AUTHOR'S/SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Current accountability standards for regional education service centers (centers) need improvement. The annual evaluation conducted by the commissioner of education does not provide for an overall rating system. After the review is complete, no score is given to determine how well the center director performed. In addition, there is no posting of the evaluation or the date when it was conducted.

The accountability standards do not provide an accurate comparison of all centers in terms of the number of programs offered by the center that focus on TAKS-tested subjects and the attendance rate at each program. State dollars are specifically given to centers to provide programs dedicated to core services and core foundation subjects, but there is no system in place to effectively measure the success or failure of the programs offered by the center.

As proposed, S.B. 1393 improves and strengthens the accountability standards in place for centers and strengthens the annual evaluation conducted by the commissioner of education. S.B. 1393 establishes an overall rating system for centers which will be based on their annual evaluation performed by the commissioner and posted on the Texas Education Agency's website. It also adds a new sanction for centers that are low-performing for more than two years.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY
