoria Parkway and grants the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation the

Public Transportation

HOUSE BILL 938
HOUSE AUTHOR: Hackney
SENATE SPONSOR: Traeger
House Bill 938 reallocates money in the public transportation fund between the formula program and the discretionary program to increase the amount available for the formula program. Only urbanized areas are eligible to receive grants under the formula program.

The act also allows participation in the discretionary program by any entity that is authorized by the governor and federal transportation secretary to operate a public transportation system in an area other than an urbanized area.

HOUSE AUTHOR: Gibson
SENATE SPONSOR: Glasgow
The Public Transportation Fund exists in the state treasury to distribute money to cities for mass transit purposes. Under the provisions of House Bill 1856, a nonprofit corporation organized before September 1, 1985, to provide public transportation in a rural area is eligible to apply for and receive money from the fund if the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation determines that the corporation intends to become self-supporting.

Vehicle Titles and Registration

SENATE BILL 39
HOUSE AUTHOR: Blake
SENATE SPONSOR: Millsap
Senate Bill 39 repeals an obsolete provision of the Certificate of Title Act concerning trailers’ and semitrailers’ identification numbers. Another law passed for the same purpose as the repealed legislation and since amended remains in effect and reflects currently recognized practices of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

SENATE BILL 332
SENATE AUTHOR: Caperton
HOUSE SPONSOR: A. Luna
State law provides for mandatory identification marking on several classes of commercial motor vehicles operating on Texas' roads and highways. Senate Bill 332 requires that certain truck-tractors, road-tractors, and vehicles having more than three axles comply with this regulation. The act also exempts eight classes of commercial motor vehicles from the identification requirement.

SENATE AUTHOR: Henderson
HOUSE SPONSOR: Hilbert
Senate Bill 1139 authorizes a toll road authority in a county with a population of 2.4 million to regulate or prohibit the placement of signs on toll roads. The act sets a penalty for violations of this new law and provides for compensation to sign owners and owners of real property for losses resulting from the removal of signs.
Currently the act applies only to Harris County.
SENATE BILL 1289
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
HOUSE SPONSOR: McKinney

State law provides that certain vehicles operated by or for the use of disabled persons may be issued identification devices that allow these vehicles to be parked in specially designated areas. Senate Bill 1289 adds to the types of vehicles covered by this law motorcycles that have been specifically modified for use by disabled persons.

HOUSE BILL 794
EFFECTIVE: 5-24-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Traeger

Legislation enacted in 1983 allows a county to impose a local motor vehicle registration fee of $5 for its road and bridge fund. Many counties imposed this optional fee effective January 1, 1985. Because a vehicle registration fee can be renewed up to two months before its expiration date, some counties began collecting the fee in November and December, 1984.

Under the provisions of House Bill 794, the acts of the county tax assessor-collector in a county that imposes this fee are validated if the fee was collected or refunded during the last two months of 1984. A receipt for motor vehicle registration issued on or after November 1, 1984, but before February 1, 1985, is conclusive evidence of the payment of the registration fee that was due. The act does not affect any matter that was in litigation or that had been held invalid by a court on the effective date of the act.

HOUSE BILL 919
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Edwards

Under the provisions of House Bill 919, certain four-wheel vehicles designed for off-highway travel are included among the types of motor vehicles that must comply with the state certificate of title law.

HOUSE BILL 1281
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Brooks

House Bill 1281 allows a seller to charge a documentary fee when closing a retail installment sale of a motorcycle, moped, or all-terrain vehicle. If charged, the fee must apply to both cash and credit buyers, must not exceed $25, and must be separately itemized on the contract. The act also provides that a notice accompany the contract stating that the fee is not required by law.

HOUSE BILL 1365
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Krier

Ordinarily, to prosecute a person for receipt of stolen property, it must be established that the person had knowledge of the property's stolen character at the time of receipt. This measure declares that a person engaged in the business of motor vehicle salvage is presumed to have knowledge of the vehicle's or part's stolen character if the person fails to maintain an accurate and legible inventory of vehicles and parts, fails to obtain a transfer document or certificate of title, or fails to remove and safely store an unexpired license plate. A person who purchases or receives a used or secondhand motor vehicle is presumed to have knowledge of the vehicle's stolen character if the person fails to report a vehicle delivered without certificate of title or fails to file with the county tax assessor-collector the registration license receipt and evidence of title received at the time the vehicle was delivered.

Definitions are provided for "certificate of title" and "used or secondhand motor vehicle." In addition, the Certificate of Title Act is amended to require title transfer at the time the motor vehicle is transferred.

HOUSE BILL 1403
EFFECTIVE: 6-15-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Traeger

House Bill 1403 redefines the term "motor vehicle registration year" to be consistent with the state's year-round registration system. The act also provides that vehicle registrations are to be renewed during the two-month period prior to the applicable registration year and that the renewal fee is the fee that is in effect on the first day of the registration year.

HOUSE BILL 1805
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85
SENATE SPONSOR: Uribe

Under the provisions of House Bill 1805, a motor vehicle not manufactured for sale or distribution in the United States may not be titled in Texas until certain documents are submitted by an applicant. These documents must state that the vehicle meets federal safety requirements and conforms with federal emission requirements, and that all gas guzzler taxes due on the vehicle have been paid.

Another provision requires that an application for certificate of title for a vehicle not previously registered and titled in this country must be accompanied by certain documents showing the origin, former ownership, or registration and title cancellation of the vehicle. Those documents must be provided in English.

