AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

With the decrease in the number of private psychiatric beds in Texas, there has been an increase in state mental health facility admissions along with decreasing lengths of stay per patient. This had resulted in higher per-patient costs in all state mental health facilities, including the cost of forced medication hearings regarding the court-ordered administration of psychoactive medication to certain criminal defendants. Without being able to charge the county of origin for the cost of the hearings, the probate courts located in the counties with state hospitals carry a heavy financial burden.

As proposed, S.B. 442 clarifies that the costs of medication-related hearings for forensic patients are to be borne by the county where the criminal proceedings were brought. This will allow probate courts to charge the county of origin for the cost of these hearings.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
