AUTHOR'S / SPONSOR'S STATEMENT OF INTENT

Purpose: To allow distillers to participate in civic or distilled spirits festivals, farmers' markets, celebrations, or similar events in Texas.

Background

- Currently, a distiller can only participate in a festival when a civic or local festival organizer is granted a daily temporary mixed beverage permit from the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission. Under this system, the festival organizer then must purchase the distilled spirits from the holder of a local distributor's permit.
- If a distiller wants to participate in a festival, the distiller must then purchase its own product from the venue or the festival organizer at cost plus the retail mark up. The distiller then often has to hire a promotional company to serve the product at the event.
- Small distilleries cannot afford to pay for a booth at the event and then repurchase their own alcohol at a retail price to then be able to serve at the event.
- While some consider participation in a festival as marketing, the return on investment is minimal for a distiller.
 - The event sponsor makes the money by selling tickets, selling cocktails, wine and beer and collecting booth fees.
- Senator Nelson and Representative Geren passed a bill in 2009 which created a winery festival permit. According to the Texas Wine & Grape Growers Association, participating in festivals has made an "immense difference" for small wineries in Texas.

What the Bill Does

- The bill will give Texas distillers another tool to showcase their product by providing tastings and/or samples.
- This bill will allow a distiller to bring his/her own product to the event, cutting down on the cost of participating.
- The bill does not allow the sale of spirits at a festival.

S.B. 1375 amends current law relating to the sampling or tasting of distilled spirits by the manufacturer to a consumer at a temporary event.
