AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Under current state law, the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is prohibited from suspending, terminating, or discriminating against a commissioned officer who refuses to take a polygraph examination. A new federal mandate requires all personnel serving on a joint federal/state task force undergo a polygraph examination in order to obtain security clearance. DPS officers currently serving on one of these task forces will be unable to continue to serve, unless they take a polygraph examination, but DPS does not have the authority to require the officers to comply.

As proposed, S.B. 295 authorizes DPS to require commissioned officers and noncommissioned employees to take a polygraph examination if the officer or employee works with a federal agency on a national security issue. This bill authorizes DPS to remove an officer or employee who works in the aforementioned capacity if they refuse to take a polygraph examination, or to deny the officer or employee's application, if the officer or employee refuses to take a polygraph examination.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
