Committee Report (Substituted)

AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

The legislature established professional educator and nursing faculty home loan programs as a way to acknowledge the personal sacrifices made by persons who enter these professions and make it easier for them to become homeowners. Home loan programs for professional educators and nursing faculty are held separately. Tying these programs together may bring increased efficiency. Currently, allied health professionals are not included in the existing home loan program.

Additionally, these home loan programs, administered by the Texas State Affordable Housing Corporation (corporation), are mandated to only consider applications from individuals at or below 115 percent of the area median family income. The federal government recently authorized an increase of the income limits for persons applying for home loans under these programs in areas affected by Hurricane Rita, and may make similar allowances in other areas. Statutory change is required to authorize the corporation to do the same.

C.S.S.B. 1185 creates a home loan program for allied health professionals in combination with the home loan programs for professional educators and nursing faculty.
