AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

In 2013, the legislature authorized public school districts and open-enrollment charter schools to appoint school marshals. This legislation was passed in response to the Sandy Hook Elementary School shooting in late 2012 and growing concern regarding mass shooting incidents on public school campuses. The purpose of this legislation was to provide public school districts and charter schools with an additional option for protecting students, faculty, and other staff on their campuses.

The 2013 law did not explicitly authorize private schools to establish a school marshal program. H.B. 867 authorizes the governing body of a private school to establish a school marshal program. This authorization is permissive; the governing body for a private school reserves the right to decide on whether or not to appoint a school marshal. H.B. 867 does not require that private schools appoint marshals. If a private school board elects to appoint a marshal, however, then the private school must follow the same rules applicable to public and charter school marshals. For example, as is required for public and charter schools, only individuals employed by a private school would be eligible for appointment as a school marshal. An appointed private school marshal may carry or possess a handgun on school premises in a manner provided by written regulations adopted by the school's governing body. Further, a private school's governing board may appoint no more than one school marshal per 200 enrolled students or per building at which students receive classroom instruction. Lastly, a private school marshal must undergo the same training and certification required for public and charter school marshals.

H.B. 867 amends current law relating to school marshals for private schools.

RULEMAKING AUTHORITY

This bill does not expressly grant any additional rulemaking authority to a state officer, institution, or agency.
