DIGEST

Currently, El Paso receives more than 300 days of sunny to partly sunny skies each year. The propensity for sunny weather has prompted a host of prominent national and regional recreational activities and athletic events to be named on behalf of the sunny weather, as well as a boost in the production of many agricultural crops.

PURPOSE

As proposed, H.C.R. 109 submits the following resolution:

That the 76th Legislature declare the city of El Paso the Sun City Capital of Texas; and

That an official copy of this resolution be prepared for prominent display in El Paso.
