AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

The Texas Family Code provides for the establishment of paternity and for the establishment and enforcement of child and medical support obligations for a child in suits affecting the child-parent relationship. Child and medical support obligations may be enforced through the use of various remedies prescribed by the Family Code, including income withholding and the assertion of liens for past-due support. The Family Code also provides certain administrative processes for the Title IV-D agency, which is administered by the Texas attorney general in compliance with federal mandates as a condition for the state's receipt of federal funds for its child support enforcement and welfare programs.

The Family Code has been repeatedly amended with regard to the establishment and enforcement of child support obligations to reflect new federal mandates, case law, current practice, and the need to clarify provisions and enhance of procedures provided by law.

C.S.S.B. 231 amends and clarifies certain provisions of the Family Code relating to the establishment and enforcement of child support obligations. In addition, this bill provides for the enhancement of administrative processes available to the Title IV-D agency under the Family Code for the enforcement of child support obligations, specifically by providing for withholding for support from lump-sum payments due to an obligor in a Title IV-D case. This bills also provides for the creation of a state child support work group.
