Committee Report (Substituted)

AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

While Texans cannot be forced into joining a union by law, state right-to-work laws allow for private and public employees, if they find value in joining these organizations, to choose union membership. S.B. 1968 by Senator Huffman does not inhibit Texans from joining a union nor expressing themselves under the First Amendment of the Constitution of the United States. S.B. 1968 protects employers from picketing when the employer's entity is not involved in a labor dispute, keeps state resources from funding political campaigns, and protects non-union employers from union representatives intimidating their employees during a mandatory federal inspection. Members of unions were already prohibited under current law from entering onto non-union sites. S.B. 1968 clarifies that an inspection of the premises specifically falls under this prohibition unless the owner consents. Previous laws that allowed payroll deductions from a public employee's paycheck for a union are narrowed under S.B. 1968 to apply only to fire, police, and emergency medical services employees. All other state, county, and municipal employees are prohibited from directly collecting union dues from employee paychecks. Picketing at an employer's premises with whom a labor dispute does not exist was already prohibited. However, S.B. 1968 clarifies this prohibition exists "regardless of whether the premises are . . . occupied by employees of another employer with whom a labor dispute does exist." C.S.S.B. 1968 amends current law relating to the organization of public employees.
