AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

In 2018, the Aging Texas Well Advisory Committee (ATWAC), under the Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC), issued a report to the legislature that found that there are limited available resources in the state for older adults with vision impairment. ATWAC found that this was the case since many of the existing programs for adults are focused on employment and not necessarily broader needs of an older individual navigating the community and seeking social engagement and independent living outside of employment-related settings.

ATWAC reported that survey feedback and literature review indicated the issue of stigma poses a significant barrier to individuals and families accessing programs. Additionally, an individual's choice to seek assistance may be stopped by the fear of loss of independence related to visual impairment. Additionally, Texas lacks a statewide informational campaign and website for older adults with visual impairments and their families. This gap in information extends to professionals and community stakeholders who may be referral sources.

In order to address these findings, S.B. 1109 directs HHSC to strengthen its outreach efforts to better serve the elderly and blind population in Texas by establishing awareness campaigns aimed at older adults with visual impairment and their families, healthcare providers, aging network partners, and broader community stakeholders such as faith-based communities.

To support the outreach campaign, S.B. 1109 provides for HHSC to establish a toll-free telephone number for providing counseling and referrals to appropriate services for aging adults who are blind or visually impaired, and to post on its website information and training resources for aging adults, community stakeholders, and health care and other service providers that generally serve aging adults.

S.B. 1109 also seeks to develop a tailored approach for outreach by establishing multiple resources by which older adults with visual impairments and their families, or anyone interested, can receive information and can be better assisted to participate in the services available to them. C.S.S.B. 1109 amends current law relating to a public outreach campaign for aging adults with visual impairments.