Drivers' Licenses

SENATE BILL 550
EFFECTIVE: 9-1-85

SENATE AUTHOR: Caperton
HOUSE SPONSOR: Finnell

Senate Bill 550 amends state law relating to conduct that will result in the suspension or denial of a minor's driver's license or permit by adding violations of the Texas Controlled Substances Act to already established prohibitions against driving while intoxicated. The act specifies the period for which a driver's license or permit may be suspended or denied and also provides for the issuance of a provisional license or permit to minors under certain conditions.

SENATE BILL 844

SENATE AUTHOR: Farabee
HOUSE SPONSOR: Adkisson

A medical advisory board has assisted the Department of Public Safety for many years in determining whether driver's license applicants are medically qualified to receive licenses. Senate Bill 844 revises the law pertaining to the board, which is now administered in conjunction with the Medical Standards on Motor Vehicle Operations Division of the Texas Department of Health.

The medical advisory board is specifically given the right to require an applicant to undergo medical or other examinations at the applicant's expense. As an exception to confidentiality of information relating to an applicant's condition, a physician is authorized to notify the board of patients who have disorders or disabilities that are determined to be disqualifications for the issuance of a driver's license.

HOUSE BILL 2329

HOUSE AUTHOR: Cain
SENATE SPONSOR: Blake

House Bill 2329 enacts new law requiring that certain construction equipment defined as "special mobile equipment" be marked with identification numbers and provides a penalty for noncompliance with this regulation. An offense is also committed if unmarked equipment is transported over public roads and highways. The act sets a lesser penalty for persons in violation of this provision who produce a document containing certain information regarding the equipment, its ownership, and its transportation. A penalty of greater severity results if no such document is submitted or if a document is forged. The same penalty applies in cases in which the identification number on the equipment has been removed, altered, or covered.

HOUSE BILL 2420
EFFECTIVE: 8-26-85

HOUSE AUTHOR: Wallace
SENATE SPONSOR: Brooks

In 1982, federally enacted regulations preempted state programs relating to the registration and issuance of special license plates for motor vehicles used by official consuls of foreign governments. House Bill 2420 deletes several provisions of state law that are no longer in effect as a result of the changes in federal law.

Under the former provisions, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation also issued exempt license plates to honorary consuls who serve without diplomatic immunity in Texas as representatives of foreign governments. House Bill 2420 replaces the former statutes by establishing procedures for the issuance of specially designated but nonexempt plates to these government representatives.

Senate Bill 1267, summarized in the business and occupational regulation chapter, relates to permits for movement of manufactured housing.

Insurance Requirements

SENATE BILL 298
EFFECTIVE: 4-30-85
SENATE AUTHOR: Parmer
HOUSE SPONSOR: Finnell

As defined by state law, “motor bus companies” are subject to Railroad Commission of Texas regulations relating to certification, operating fees, and liability insurance. By excluding transportation subcontractors funded by the Texas Department on Aging from the definition of “motor bus companies,” Senate Bill 298 exempts from commission regulations companies providing free, not-for-hire services to the elderly. The bill also requires the department on aging to establish minimum insurance standards for its transportation providers.

SENATE BILL 488
EFFECTIVE: 5-24-85

Senate Bill 488 exempts from commission regulations persons or companies contracted to transport a mobile classroom or simulator driver education unit from one school district to another. The bill requires that those carriers first show proof of insurance coverage for each motor vehicle used for that purpose.

HOUSE BILL 2481
HOUSE AUTHOR: Danburg
SENATE SPONSOR: Washington

Under state law, a person’s conviction of failure to maintain adequate automobile insurance coverage results in the suspension of the person’s driver’s license and motor vehicle registration unless the person establishes and maintains proof of financial responsibility for five years from the date of conviction. House Bill 2481 amends the Texas Motor Vehicle Safety-Responsibility Act by requiring that a citation issued by a police officer for failure to maintain financial responsibility must state that final conviction may result in the suspension of a driver’s license if the above provision is not met. The act also requires the presiding judge at a hearing at which a person is convicted of this violation to notify the defendant of the possibility of the driver’s license suspension if proof of responsibility is not established and maintained as required by law.

STATE AGENCIES AND ADVISORY BOARDS, ABOLISHED AND CREATED

Bill numbers refer to the 1985 regular session, except for those bills listed separately at the end of the table. The table omits multiple advisory committees of a general nature and includes only those sunset or other termination dates that are explicitly cited in the bill or amended authorizing legislation. (Under the Texas Sunset Act, a state agency meeting certain definitional requirements is implicitly scheduled for sunset termination, if not otherwise provided for, 12 years from its creation. An advisory committee is implicitly scheduled, if not otherwise provided for, whenever the affiliated agency is scheduled.) House Bill 1585 entries exclude changes that merely (1) make an implicit date explicit or (2) schedule an agency or board for sunset review but not sunset termination. Codes for the second column are as follows:

- X Abolished
- C Created
- V Created if voters approve constitutional amendment
- RX Replaced by a new agency or advisory board (i.e., replacement, reorganization, or name change)
- RC Replaces a previous agency or advisory board
- T Termination date change, other than 12-year sunset extension
- * Appointment authorized, at discretion of agency or state official

ENACTMENTS BY AUTHOR AND SPONSOR

In the Texas Legislature, the terms author and sponsor have distinctive meanings. The author is the legislator who introduces a legislative measure in the house of origin. The sponsor is the legislator who carries or is responsible for passage of the measure in the other chamber after the measure has been passed in the house of origin.

The following is a list of state senators and representatives with the bills and joint resolutions that they authored and sponsored and that were passed and sent to the governor during the regular and 1st called sessions. An asterisk (*) indicates a bill vetoed by the governor.
